Costly Space Glider Project To Be Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's reported decision to cancel the Dyna-Soar manned space glider project deals a double blow to the Air Force's military-in-space ambitions.

It seemingly dooms what the Air Force has tagged as a critical series of experiments leading to eventual manned space warships.

But its broader implications could be more ominous to the Air Force.

Johnson long has been regarded as a believer in a strong military role in space and Air Force advocates thought they had reason to hope for a more sympathetic attitude from him than from President Kennedy.

At the same time, the action underscores Johnson's apparent determination to hold down on defense spending, to keep it next year close to or below this year's level of between $50 billion and $51 billion.

Officially, the Defense Department and the White House refused to comment on a report by the trade publication Missile-Space Daily that the defense budget for the coming fiscal year would omit funds for the Dyna-Soar.

However, informants indicated that Johnson accepted the recommendation of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who has exhibited grave doubts since last spring that the space glider project was worth what it would cost to complete it.

According to current figures, Congress has appropriated $549 million for the Dyna-Soar since 1959. Of this, about $180 million could be recaptured.

Over-all, the Air Force has estimated it would cost more than $800 million to complete the Dyna-Soar work by 1968, with the first of a planned 20 flights into orbit due in 1965.

The main economy move which Pentagon experts clearly credit to Johnson is the planned slash of 25,000 from the Defense department's civilian worker force by mid-1965, plus a 15-per cent cut in hiring of foreign nationals and a reduction of overseas headquarters staffs and military aid missions abroad.

The 25,000 reduction in the civilian payroll, to a ceiling 997,000, could yield savings of about $200 million.

This alone would justify Johnson's forecast of several hundred million less in defense spending. The President spoke of such savings this year, but Pentagon experts say he must have meant in the coming 1965 fiscal year.

Bolivian Mine Hostages May Be In Danger

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Fears mounted today for the safety of four Americans and 17 others held hostage by Communist-led Bolivian tin miners as a 24-hour deadline neared.

The miners warned the government to release two jailed Communist union leaders by today or "suffer the consequences." But the government gave no indication it would release the union leaders.

The ultimatum did not spell out what the consequences might be, but observers recalled a similar crisis in 1949, when miners seized four American engineers, held them hostage briefly, then killed them.

One hopeful aspect was a report that Vice President Juan Lechin, leftist leader of the rebelling miners, had had friendly relations with one of the Americans, Thomas Martin, 27, of New York, a U.S. Information Agency officer.

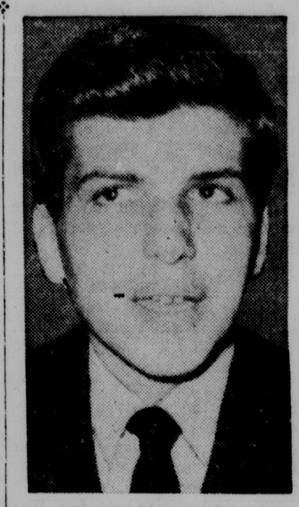
In a radio-telephone talk with the U.S. Embassy at La Paz, the Bolivian capital, Martin said Sunday he and the other hostages were well.

The captives include three Canadian technicians, a Dutch mine manager, a West German and a dozen Bolivian technicians. They have been held since Friday at Catavi, a mining center 155 miles southeast of La Paz.

In addition to Martin, the Americans are U.S. information officer Michael A. Kristula of Cadillac, Mich.; U.S. labor officer Bernard Rifkin, 52, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and Peace Corps volunteer Robert Fergerstrom, whose parents live in Honolulu.

They had gone to the mining area to deliver a $15,000 U.S. aid check to be used for a school and an orphanage.

In exchange for the hostages, the miners demanded release of union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Frederico Escobar. The government said they were arrested on a court order on charges of committing non-political or common crimes. No details were given.



Frank Sinatra Jr.

No Ransom Bid Received For Kidnap Victim

STATELINE, Calif. (AP) — Posses pushed a two-day hunt today in the snowy mountains ringing Lake Tahoe for singer Frank Sinatra Jr., reported hostage of kidnapers.

His famed father kept an around-the-clock vigil 65 miles northeast in a Reno hotel. A spokesman said FBI agents had urged him to do it.

No demand for ransom has been reported since the 19-year-old Sinatra vanished Sunday night from a motel just before he was to go on stage at a Lake Tahoe night club.

Gunmen Burst In

But John Foss, a band trumpet player, told officers he was with Sinatra Jr. when two gunmen burst into the motel room and that they demanded "Where's the money?" before gagging Foss and making off with the young singer.

Foss played in the band with which young Sinatra was appearing.

There was a brief flurry of excitement Monday night when FBI agents announced they had seized six men and 18 guns 20 miles west of Lake Tahoe.

Two of the men were identified as Joseph James Sorce, 23, of El Cerrito, Calif., and Thomas Patrick Keating, 21, of Riverside, Calif., wanted for two bank robberies which netted $13,000.

After Sinatra Jr. vanished, officers had put out an alert, saying these two men were known to be in the area and might possibly be connected with the Sinatra case.

Father Worried

But arresting FBI agents said the two and their four alleged conspirators, seized in two cars on U.S. 50, were held only for the bank robberies.

Officers took Foss to view the men but he could make no positive identification.

In Reno, the worried Sinatra Sr. said:

"I've always had a fear of kidnaping, especially when the children were much younger than they are now.

"But I thought that was all past, now that they're grown up."

A spokesman in his suite said Sinatra was "sleepless, nervous, tired, worried, concerned — everything a father should be."

Sinatra's spokesman said Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy telephoned late Monday from Washington and assured the entertainer that the full resources of the Justice Department were available in the case.

Ashen-faced Sinatra Sr. flew to Reno by chartered plane from Palm Springs, Calif., in Monday's pre-dawn hours soon after he got word about his son.

Ruby Getting Grumpy In Jail

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby, the night club operator who killed accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, is described as "getting a little grumpy" in his jail cell.

"We've cut down on the number of phone calls he can make and told him he can't have some of the visitors he wanted," Sheriff Bill Decker said Monday. "He's not too happy about it."

The sheriff reported earlier that Ruby, 52, was a model prisoner.

Meanwhile, Decker was thinking ahead to Feb. 3. Ruby is due to appear in Criminal District Court that day for trial on a charge of murdering Oswald.

Decker will be responsible for the prisoner's courtroom safety, and the sheriff has received numerous suggestions.

One proposal is for Ruby to sit inside a capsule of bullet-proof glass while in court.

There is a question in the minds of some lawyers, however, about how far Decker could go without risk that the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals would set aside a conviction.

Lawyers speculate the appeals court would rule that a capsule of bullet-proof glass or other elaborate arrangements could influence jurors as they weigh a verdict.

Defense counsel Tom Howard talked of seeking freedom on bond for Ruby after he shot Oswald in the City Hall basement Nov. 24. It appears now, however, that Ruby will stay in the county jail until his trial.

Flight Recorder May Give Clue In Jet Disaster

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — The tragedy of Clipper 214 moved today into a mop-up search of a cornfield and the opening of a misshapen metal box.

In the field just north of Elkton still lay scatttered pieces of wreckage and some of the remains of 81 persons who perished Sunday night in the explosion and fiery crash of a Pan American World Airways jet plane.

In the box was the flight recorder carried by the four-engine Boeing 707 on its last ride.

Officials faintly hoped it might yield some clue to the cause of the disaster, one of the worst in the history of civil aviation. But they said the recorder, about the size of a box camera, was so badly battered that its story might be lost.

The recorder—an instrument which charts the plane's speed, direction, altitude and encountered gusts of air—was found Monday.

Did lightning, as some eyewitnesses said, really strike the plane as it bucked an electrical storm near the end of its flight from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia? Or was it a bomb? Or air turbulence?

Federal investigators said it was too early to rule out any of these possibilities.

But they discarded one frequently used method-reconstruction of the shattered plane—as a step toward solution of the mystery.

"There is not enough to reconstruct," said Alan S. Boyd, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Cut Anticipated In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has been running the foreign aid program on a $2.6-billion annual level in case it doesn't get more from Congress, it was learned on good authority today.

The current 1964 fiscal year started July 1, but Congress still has not appropriated funds for the program.

A compromise authorization bill, which sets a $3.6-billion ceiling, was approved by the House Monday and may come up for final action in the Senate today. The appropriations bill, which provides the actual money, is still in Senate and House committees.

In the absence of any appropriation, the foreign aid program has been financed for the past six months by resolutions of Congress continuing the spending at last year's level. That level was $3.9-billion.

However, an authoritative source said, the aid administrators have been playing it safe by spending only at a $2.6 billion level.

If it happens that Congress cuts back the program to that extent, this ensures a less painful adjustment. If they get more, they can step up the program during the second half of the fiscal year.

The expectations are that Congress will appropriate just about $3 billion for foreign aid which would be $600 million under the authorization and a whopping $1.5 billion below what the late President Kennedy requested.

The program, never very popular in Congress, has run into its strongest opposition this year since it began after World War II as the Marshall Plan.

Action Pushed On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drive to force a House vote on civil rights legislation early next year inched ahead today after a whirlwind start Monday.

It was in the form of a petition to wrest control of the bill from feet-dragging Rules Committee and line it up for four days of debate and a showdown vote on the House floor, probably about Jan. 27.

To be successful, the petition must have the signatures of 218 House members. Not until then will the names be made public. Only while the House is sitting can the signatures be affixed.

The petition was filed Monday by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., whose Judiciary Committee approved the civil rights bill last Oct. 29 but hasn't been able to budge it out of the Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., has announced that the rules group would start hearings sometime in January.

Celler said that wasn't definite enough. He suspected that Smith, a veteran foe of civil rights measures, might prolong the hearings indefinitely.

A rash of enthusiasm produced 115 signers in the first hour of the House session Monday as Democratic liberals and a handful of Republicans lined up with pens in hand. Then business fell off and by the end of the day 131 signatures were on the petition.

Railroads Ask Extension On Straits Ferry

PETOSKEY (AP)—Three railroads operating the ferry Chief Wawatam between Michigan's two peninsulas have asked for Coast Guard approval to continue operations into 1964.

The Coast Guard had given the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Soo Line railroads until Dec. 31 to get the railroad car ferry into what it called seaworthy condition.

The deadline figured in the railroads' announcement last month that they planned to discontinue service between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace.

Sen. Thomas Schweigert R-Petoskey, announced late Monday that the railroads had sought the extension.

Bob Hope Will Make His Annual Overseas Tour

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) —Bob Hope apparently will be able to make his annual Christmas season tour to entertain troops abroad despite a worrisome eye condition.

Vision in Hope's left eye is blurred by a blood clot on the retina. He has been under treatment at Children's Hospital in San Francisco since Friday and a spokesman said Monday he probably will remain there until the end of the week.

But, the spokesman added, Hope's planned visit to U.S. military bases in the Mediterranean shouldn't have to be curtailed.

Motorist Killed; Runs 3 Stops

ALMA (AP)—A motorist was killed today when police said he smashed up his car after running three stop signs.

Clare Thomas, 51, of Alma, was killed in nearby St. Louis. He sideswiped a parked car, hit a tree, and ran into two houses. Police said they had been chasing him after he ran the stop signs here.

Aden Terminal Bomb Fells 40

ADEN (AP)—A bomb flung from an airport balcony at a British high commissioner's party killed an Indian woman today and injured 39 other persons, including the commissioner and three aides.

Sir Kennedy Trevaskis, the high commissioner, suffered a minor hand injury. But George Henderson deputy assistant commissioner, and Secretary Jim Foster of the Information Ministry was hit in the shoulder.

Also injured were two officials of the Federation of South Arabia. One of them, Information Minister Sultan Ahmed Bin Abdulla Fadhli, was listed as seriously injured.

The official party of British and Arab officials were preparing to leave for London and talks on the constitution of this aggregate of sheikdoms and emirates, a British protectorate along the southern coast of the Arabian Peninsula. Talks were scheduled with Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys.

There was no clue to the identity of the bomb thrower. The revolutionary regime of neighboring Yemen claims territory along the ill-defined border and strongly opposed creation of the federation. But whether a Yemeni had a hand in the bombing was not known immediately. A number of spectators who were on the balcony were questioned.

As police reconstructed the incident, the bomb came flying from the spectator's balcony of an airport building and landed in a flower bed near the high commissioner's party.

Water Projects Funds Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $4.5 billion public works appropriation bill — including more than $4 million for Michigan water projects — was passed by the Senate Monday.

The bill, which is scheduled for conference with the House, provides $2.78 billion for operations of the Atomic Energy Commission and most of the remainder for flood control and navigation projects.

The Senate bill would provide $67.4 million more than the House allowance for Army Engineeer civil works and $8 million more for the Reclamation Bureau.

The proposals for Michigan include:

Construction — Detroit River, Trenton Channel, $1,485,000; Great Lakes connecting chanels, $800,000; Ludington Harbor, $150,000; Manistee Harbor, $300,000; Muskegon Harbor, $100,00; St. Marys River, New Poe Lock, $242,000; Saginaw River Flood Control, $600,000.

Planning—Charlevoix Harbor, $30,000; Muskegon Harbor, $30,000.

Surveys — Clinton River, $25,-Channnel, $10,000; Grand River basin, $200,000; Great Lakes water levels, $40,000; Huron River, $35,000; Lake Erie Coast, Michigan and Ohio, $20,300; Les Cheneaux Channels, $8,500; Manistique and Indian Rivers, $30,000; St. Joseph River, $19,000; St. Joseph River basin, $100,000; Shore of Lake Huron, $25,000; Tittabawassee River, $5,000.

Storm Sweeps Across Nation

By The Associated Press

A pre-winter storm swept across wide areas from the central Plateau region into the central Rockies and the northern Midwest today.

A second storm which dumped heavy amounts of snow in western New York, mountain areas of western Pennsylvania and northern Ohio appeared tapering off.

Three inches of snow fell in a six-hour period in Salt Lake City and in Landers, Wyo., lesser amounts were reported in other areas and heavy snow warnings were issued for parts of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Snow also was indicated in parts of Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona and in most areas west of the Mississippi River except Pacific Coast states.

In the northeast, 6 to 8 inches of snow fell in Cambria and Somerset counties in western Pennsylvania. Gusty winds resulted in much drifting. A two-inch snowfall in Pittsburgh slowed travel.

Two to six inches of snow covered areas in northern Ohio, with heaviest amounts in Geauga County, east of Cleveland. Visibility was cut sharply by blowing snow in Ashtabula and Lake counties.

Temperatures were below zero in parts of the Dakotas and Montana with -6 in Minot, N.D., one of the lowest readings.

Old Landmark Pavilion Burns At Ludington

LUDINGTON (AP) — A fire feeding on timbers more than 50 years old destroyed a landmark pavilion on the Lake Michigan shore of this community today.

No one was reported injured.

Observers believed the blaze broke out near the kitchen portion of Raymars Pavilion. Owner Raymond Pappe estimated damage at $125,000.

Firemen said winds up to 20 miles fanned the flames through the one-story structure.

The pavilion, once a stage for name dance bands in the 1930s and still a showcase for top entertainment units as late as 1962, also was used for teen-age dances and skating parties and as a convention site.

Trainmen Jailed In Wreck Fatal To 64 Persons

VOGHEREA, Italy (AP)—Two trainmen were convicted Monday night of multiple manslaughter and causing a railway disaster in which 64 persons were killed. They were sentenced to 13 years in prison.

The disaster on May 31, 1962, injured 75 others.

Lanfranco Pigiani, 29, the engineer, and Soriano Fabbri, his assistant, were sentenced on charges of multiple manslaughter and causing a railway disaster.

Pigiani and Fabbri were at the controls of a freight train that rammed the rear of a crowded passenger train standing in a station.

Big Cargo Plane Lost Off Azores In Rough Ocean

SANTA MARIA, Azores (AP) —A search resumed today for three men aboard an American C46 cargo plane believed to have gone down 150 miles northeast of the Azores Monday.

However, officials thought there was little chance of survivors in the heavy seas and low temperatures.

The Coast Guard said the plane, owned by Carolina Aircraft Co. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., left Gander, Nfld., for Santa Maria Monday morning.

Twelve planes of the 57th Air Rescue Squadron, based in the Azores, and five merchant vessels are conducting the search, the Coast Guard said.

An SOS radio message from the plane about sunset Monday reported it was almost out of gas, and three minutes later the plane reported it was ditching in the ocean.

A British ship messaged it had sighted flashing lights on the water Monday night. But the lights were flares dropped from a search plane.

Showdown Today On Bill To Hold County Officials

LANSING (AP) — The legislature was ready today for its first showdown on a bill enabling county officials to remain in office an extra two years without being reelected.

The bill was due for floor debate in the House, where some 11 bills, mostly of a minor nature, were approved Monday night and sent to the Senate.

House Republican leaders said an effort would be made to resolve intra-party differences on the county officials' question in a caucus early in the day.

The bill, impleneting an elections provision of the new Constitution, provides that county officials elected for two-year terms in 1962 would remain in office until 1966.

This would provide for them to be elected to four-year terms for the first time under the new Constitution by running on the same ballot with the governor.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled it would be unconstitutional for county officers to remain in office without facing reelection. Gov. George Romney has asked lawmakers to seek another alternative.

Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, chief exponent of the holdover, said Monday he expects the bill to pass.

"But if it doesn't, we will go back and review the entire situation," said Strange, a memebr of the 18-man legislative committee which drafted and approved the bill earlier.

Strange contends it was the intent of the Constitutional Convention to have county officials run in the same election as the governor, not in presidential years, such as 1964.

The bill, providing for primaries for county officials and for four year terms, passed 84-4.

Also approved was a billwiping out election code provisions for the highway commissioner and the superintendent of public instruction, whose offices become appointive under the new Constitution.

But its broader implications could be more ominous to the Air Force.

Johnson long has been regarded as a believer in a strong military role in space and Air Force advocates thought they had reason to hope for a more sympathetic attitude from him than from President Kennedy.

At the same time, the action underscores Johnson's apparent determination to hold down on defense spending, to keep it next year close to or below this year's level of between $50 billion and $51 billion.

Officially, the Defense Department and the White House refused to comment on a report by the trade publication Missile-Space Daily that the defense budget for the coming fiscal year would omit funds for the Dyna-Soar.

However, informants indicated that Johnson accepted the recommendation of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who has exhibited grave doubts since last spring that the space glider project was worth what it would cost to complete it.

According to current figures, Congress has appropriated $549 million for the Dyna-Soar since 1959. Of this, about $180 million could be recaptured.

Over-all, the Air Force has estimated it would cost more than $800 million to complete the Dyna-Soar work by 1968, with the first of a planned 20 flights into orbit due in 1965.

The main economy move which Pentagon experts clearly credit to Johnson is the planned slash of 25,000 from the Defense department's civilian worker force by mid-1965, plus a 15-per cent cut in hiring of foreign nationals and a reduction of overseas headquarters staffs and military aid missions abroad.

The 25,000 reduction in the civilian payroll, to a ceiling 997,000, could yield savings of about $200 million.

This alone would justify Johnson's forecast of several hundred million less in defense spending. The President spoke of such savings this year, but Pentagon experts say he must have meant in the coming 1965 fiscal year.

Motorist Killed; Runs 3 Stops

ALMA (AP)—A motorist was killed today when police said he smashed up his car after running three stop signs.

Clare Thomas, 51, of Alma, was killed in nearby St. Louis. He sideswiped a parked car, hit a tree, and ran into two houses. Police said they had been chasing him after he ran the stop signs here.

Bolivian Mine Hostages May Be In Danger

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Fears mounted today for the safety of four Americans and 17 others held hostage by Communist-led Bolivian tin miners as a 24-hour deadline neared.

The miners warned the government to release two jailed Communist union leaders by today or "suffer the consequences." But the government gave no indication it would release the union leaders.

The ultimatum did not spell out what the consequences might be, but observers recalled a similar crisis in 1949, when miners seized four American engineers, held them hostage briefly, then killed them.

One hopeful aspect was a report that Vice President Juan Lechin, leftist leader of the rebelling miners, had had friendly relations with one of the Americans, Thomas Martin, 27, of New York, a U.S. Information Agency officer.

In a radio-telephone talk with the U.S. Embassy at La Paz, the Bolivian capital, Martin said Sunday he and the other hostages were well.

The captives include three Canadian technicians, a Dutch mine manager, a West German and a dozen Bolivian technicians. They have been held since Friday at Catavi, a mining center 155 miles southeast of La Paz.

In addition to Martin, the Americans are U.S. information officer Michael A. Kristula of Cadillac, Mich.; U.S. labor officer Bernard Rifkin, 52, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and Peace Corps volunteer Robert Fergerstrom, whose parents live in Honolulu.

They had gone to the mining area to deliver a $15,000 U.S. aid check to be used for a school and an orphanage.

In exchange for the hostages, the miners demanded release of union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Frederico Escobar. The government said they were arrested on a court order on charges of committing non-political or common crimes. No details were given.

Aden Terminal Bomb Fells 40

ADEN (AP)—A bomb flung from an airport balcony at a British high commissioner's party killed an Indian woman today and injured 39 other persons, including the commissioner and three aides.

Sir Kennedy Trevaskis, the high commissioner, suffered a minor hand injury. But George Henderson deputy assistant commissioner, and Secretary Jim Foster of the Information Ministry was hit in the shoulder.

Also injured were two officials of the Federation of South Arabia. One of them, Information Minister Sultan Ahmed Bin Abdulla Fadhli, was listed as seriously injured.

The official party of British and Arab officials were preparing to leave for London and talks on the constitution of this aggregate of sheikdoms and emirates, a British protectorate along the southern coast of the Arabian Peninsula. Talks were scheduled with Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys.

There was no clue to the identity of the bomb thrower. The revolutionary regime of neighboring Yemen claims territory along the ill-defined border and strongly opposed creation of the federation. But whether a Yemeni had a hand in the bombing was not known immediately. A number of spectators who were on the balcony were questioned.

As police reconstructed the incident, the bomb came flying from the spectator's balcony of an airport building and landed in a flower bed near the high commissioner's party.

Water Projects Funds Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $4.5 billion public works appropriation bill — including more than $4 million for Michigan water projects — was passed by the Senate Monday.

The bill, which is scheduled for conference with the House, provides $2.78 billion for operations of the Atomic Energy Commission and most of the remainder for flood control and navigation projects.

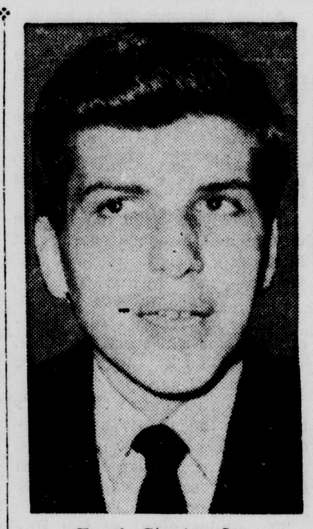
The Senate bill would provide $67.4 million more than the House allowance for Army Engineeer civil works and $8 million more for the Reclamation Bureau.

The proposals for Michigan include:

Construction — Detroit River, Trenton Channel, $1,485,000; Great Lakes connecting chanels, $800,000; Ludington Harbor, $150,000; Manistee Harbor, $300,000; Muskegon Harbor, $100,00; St. Marys River, New Poe Lock, $242,000; Saginaw River Flood Control, $600,000.

Planning—Charlevoix Harbor, $30,000; Muskegon Harbor, $30,000.

Surveys — Clinton River, $25,-Channnel, $10,000; Grand River basin, $200,000; Great Lakes water levels, $40,000; Huron River, $35,000; Lake Erie Coast, Michigan and Ohio, $20,300; Les Cheneaux Channels, $8,500; Manistique and Indian Rivers, $30,000; St. Joseph River, $19,000; St. Joseph River basin, $100,000; Shore of Lake Huron, $25,000; Tittabawassee River, $5,000.



Frank Sinatra Jr.

No Ransom Bid Received For Kidnap Victim

STATELINE, Calif. (AP) — Posses pushed a two-day hunt today in the snowy mountains ringing Lake Tahoe for singer Frank Sinatra Jr., reported hostage of kidnapers.

His famed father kept an around-the-clock vigil 65 miles northeast in a Reno hotel. A spokesman said FBI agents had urged him to do it.

No demand for ransom has been reported since the 19-year-old Sinatra vanished Sunday night from a motel just before he was to go on stage at a Lake Tahoe night club.

Gunmen Burst In

But John Foss, a band trumpet player, told officers he was with Sinatra Jr. when two gunmen burst into the motel room and that they demanded "Where's the money?" before gagging Foss and making off with the young singer.

Foss played in the band with which young Sinatra was appearing.

There was a brief flurry of excitement Monday night when FBI agents announced they had seized six men and 18 guns 20 miles west of Lake Tahoe.

Two of the men were identified as Joseph James Sorce, 23, of El Cerrito, Calif., and Thomas Patrick Keating, 21, of Riverside, Calif., wanted for two bank robberies which netted $13,000.

After Sinatra Jr. vanished, officers had put out an alert, saying these two men were known to be in the area and might possibly be connected with the Sinatra case.

Father Worried

But arresting FBI agents said the two and their four alleged conspirators, seized in two cars on U.S. 50, were held only for the bank robberies.

Officers took Foss to view the men but he could make no positive identification.

In Reno, the worried Sinatra Sr. said:

"I've always had a fear of kidnaping, especially when the children were much younger than they are now.

"But I thought that was all past, now that they're grown up."

A spokesman in his suite said Sinatra was "sleepless, nervous, tired, worried, concerned — everything a father should be."

Sinatra's spokesman said Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy telephoned late Monday from Washington and assured the entertainer that the full resources of the Justice Department were available in the case.

Ashen-faced Sinatra Sr. flew to Reno by chartered plane from Palm Springs, Calif., in Monday's pre-dawn hours soon after he got word about his son.

Storm Sweeps Across Nation

By The Associated Press

A pre-winter storm swept across wide areas from the central Plateau region into the central Rockies and the northern Midwest today.

A second storm which dumped heavy amounts of snow in western New York, mountain areas of western Pennsylvania and northern Ohio appeared tapering off.

Three inches of snow fell in a six-hour period in Salt Lake City and in Landers, Wyo., lesser amounts were reported in other areas and heavy snow warnings were issued for parts of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Snow also was indicated in parts of Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona and in most areas west of the Mississippi River except Pacific Coast states.

In the northeast, 6 to 8 inches of snow fell in Cambria and Somerset counties in western Pennsylvania. Gusty winds resulted in much drifting. A two-inch snowfall in Pittsburgh slowed travel.

Two to six inches of snow covered areas in northern Ohio, with heaviest amounts in Geauga County, east of Cleveland. Visibility was cut sharply by blowing snow in Ashtabula and Lake counties.

Temperatures were below zero in parts of the Dakotas and Montana with -6 in Minot, N.D., one of the lowest readings.

Old Landmark Pavilion Burns At Ludington

LUDINGTON (AP) — A fire feeding on timbers more than 50 years old destroyed a landmark pavilion on the Lake Michigan shore of this community today.

No one was reported injured.

Observers believed the blaze broke out near the kitchen portion of Raymars Pavilion. Owner Raymond Pappe estimated damage at $125,000.

Firemen said winds up to 20 miles fanned the flames through the one-story structure.

The pavilion, once a stage for name dance bands in the 1930s and still a showcase for top entertainment units as late as 1962, also was used for teen-age dances and skating parties and as a convention site.

Trainmen Jailed In Wreck Fatal To 64 Persons

VOGHEREA, Italy (AP)—Two trainmen were convicted Monday night of multiple manslaughter and causing a railway disaster in which 64 persons were killed. They were sentenced to 13 years in prison.

The disaster on May 31, 1962, injured 75 others.

Lanfranco Pigiani, 29, the engineer, and Soriano Fabbri, his assistant, were sentenced on charges of multiple manslaughter and causing a railway disaster.

Pigiani and Fabbri were at the controls of a freight train that rammed the rear of a crowded passenger train standing in a station.

Big Cargo Plane Lost Off Azores In Rough Ocean

SANTA MARIA, Azores (AP) —A search resumed today for three men aboard an American C46 cargo plane believed to have gone down 150 miles northeast of the Azores Monday.

However, officials thought there was little chance of survivors in the heavy seas and low temperatures.

The Coast Guard said the plane, owned by Carolina Aircraft Co. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., left Gander, Nfld., for Santa Maria Monday morning.

Twelve planes of the 57th Air Rescue Squadron, based in the Azores, and five merchant vessels are conducting the search, the Coast Guard said.

An SOS radio message from the plane about sunset Monday reported it was almost out of gas, and three minutes later the plane reported it was ditching in the ocean.

A British ship messaged it had sighted flashing lights on the water Monday night. But the lights were flares dropped from a search plane.

Showdown Today On Bill To Hold County Officials

LANSING (AP) — The legislature was ready today for its first showdown on a bill enabling county officials to remain in office an extra two years without being reelected.

The bill was due for floor debate in the House, where some 11 bills, mostly of a minor nature, were approved Monday night and sent to the Senate.

House Republican leaders said an effort would be made to resolve intra-party differences on the county officials' question in a caucus early in the day.

The bill, impleneting an elections provision of the new Constitution, provides that county officials elected for two-year terms in 1962 would remain in office until 1966.

This would provide for them to be elected to four-year terms for the first time under the new Constitution by running on the same ballot with the governor.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled it would be unconstitutional for county officers to remain in office without facing reelection. Gov. George Romney has asked lawmakers to seek another alternative.

Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, chief exponent of the holdover, said Monday he expects the bill to pass.

"But if it doesn't, we will go back and review the entire situation," said Strange, a memebr of the 18-man legislative committee which drafted and approved the bill earlier.

Strange contends it was the intent of the Constitutional Convention to have county officials run in the same election as the governor, not in presidential years, such as 1964.

The bill, providing for primaries for county officials and for four year terms, passed 84-4.

Also approved was a billwiping out election code provisions for the highway commissioner and the superintendent of public instruction, whose offices become appointive under the new Constitution.

C&NW Expects Last Ore Boat Here On Friday

The 1963 ore shipping season will come to a close at Escanaba on Friday the 13th with the loading of the Cornelius at the Chicago & North Western Railway dock.

Tonnage total for the season at Escanaba will top the 5,000,000 mark compared to 4,771,782 last year. The season shipping ended Nov. 26 last year.

The all-time North Western dock record at Escanaba was 6,571,508 tons in 1960.

The ore carrier A. E. Cornelius of the Boland & Cornelius line is one of the larger vessels in the Great Lakes ore fleet. She is 660 feet long and her commander is Capt. Elmer F. Murray.

L. A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent, said the Cornelius can carry 22,000 tons but because of the low water here she will be able to load only 16,200 tons. The Cornelius is scheduled to arrive here at 10 a. m. Friday and will clear for Trenton, Mich.

All Pellet Now

"Only two more are scheduled," said McMillan. "The first will be the Detroit Edison, expected here about 9 a. m. Wednesday. She will load about 14,000 tons of ore for Trenton. The Cornelius is the other, and the last one this year."

The Millsap cleared Monday with 11,800 tons of ore for the Ford Motor Co. at River Rouge.

Ore trains are coming in Wednesday and Thursday to bring cargoes for the last boats of the season.

All of the ore being moved through here now is pellet ore from the Hanna beneficiation plant at Groveland near Iron Mountain.

Other ore ports on the Great Lakes are closing for the season and at Marquette an all-time volume record was set this year.

Total of 5,691,420 tons of ore was loaded into 480 carriers at Marquette's two docks this year, the most in history.

More Pellets

Previous record for Marquette was in wartime 1941, when 5,658,672 tons of ore were loaded here.

Officials said that this year's boom is the result of an increased demand for pelletized ore and the Marquette Iron Range's increased capacity for producing pellets.

The pellet plant at the Republic Mine, which was completed in December 1962, produced 1,600,000 tons of pellets this year and tonnage shipped from Marquette this year was about 1,500,000 tons more than last year.

Last year 4,185,684 tons of ore were loaded at Marquette's two docks. Total tonnage figures were down in 1961, at 3,910,540 tons, and slightly higher in 1960, with 4,499,208 tons.

The shipping season ended in Marquette last year Dec. 4 at the LS&I dock.

Retarded Child Assn. Soliciting Hospital Gifts

The Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children is soliciting gifts for the Children's Unit at Newberry State Hospital.

"This area's response to last year's Christmas gift appeal provided each hospitalized child with at least one gift," the Chapter reported. "Many of the 40 retarded children are forgotten and although some are physically adult, they all derive a child's delight from the Christmas Holiday. As all children, they cherish any personal gift they may receive.

"Santa will visit all of the children on all of the Units on Christmas Eve but without your support, there may not be enough gifts for all. Would you help provide a gift for an otherwise forgotten child?

"Most frequently forgotten are the older patients who enjoy coffeee, pipes, phonograph records, embroidery work, shaving lotion, cosmetics, cigarettes, jewelry, stationery, and clothing. The younger children enjoy dolls, pull toys, balls, all types of games, rubber and plastic toys, etc.

Your contribution may be left at any Bank in Escanaba or Gladstone where boxes are displayed in the lobby. Gifts need not be wrapped.

Powers Checked

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —Francis Gary Powers, former U2 pilot once convicted by the Soviet Union as a spy, has entered the Lovelace Clinic for what was described as a routine physical examination.

Powers now is a Lockheed test pilot at Burbank, Calif. A spokesman at the clinic said Monday Powers will be given an examination and tests such as are given test pilots once a year.

Cambodia Story Called Outrage

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

Cambodia Broadcast: U.S. officials, expressing shock and outrage, sought to verify reports that Cambodia's government-controlled radio had called for a celebration of the deaths of Thailand's premier and President John F. Kennedy.

A State Department spokesman said a Cambodian broadcast had been heard apparently rejoicing at the death of state "enemies" in Thailand and in South Viet Nam, along with "the great boss of these aggressors" —taken here as a slurring reference to Kennedy's assassination, Nov. 22.

Coffee: Informed sources said today the U.S.-sponsored international coffee agreement appears in danger of dying for lack of U.S. congressional approval of legislation to make it operative in this country.

The agreement, hailed as a plan to save coffee-producing countries from economic chaos, provides that importing and exporting nations must ratify it by Dec. 31 to make it effective.

Congress is planning to recess for the Christmas holidays Dec. 22.

The agreement cannot be operative without U.S. participation.

Kidnaping: State Department officials portray the seizure of four Americans in Bolivia as more of an accident than an anti-American act.

They said Monday they believed the Americans just happened to be in the mine area when left-wing tin miners got word two of their leaders had been seized by the government.

Peter R. Morey Wins Commission

An Escanaba young man is among 36 Michigan State University ROTC Cadets who received commissions as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army and Air Force in ceremonies in East Lansing recently.

He is Peter R. Morey, 1401 17th Ave. S., Escanaba, of the U.S. Army ROTC

The commission exercises were held in the University's Student Union preceding the fall term commencement exercises and the speaker was Jack Breslin, USM secretary

Horse racing was banned in the U. S. in 1944 for the duration of World War II.

Best Education Possible Goal Of Study Group

"The best overall educational program to meet the needs of this community area, within the financial capability available," is the goal of an Escanaba Area Public Schools curriculum study committee which held its first meeting Monday evening.

Composed of citizens, high school faculty members, and members of the Board of Education, the committee was authorized by the school board recently. Supt. Walter Bright was asked by the board to select the members of the committee whose purpose would be to study the Area High School in terms of:

Committee People

The best utilization of the new high school plant and of the teaching staff; the best available scheduling of educational opportunities for students; and the most advantageous use of staff personnel, both instructional and non-instructional.

Citizen members of the committee are Irwin Ten Haken, Wheaton L. Strom, Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, George Douglas, Mrs. John Fawcett; faculty members are Miss Bernadette Brennan, English department; Conrad Beck, music; Robert Hanson, industrial arts; Edward Havitz, social studies; George Frantz, biology.

School board members Arol Beck, Frank Bender Jr. and Dr. Vernon K. Johnson will serve on the committee and Supt. Bright and Principal Stephen C. Baltic are resource persons.

The objective of the study group is "the best overall educational program to meet the needs of this community area, within the financial capability available" which can be offered the people of the community.

Consult Graduates

Last evening the committee decided to organize on Dec. 16 at 4 p. m.

The committee also decided to invite all college-attending former students of Escanaba High School home for the holidays to meet in the High School commons at 2 p. m. Dec. 30 to present personal information on the degree of preparation for college they had received in high school.

The total educational offerings in the high school will be considered by the committee in its deliberations, with the discussions centering on what is considered best for the area in secondary education.

Information concerning curriculum at the Junior High School and other data was supplied to the committee.

As an advisory group, it will make a report and recommendation to the school board within a few weeks.

Kiwanians Plan Future Events, Enjoy Travelog

Plans for several special holiday activities of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club were announced at their meeting Monday by William Hemes, club president. Next Monday, Dec. 16, will be gift day and each Kiwanian will bring a gift for a boy or girl suitable for packing in the Salvation Army Christmas baskets. The annual Christmas party for Kiwanis children will be Monday, Dec. 23. Sons and daughters of Kiwanians or their neighbors will be special guests for the program. Jan. 6 has been selected as the date for the annual Kiwanis ladies night and the induction of new officers for 1964 will be included.

The club was entertained Monday by M. R. Oslund, who presented the concluding series of his illustrated travelog on a trip to Europe, showing scenes from Austria and Italy. The program was arranged by John Valach.

School Age Limit Of 17 Would Cost 18 Million

LANSING (AP)— Raising the compulsory school attendance age from the present level of 16 to 17 would mean an additional investment in state school aid of about $18 million a year, reports Lynn Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Bartlett said the figure was obtained from the results of a questionnaire on the subject sent to 554 school superintendents around the state.

It was estimated the cost would amount to about 600 for each pupil to be retained if the age limit were raised to 17. The total was reached by multiplying this figure by some 30,000 pupils —roughly the number of 16-year olds dropping out of school each year.

Safe Christmas Should Be Goal

Only the safe Christmas can be a happy one, and the happiest holiday may change to tragedy within minutes unless precautions are taken to guard against fire, said Escanaba Fire Chief Nels Bergeon.

The center of fire hazard at Christmas time is the evergreen tree, without which no holiday is complete, yet most dangerous because of its tinder-like properties. As the tree dries out it needs only a spark to turn it into a flaming and deadly torch.

If proper precautions are taken, however, fire may be avoided. Particular attention should be given to trees in churches and schools.

Trees, in addition, should not be set up close to stairways because in case of fire the stairway as an exit from upper floors would be blocked.

With regard to the care of Christmas trees in the home, Fire Chief Nels Bergeon has these suggestions:

Selecting Tree

When you choose your Christmas tree this year, select one which appears freshly cut. Feel the needles to make sure they are firmly attached.

Keep the tree out of doors until just before Christmas. Keep it standing in a pail of water so that it will remain fresh.

When you put the tree up, place it in the coolest part of the room. It should be as far as possible from radiators, heaters and far away from the fireplace. This reduces the chances of fire, and keeps the tree from drying.

Use a tree stand which has a water container in which the trunk can rest. Most trees "drink" water fairly fast, so fill the water container daily.

Christmas tree decorations should be flameproof. Use only decorations made of glass, metal or fire-resistant material.

Electric trains should be set up away from the tree. A spark from the train could ignite the tree.

Use only electric lights to decorate the tree. Be sure to check lighting sets before placing them on the tree. Those with frayed wires should be discarded. When you buy a new set look for the UL tag or label of Underwriter's Laboratories, Inc.

Lighting Dangers

When you open presents on Christmas morning, put away gift wrappings you intend to keep. Gather up other wrappings and throw them away immediately after presents are opened.

The lights on Christmas trees should be turned off when everyone is away from home.

Check the tree for dryness from time to time. If needles near lights have started to turn brown, change the position of the lights.

When the needles start falling, take the tree down immediately and discard it outdoors.

Even if the tree is still fresh, plan now to dismantle it the day after New Year's.

Make sure your decorative lighting does not overload electrical circuits.

Wiring and electrical equipment used out-of-doors should be designed for the purpose.

If you are using a metal Christmas tree this year, Fire Chief Nels Bergeon recommends that you use off-the-tree lighting with colored lights to give a softer and more beautiful ilumination.

Placing strings of Christmas lights upon metal tree sets up the possibility of electric shock if the cord becomes frayed or the interior of a light socket comes in contact with the tree.

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Drew Pearson, the Washington political columnist, was a brief visitor in Escanaba Monday afternoon enroute to Marquette to deliver a lecture at Northern Michigan University. The North Central airliner bearing him and others couldn't get into Marquette and landed here and the party went on by bus.

Pearson said here that he expected both the civil rights bill and the tax reduction bill to be enacted by Congress in the new year.

He said that he regarded the assassination of President Kennedy as having affected Barry Goldwater's chances for the Republican nomination for president adversely; to have helped Nelson Rockefeller somewhat, and not to have affected Richard Nixon.

He thought that Henry Cabot Lodge is the man to watch in the realignment of political activity in the Republican party caused by the death of President Kennedy, who had been rated a heavy favorite for re-election.

C&NW Expects Last Ore Boat Here On Friday

The 1963 ore shipping season will come to a close at Escanaba on Friday the 13th with the loading of the Cornelius at the Chicago & North Western Railway dock.

Tonnage total for the season at Escanaba will top the 5,000,000 mark compared to 4,771,782 last year. The season shipping ended Nov. 26 last year.

The all-time North Western dock record at Escanaba was 6,571,508 tons in 1960.

The ore carrier A. E. Cornelius of the Boland & Cornelius line is one of the larger vessels in the Great Lakes ore fleet. She is 660 feet long and her commander is Capt. Elmer F. Murray.

L. A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent, said the Cornelius can carry 22,000 tons but because of the low water here she will be able to load only 16,200 tons. The Cornelius is scheduled to arrive here at 10 a. m. Friday and will clear for Trenton, Mich.

All Pellet Now

"Only two more are scheduled," said McMillan. "The first will be the Detroit Edison, expected here about 9 a. m. Wednesday. She will load about 14,000 tons of ore for Trenton. The Cornelius is the other, and the last one this year."

The Millsap cleared Monday with 11,800 tons of ore for the Ford Motor Co. at River Rouge.

Ore trains are coming in Wednesday and Thursday to bring cargoes for the last boats of the season.

All of the ore being moved through here now is pellet ore from the Hanna beneficiation plant at Groveland near Iron Mountain.

Other ore ports on the Great Lakes are closing for the season and at Marquette an all-time volume record was set this year.

Total of 5,691,420 tons of ore was loaded into 480 carriers at Marquette's two docks this year, the most in history.

More Pellets

Previous record for Marquette was in wartime 1941, when 5,658,672 tons of ore were loaded here.

Officials said that this year's boom is the result of an increased demand for pelletized ore and the Marquette Iron Range's increased capacity for producing pellets.

The pellet plant at the Republic Mine, which was completed in December 1962, produced 1,600,000 tons of pellets this year and tonnage shipped from Marquette this year was about 1,500,000 tons more than last year.

Last year 4,185,684 tons of ore were loaded at Marquette's two docks. Total tonnage figures were down in 1961, at 3,910,540 tons, and slightly higher in 1960, with 4,499,208 tons.

The shipping season ended in Marquette last year Dec. 4 at the LS&I dock.

Retarded Child Assn. Soliciting Hospital Gifts

The Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children is soliciting gifts for the Children's Unit at Newberry State Hospital.

"This area's response to last year's Christmas gift appeal provided each hospitalized child with at least one gift," the Chapter reported. "Many of the 40 retarded children are forgotten and although some are physically adult, they all derive a child's delight from the Christmas Holiday. As all children, they cherish any personal gift they may receive.

"Santa will visit all of the children on all of the Units on Christmas Eve but without your support, there may not be enough gifts for all. Would you help provide a gift for an otherwise forgotten child?

"Most frequently forgotten are the older patients who enjoy coffeee, pipes, phonograph records, embroidery work, shaving lotion, cosmetics, cigarettes, jewelry, stationery, and clothing. The younger children enjoy dolls, pull toys, balls, all types of games, rubber and plastic toys, etc.

Your contribution may be left at any Bank in Escanaba or Gladstone where boxes are displayed in the lobby. Gifts need not be wrapped.

Powers Checked

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Francis Gary Powers, former U2 pilot once convicted by the Soviet Union as a spy, has entered the Lovelace Clinic for what was described as a routine physical examination.

Powers now is a Lockheed test pilot at Burbank, Calif. A spokesman at the clinic said Monday Powers will be given an examination and tests such as are given test pilots once a year.

Premier Gets OK

TAIPEI (AP)—The legislative Yuan (Parliament) in Taipei approved today the appointment of Finance Minister C. K. Yen as new premier of Nationalist China. He will take over formally from Chen Cheng Monday.

FIRST MEETING of the board curriculum steering committee of the Escanaba Area Public Schools was held Monday evening. Present were (from left) Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, Irwin Ten Haken, Frank Bender Jr., Walter Bright, Arol Beck, Dr. Vernon Johnson, Robert Hanson, Con Beck, Miss Bernadette Brennan, Stephen C. Baltic, Edward Havitz and Mrs. John Fawcete. Not present were George Douglas and Wheaton Strom. (Daily Press Photo)

Cambodia Story Called Outrage

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

Cambodia Broadcast: U.S. officials, expressing shock and outrage, sought to verify reports that Cambodia's government-controlled radio had called for a celebration of the deaths of Thailand's premier and President John F. Kennedy.

A State Department spokesman said a Cambodian broadcast had been heard apparently rejoicing at the death of state "enemies" in Thailand and in South Viet Nam, along with "the great boss of these aggressors"—taken here as a slurring reference to Kennedy's assassination, Nov. 22.

Coffee: Informed sources said today the U.S.-sponsored international coffee agreement appears in danger of dying for lack of U.S. congressional approval of legislation to make it operative in this country.

The agreement, hailed as a plan to save coffee-producing countries from economic chaos, provides that importing and exporting nations must ratify it by Dec. 31 to make it effective.

Congress is planning to recess for the Christmas holidays Dec. 22.

The agreement cannot be operative without U.S. participation.

Kidnaping: State Department officials portray the seizure of four Americans in Bolivia as more of an accident than an anti-American act.

They said Monday they believed the Americans just happened to be in the mine area when left-wing tin miners got word two of their leaders had been seized by the government.

Peter R. Morey Wins Commission

An Escanaba young man is among 36 Michigan State University ROTC Cadets who received commissions as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army and Air Force in ceremonies in East Lansing recently.

He is Peter R. Morey, 1401 17th Ave. S., Escanaba, of the U.S. Army ROTC

Best Education Possible Goal Of Study Group

"The best overall educational program to meet the needs of this community area, within the financial capability available," is the goal of an Escanaba Area Public Schools curriculum study committee which held its first meeting Monday evening.

Composed of citizens, high school faculty members, and members of the Board of Education, the committee was authorized by the school board recently. Supt. Walter Bright was asked by the board to select the members of the committee whose purpose would be to study the Area High School in terms of:

Committee People

The best utilization of the new high school plant and of the teaching staff; the best available scheduling of educational opportunities for students; and the most advantageous use of staff personnel, both instructional and non-instructional.

Citizen members of the committee are Irwin Ten Haken, Wheaton L. Strom, Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, George Douglas, Mrs. John Fawcett; faculty members are Miss Bernadette Brennan, English department; Conrad Beck, music; Robert Hanson, industrial arts; Edward Havitz, social studies; George Frantz, biology.

School board members Arol Beck, Frank Bender Jr. and Dr. Vernon K. Johnson will serve on the committee and Supt. Bright and Principal Stephen C. Baltic are resource persons.

The objective of the study group is "the best overall educational program to meet the needs of this community area, within the financial capability available" which can be offered the people of the community.

Consult Graduates

Last evening the committee decided to organize on Dec. 16 at 4 p. m.

The committee also decided to invite all college-attending former students of Escanaba High School home for the holidays to meet in the High School commons at 2 p. m. Dec. 30 to present personal information on the degree of preparation for college they had received in high school.

The total educational offerings in the high school will be considered by the committee in its deliberations, with the discussions centering on what is considered best for the area in secondary education.

Information concerning curriculum at the Junior High School and other data was supplied to the committee.

As an advisory group, it will make a report and recommendation to the school board within a few weeks.

Kiwanians Plan Future Events, Enjoy Travelog

Plans for several special holiday activities of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club were announced at their meeting Monday by William Hemes, club president. Next Monday, Dec. 16, will be gift day and each Kiwanian will bring a gift for a boy or girl suitable for packing in the Salvation Army Christmas baskets. The annual Christmas party for Kiwanis children will be Monday, Dec. 23. Sons and daughters of Kiwanians or their neighbors will be special guests for the program. Jan. 6 has been selected as the date for the annual Kiwanis ladies night and the induction of new officers for 1964 will be included.

The club was entertained Monday by M. R. Oslund, who presented the concluding series of his illustrated travelog on a trip to Europe, showing scenes from Austria and Italy. The program was arranged by John Valach.

School Age Limit Of 17 Would Cost 18 Million

LANSING (AP)—Raising the compulsory school attendance age from the present level of 16 to 17 would mean an additional investment in state school aid of about $18 million a year, reports Lynn Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Bartlett said the figure was obtained from the results of a questionnaire on the subject sent to 554 school superintendents around the state.

It was estimated the cost would amount to about 600 for each pupil to be retained if the age limit were raised to 17. The total was reached by multiplying this figure by some 30,000 pupils—roughly the number of 16-year olds dropping out of school each year.

Safe Christmas Should Be Goal

Only the safe Christmas can be a happy one, and the happiest holiday may change to tragedy within minutes unless precautions are taken to guard against fire, said Escanaba Fire Chief Nels Bergeon.

The center of fire hazard at Christmas time is the evergreen tree, without which no holiday is complete, yet most dangerous because of its tinder-like properties. As the tree dries out it needs only a spark to turn it into a flaming and deadly torch.

If proper precautions are taken, however, fire may be avoided. Particular attention should be given to trees in churches and schools.

Trees, in addition, should not be set up close to stairways because in case of fire the stairway as an exit from upper floors would be blocked.

With regard to the care of Christmas trees in the home, Fire Chief Nels Bergeon has these suggestions:

Selecting Tree

When you choose your Christmas tree this year, select one which appears freshly cut. Feel the needles to make sure they are firmly attached.

Keep the tree out of doors until just before Christmas. Keep it standing in a pail of water so that it will remain fresh.

When you put the tree up, place it in the coolest part of the room. It should be as far as possible from radiators, heaters and far away from the fireplace. This reduces the chances of fire, and keeps the tree from drying.

Use a tree stand which has a water container in which the trunk can rest. Most trees "drink" water fairly fast, so fill the water container daily.

Christmas tree decorations should be flameproof. Use only decorations made of glass, metal or fire-resistant material.

Electric trains should be set up away from the tree. A spark from the train could ignite the tree.

Use only electric lights to decorate the tree. Be sure to check lighting sets before placing them on the tree. Those with frayed wires should be discarded. When you buy a new set look for the UL tag or label of Underwriter's Laboratories, Inc.

Lighting Dangers

When you open presents on Christmas morning, put away gift wrappings you intend to keep. Gather up other wrappings and throw them away immediately after presents are opened.

The lights on Christmas trees should be turned off when everyone is away from home.

Check the tree for dryness from time to time. If needles near lights have started to turn brown, change the position of the lights.

When the needles start falling, take the tree down immediately and discard it outdoors.

Even if the tree is still fresh, plan now to dismantle it the day after New Year's.

Make sure your decorative lighting does not overload electrical circuits.

Wiring and electrical equipment used out-of-doors should be designed for the purpose.

If you are using a metal Christmas tree this year, Fire Chief Nels Bergeon recommends that you use off-the-tree lighting with colored lights to give a softer and more beautiful illumination.

Placing strings of Christmas lights upon metal tree sets up the possibility of electric shock if the cord becomes frayed or the interior of a light socket comes in contact with the tree.

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Drew Pearson, the Washington political columnist, was a brief visitor in Escanaba Monday afternoon enroute to Marquette to deliver a lecture at Northern Michigan University. The North Central airliner bearing him and others couldn't get into Marquette and landed here and the party went on by bus.

Pearson said here that he expected both the civil rights bill and the tax reduction bill to be enacted by Congress in the new year.

He said that he regarded the assassination of President Kennedy as having affected Barry Goldwater's chances for the Republican nomination for president adversely; to have helped Nelson Rockefeller somewhat, and not to have affected Richard Nixon.

He thought that Henry Cabot Lodge is the man to watch in the realignment of political activity in the Republican party caused by the death of President Kennedy, who had been rated a heavy favorite for re-election.

Sale Of Liquor 3 Times Normal Before Holidays

People who think that the holiday season brings a crush in the post office should visit a liquor store, especially downstate. "It's a madhouse the week before Christmas," says Dexter Babcock, U.P. district manager of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Michigan's state monopoly liquor system sells its liquor out of three warehouses, in Detroit, Lansing and Escanaba. Their volumes almost triple in the week before Christmas and in some of the bigger state stores the sales are four times average.

Michigan's 1962 December sales of liquor were $25.7 million gross, of which $17.2 million of 67.6 pct. was in the Detroit district, $7.7 million of 29.9 pct. in the Lansing district and $776,698 or 3.01 pct. in the Upper Peninsula.

These figures are roughly comparable to the population represented in the three districts, but not completely so. The Upper Peninsula, for instance, has more than 3.01 pct. of Michigan's nearly 8 million population, but not 4 pct. There are also factors like higher income in the Detroit district and more business and social activity than in the Upper Peninsula.

Not only does the business of the state liquor stores and the Specially Designated Dealers (SDDs) perk up in the holiday season, but it changes character somewhat. Some brands which don't move heavily the rest of the year have a holiday appeal, and brandy and rums (Tom & Jerries) and gins and vermouths (martinis) have increased sales.

The season brings the only packaging splurge permitted by the state in its monopoly system. In September the holiday liquors are ordered and distillers are allowed to supply the warehouses with as much stock in fancy decanters as they think can be sold. There is no advance in price for the decanters and those which are not sold by the stores are gathered in mid-February and returned to the distillers. (SDD keep theirs and sell them off.)

Stores have 21 liquors in decanters this season and there are also 25 holiday wrapped items. The state doesn't permit distillers to use any symbols of Christmas, which is a religious feast day in origin and major concept, in wrapping their items for holiday sale. Last year one distiller supplied Michigan (some other states aren't so strict) with a whisky wrapped in a foil which depicted a fir tree with Christmas decorations. The tree would haae been all right, but the colored balls made it taboo in Michigan stores. The distiller had to send out paste-on trees without balls to cover up the offensive yule trees on the packaging.

Babcock said that as in dry-goods lines, persons who want holiday wrappings and especially decanters would do well to shop early while the stocks are complete.

While most U.P. stores will increase their sales, some won't hit their peaks for the year. Mackinac Island for instance. Its summer trade isn't even approximated by its holiday buying, now that the horses and the humans (resorters, that is) have gone from the island.

Escanaba Gets Log Congress

The 1964 Logging Congress will be held in Escanaba next September, Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced today. The Congress is sponsored by the Timber Producers Association and will attract several thousand delegates and visitors from Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin. Features of the Congress include a parade and exhibits of wood industries.

Other conventions scheduled for Escanaba for 1964 include that of the Upper Peninsula Supervisors Association, Region I of the Michigan Bankers Association and the Upper Michigan convention of the Michigan Petroleum Association.

Previously announced conventions to be held in Escanaba in 1964 include the Upper Peninsula Lions Clubs and the 10th annual convention of Michigan State Circle of Columbian Squires.

Pictured Rocks Lakeshore Hearing Delayed To 1964

Senator Hart recently wrote to Senator Alan Bible, chairman of the Public Lands Subcommittee, asking for early hearings on the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Hart today released Senator Bible's reply. Senator Bible wrote:

"Because of the lateness of the year and weather conditions, it seems necessary to put a hearing over until spring. It is my plan, however, to put this high on the agenda for next year."

Hart said this was encouraging news. "While it is clearly too late for more action this year, I am certainly happy that Senator Bible has agreed to a quick start in the next session."

The hearing, probably lasting one day, will be held in the Upper Peninsula.

Facts On Sniper Oswald Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a presidential commission were expected today to begin a point-by-point examination of an exhaustive FBI report on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

The report is said to conclude that Lee Harvey Oswald, a bitter loner with a chip on his shoulder, coolly planned and carried out the murder alone.

The detailed report, turned over to the commission Monday by the Justice Department, is believed to state also that Jack Ruby killed Oswald on his own and without ever having known the 24-year-old Marxist.

President Johnson ordered the FBI investigation.

In turning over the report to the seven-man commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the Justice Department said the commission "has requested that the report not be made public until the commission has reviewed it and taken whatever action it may feel appropriate."

The commission was charged by Johnson to learn all the facts surrounding Kennedy's death at the hands of a sniper in Dallas Nov. 22 and to make them known to the nation and the world so there would be no shadows of mystery.

Thus in studying the FBI report — gathered by scores of government agents who are continuing their investigation — the seven members of the panel will be alert for any holes, flaws or discrepencies they may have to clear up in hearings.

Sale Of Liquor 3 Times Normal Before Holidays

People who think that the holiday season brings a crush in the post office should visit a liquor store, especially downstate. "It's a madhouse the week before Christmas," says Dexter Babcock, U.P. district manager of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Michigan's state monopoly liquor system sells its liquor out of three warehouses, in Detroit, Lansing and Escanaba. Their volumes almost triple in the week before Christmas and in some of the bigger state stores the sales are four times average.

Michigan's 1962 December sales of liquor were $25.7 million gross, of which $17.2 million of 67.6 pct. was in the Detroit district, $7.7 million of 29.9 pct. in the Lansing district and $776,698 or 3.01 pct. in the Upper Peninsula.

These figures are roughly comparable to the population represented in the three districts, but not completely so. The Upper Peninsula, for instance, has more than 3.01 pct. of Michigan's nearly 8 million population, but not 4 pct. There are also factors like higher income in the Detroit district and more business and social activity than in the Upper Peninsula.

Not only does the business of the state liquor stores and the Specially Designated Dealers (SDDs) perk up in the holiday season, but it changes character somewhat. Some brands which don't move heavily the rest of the year have a holiday appeal, and brandy and rums (Tom & Jerries) and gins and vermouths (martinis) have increased sales.

The season brings the only packaging splurge permitted by the state in its monopoly system. In September the holiday liquors are ordered and distillers are allowed to supply the warehouses with as much stock in fancy decanters as they think can be sold. There is no advance in price for the decanters and those which are not sold by the stores are gathered in mid-February and returned to the distillers. (SDD keep theirs and sell them off.)

Stores have 21 liquors in decanters this season and there are also 25 holiday wrapped items. The state doesn't permit distillers to use any symbols of Christmas, which is a religious feast day in origin and major concept, in wrapping their items for holiday sale. Last year one distiller supplied Michigan (some other states aren't so strict) with a whisky wrapped in a foil which depicted a fir tree with Christmas decorations. The tree would haae been all right, but the colored balls made it taboo in Michigan stores. The distiller had to send out paste-on trees without balls to cover up the offensive yule trees on the packaging.

Babcock said that as in dry-goods lines, persons who want holiday wrappings and especially decanters would do well to shop early while the stocks are complete.

While most U.P. stores will increase their sales, some won't hit their peaks for the year. Mackinac Island for instance. Its summer trade isn't even approximated by its holiday buying, now that the horses and the humans (resorters, that is) have gone from the island.

Escanaba Gets Log Congress

The 1964 Logging Congress will be held in Escanaba next September, Walter Levake, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced today. The Congress is sponsored by the Timber Producers Association and will attract several thousand delegates and visitors from Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin. Features of the Congress include a parade and exhibits of wood industries.

Other conventions scheduled for Escanaba for 1964 include that of the Upper Peninsula Supervisors Association, Region I of the Michigan Bankers Association and the Upper Michigan convention of the Michigan Petroleum Association.

Previously announced conventions to be held in Escanaba in 1964 include the Upper Peninsula Lions Clubs and the 10th annual convention of Michigan State Circle of Columbian Squires.

Pictured Rocks Lakeshore Hearing Delayed To 1964

Senator Hart recently wrote to Senator Alan Bible, chairman of the Public Lands Subcommittee, asking for early hearings on the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Hart today released Senator Bible's reply. Senator Bible wrote:

"Because of the lateness of the year and weather conditions, it seems necessary to put a hearing over until spring. It is my plan, however, to put this high on the agenda for next year."

Hart said this was encouraging news. "While it is clearly too late for more action this year, I am certainly happy that Senator Bible has agreed to a quick start in the next session."

The hearing, probably lasting one day, will be held in the Upper Peninsula.

Facts On Sniper Oswald Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a presidential commission were expected today to begin a point-by-point examination of an exhaustive FBI report on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

The report is said to conclude that Lee Harvey Oswald, a bitter loner with a chip on his shoulder, coolly planned and carried out the murder alone.

The detailed report, turned over to the commission Monday by the Justice Department, is believed to state also that Jack Ruby killed Oswald on his own and without ever having known the 24-year-old Marxist.

President Johnson ordered the FBI investigation.

In turning over the report to the seven-man commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the Justice Department said the commission "has requested that the report not be made public until the commission has reviewed it and taken whatever action it may feel appropriate."

The commission was charged by Johnson to learn all the facts surrounding Kennedy's death at the hands of a sniper in Dallas Nov. 22 and to make them known to the nation and the world so there would be no shadows of mystery.

Thus in studying the FBI report — gathered by scores of government agents who are continuing their investigation — the seven members of the panel will be alert for any holes, flaws or discrepencies they may have to clear up in hearings.

Cub Scouts Hold Christmas Party At Ford River

The Rev. Ben Helmer, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, was the speaker at the Christmas party of Cub Scout Pack 430 of Ford River held Monday night at the Ford River School. He discussed the parents' love to their sons and praised the parents for their dedication to the Scouting program.

Certificates of appreciation were presented by Robert Barron, Red Buck District chairman, to Den Mothers Irene Chernick, Mae Carlson, Shirley Ettenhofer, Marie Ettenhofer, Rose Johnson, Theresa Krause, Ida Malmstead and Alice Mokszycke.

Santa visited the party sponsored by Teamsters Local 328, and distributed gifts of candy. In their own Christmas project, the Cub Scouts of Pack 430 collected two baskets of canned goods which was accepted by the Salvation Army. A cash collection was taken which will be equally distributed between Father Flanagan's Boys Town and Delta United Charities.

Rev. Walfred E. Nelson of Bethany Lutheran Church gave the invocation and the master of ceremonies was the Rev. Lowell Fox, Sunday School Union, Ford River. The boys are all invited to attend a memorial mass for the late President Kennedy to be held at St. Thomas Church at 7:30 tonight.

Voting For Schools

The Delta County Taxpayers Association in a threat to oppose the bonding for a new Franklin School unless the Escanaba Area Board of Education calls off the election next Monday, proposes other ways to finance the school than those ordered for the election by the Board of Education.

The Board of Education, in an unprecedented Sunday meeting characterized the Taxpayers Association statement as "unwarranted and irresponsible." In a long statement it answered the Taxpayers Association criticism point-for-point.

This is the third proposal made by the Board of Education to replace the 81-year-old Franklin School, which has been razed because it was unsafe for further use, but the issue presented to the voters is actually much deeper and more significant than just replacement of the Franklin School.

It is much deeper than any reaction of the Board of Education at being confronted in its proposals by such a self-constituted group as the Taxpayers Association.

★ ★ ★

The greatest problem posed by next Monday's election is:

How can the Escanaba Area School District organize itself for effective democratic government?

Basic to any successful self-government is trust of the electorate in its elected officers. If the public does not have this trust it should replace its officers. That's why we have elections. They're a safety valve.

Self-government, on the other hand, should have room for lots of discussion and disagreement. It should welcome taxpayer association interest in public affairs. One of the great problems of effective government in America is public complacency and disinterest.

The Board of Education should welcome representatives of taxpayer groups to its meetings and it does this. It should welcome public suggestions on policy. But it must make the final determination of policy itself; it is charged with this responsibility by law and it is best informed on how to do it. Having made its decision, it should carry it to the public with a great effort at explanation so that all the people who can be interested can be informed on what the problem is and what's proposed to meet it.

Most boards of education perform their planning function better than the necessary companion activity of public education. Failure of the schools to mount such a campaign means that minority groups can influence elections disproportionately. When they plead:

"It isn't necessary."
"It costs too much."
"Your taxes will go up."
"There's a better plan."
"It's cheaper in Trenary."

They have ready-made audience. No one likes to pay taxes. The benefits that they will buy must be presented effectively as a greater need than the money they will cost.

The problem of information is essentially not one of data, but of trust. The average voter isn't qualified to make an informed judgment when a taxpayers group or some other critical element competes statistically with the official figures of the Board of Education.

It is too easy to obfuscate and confuse, too difficult to reconcile competing figures. (Anyone who has heard Krishna Menon defend Indian foreign policy will know what we mean.) To how many readers are unit cost construction figures meaningful? And do the figures use the same criteria?

When a taxpayers' group asks the public to vote No on a school project it should be able to document its position adequately. It is asking the public to distrust the office holders it elected. A chronic program of this sort of attack can develop in a community a distrust of official process and destroy confidence in government so that the best persons available for office choose not to serve and be abused and the government really does deteriorate.

We do not belabor this point, because democratic government should be tough and able to cope with its critics. A school board may wish that they would go away, but this is not really desirable, because wisdom never is found all in one camp and wholesome contest for public favor should reveal values. Boards of education and other governmental bodies recognize this and ask not for freedom from criticism but for fairness in opposition; for integrity to match their own.

The public has a right to expect its officials to fight hard for the policies they advocate, but the public has an obligation, too, the greatest of all. It is the final judge. Its balloting decides the contests in government.

If it rejects the leadership of its elected officials who have labored hard and long to create something for its benefit and support instead someone who says "I can get it for you wholesale!" It is doing much more than trying for a tax discount; it is voting for the deterioration of democratic government.

It should not be forgotten in judging this contest that the business of the Board of Education is to provide adequate public schooling for the community's youth. This is expensive and difficult. It calls for public support that can result only if people understand modern America's needs for growth and survival.

There can be no objection to taking every sensible economy in education, but a good board of education should be best qualified to provide such economies. The effort to save a buck on local education can be the most misguided in the whole spectrum of government economy, being such a vital expenditure and getting such a disproportionate share of the public's criticism.

BUS WITH THE BETAS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There's at least one big reason for the popularity of Beta Theta Pi fraternity men with coeds at Ohio State University — a 30-passenger bus.

The fraternity purchased the one-time school bus during the summer, and it's sent out each school day at lunch time to circle the campus and bring the Betas back to their house to eat.

Each week, they also select a sorority to transport, and the bus stops also for coeds from that house.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In the west lobby of the White House, a newsman accosted Sarah McClendon, reporter for several Texas newspapers. He ribbed her with this line:

"Let's see now, Sarah. Lyndon Johnson is the first Texan to be president since, er, who? General Eisenhower, isn't it?"

"This year, the Republicans came out a lot better in those Connesticut towns than anyone figured. The results weren't conclusive, but I think they indicate a close race next year."

His Pennsylvania colleague, Democratic Sen. Joe Clark, interrupted him:

"You remind me of a drowning man reaching for a straw, Hugh. You Republicans used to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes the nation.' Then you started to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes Vermont.' And now you're saying, 'As go the Connecticut towns.'

"That's what I call real progress."

The Doctor Says:

Drugs Treat Hypotension

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — I am 35 and suffer from nausea, dizzy spells and fainting. I have been told that this is due to orthostatic hypotension. What is this? What causes it and is there any drug that might help me?

A — Whenever a change of position from lying or sitting to standing causes a fall in blood pressure suficient to produce the symptoms you mention, a diagnosis of orthostatic hypotension can be made. What happens is that the lowered pressure prevents the brain from getting enough oxygen. This often happens to people who have taken too large a dose of a drug to control their high blood pressure and to victims of diabetes, multiple sclerosis and adrenal deficiency. In most victims, the cause is unknown.

In treating this condition elastic stockings that reach to the hip and an abdominal binder help to keep all the blood from going to the feet and abdomen. Transfusions of dextran are sometimes necessary, but most victims can be benefited by treatment with drugs.

Q — What is hemolytic streptococcus infection? Is it serious? Is it contagious? What is the usual treatment for it?

A — The streptococcus is one of the so-called pus formers and the hemolytic variety destroys red blood cells. This is the germ that causes strep sore throat, erysipelas, tonsilitis, child bed fever, scarlet fever, blood poisoning, rheumatic fever, and rheumatic heart disease. All but the last three are contagious.

Complications include sinusitis, middle ear infection, pneumonia, arthritis, meningitis, and kidney infection. All are serious and all are cured by antibiotics, especially penicillin.

Q — Is histidine which is found in protein the same as histamine which causes allergy? What drugs reduce the histamine in the system?

A — Histidine, an amino acid essential for growth, is found in all proteins. Histamine is an amine and it too is found in all animal and vegetable cells. In high concentrations histamine acts as a dilator of small blood vessels. When this occurs in the brain it causes the so-called histamine headache. Both of these chemical names are derived from the Green "histos" meaning tissue. There are literally dozens of antihistaminic drugs. Some of the most commonly used are diphenhydramine, hydroxyzine and promethazine.

Q — I am taking Dexamyl to reduce. My doctor is also giving me Elavil. What is it for?

A — Amytriptyline (Elavil) is a mild tranquilizer. Persons who take it should be checked every 6 months for signs of increased tension in the eyeballs (glaucoma).

JAILS AND SCHOOLS

When one reads or hears anything regarding the forthcoming school election on Dec. 16, the main concern is how cheaply we can build and how we can shrink the classrooms, both in size and number of rooms.

Let us, for a change, consider more closely, the basic reason we are voting for a new school—to provide the best education we can give our children, and to provide an environment conducive to both teaching and learning.

If our only concern is to build a school with the smallest possible rooms and the cheapest construction and to postpone it as long as possible, then we are defeating our purpose, and more tragic, we are shortchanging both our teachers and children.

Construction will begin soon for our new beautiful $370,000 jail, built to accommodate 40. This we voted in by an overwhelming 4-1 yes vote. This jail will have as part of its accommondations, 4-man cells, giving each man 80 square feet of space. Now the Taxpayers Assn. belittles the fact that classrooms in the proposed new school are to be 30x30, giving each child 30 square feet of space (including his desk space, aisle space, recitation space, teachers space, storage space, and blackboard writing space.

The Area School Board has studied the proposed building from all aspects, including the basic size of building, room size, construction materials, facilities to be provided, and heating. They are convinced that it is impossible to cut costs in any way without shortening the expected life of the building or sacrificing its primary purpose — to teach children.

The average resident assessment in Escanaba is $3,000. It will cost us an average of $1.35 per year to replace the Franklin School.

Let Escanaba, long known as the most progressive city in the Upper Peninsula, take this as one step in maintaining this position by an overwhelming YES vote on Monday, Dec. 16.

SCHOOL CONTROL

Come on now, we've tried it and we know it is impossible to get 65 desks, let alone the students and a teacher into a 20x20 schoolroom. We also know that grade schools, both public and parochial are institutions for learning and keeping 40 some children in a room under control is one thing but being able to teach those same children under those conditions is improbable.

How long are we other taxpayers going to sit quietly by and let just such impressive misinformation ruin every honest attempt our school board makes to help solve our problems?

We pursed our lips when we saw the petition based on half-truths being circulated, we shook our heads at the surreptitious circulation of cheap handbills to our Senior Citizens, we were stunned when they quoted facts from so called studies and surveys and we wrung our hands in dismay again this past Saturday night when we read the fuzzy fact filled communication to the Press.

The truth of the matter seems to be that we are scared to death to call the bluff of this little local group. Everyone has a right to express an opinion but with that right comes the obligation to respect the facts when dealing with matters of public record.

Granted, it is hard for each individual to know all the facts about any issue, but that is one of the reasons we elect people to represent us in these matters. We have all the freedom in the world when we step behind that curtain in the voting booth and by the way, that's how you elected the present school board, isn't it? I hope your candidate won. I also hope you'll give him a sporting chance to better the educational climate of the entire community.

SCHOOL ISSUE

I am a teacher in the Escanaba Area Schools. I have taught here for 13½ years since we first moved to Escanaba. I teach in a room in the new addition of the Junior High School that is pleasant, well ventilated, well lighted and that has adequate space for a classroom library.

I can assure you that I can do a better job of teaching young people in this environment than is possible in a crowded inadequate classroom that does not have these features.

By constantly opposing, as they have done in recent years, the elected trustees of our schools, the Delta County Taxpayers' Association, whether they acknowledge it or not, have set themselves up as judges as to what is or is not adequate in regards to school buildings. I, for one, do not see that they are trying to determine in a fair and unbiased way the best plan for a new Franklin School.

Competent architects and teachers were consulted before this present plan was approved by the School Board.

It has been said before that by opposing much - needed public improvements at the local level, local officials are often forced to seek aid from the State and National Government along with resulting controls. Practically every issue that such groups as the Delta County Taxpayers Association have opposed ended up costing more money because of the delay. In other words, they actually cost the taxpayers more money than they have saved them.

Most people realize, I'm sure that you don't save money by buying an inferior product. More and more communities are realizing that money spent on education is not a cost at all, but an investment. This investment pays off in a higher standard of living for a community and in dividends which can't be measured by money—less juvenile delinquency and crime, more and better skilled workers, more people willing to serve their community in cultural activities.

Escanaba has been a very good community. It has many things about it that would appeal to a couple who want to raise their children in the best way they possibly can. This includes an education which enables them to take their place in competition with others in the game of life.

Wheat Payments Rejection Helps Farmers' Image

CHICAGO—Any attempt by farmers and their organizations to induce the general public to feel sorry for them is a "poor mouth" approach that should be labelled "Operation Dead-end," the secretary-treasurer of the nation's largest farm organization said here today.

"The only way to achieve pity from society on a continuing basis is to be pitiful," Roger Fleming told delegates and members of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

He told the Farm Bureau delegates that they must "realize the absolute necessity of having the understanding and support of non-farm people on those issues important to the future profitability of farming."

"And, we won't get it by talking 'poor mouth.'"

Efforts to improve agriculture's public relations, he said, that are based on the concept urban people should feel sorry for farmers because they have problems will be self-defeating for these two reasons:

"1. Solutions in response to the 'sympathy appeal' are likely to lower—not raise—the per family farm income of most farmers and ranchers and, 2, the approach is dependent for its long-run success on farmers being unsuccessful."

Referendum Helped

Instead of pleading "poor mouth," he continued, farmers "should vigorously support an aggressive program designed to get widespread understanding on the part of every citizen of his or her stake in a healthy, efficient, dynamic and — yes — prosperous agriculture."

Saying there is no inevitable conflict between the interests of producers and consumers, Fleming told the audience that farmers must get the housewives of the nation to understand that any time food is produced less efficiently than it can be, the cost to consumers will be higher than it needs to be.

"If consumers ever understand that we're on their side in wanting to produce high quality food and fiber as efficiently as possible at competitive prices," he said, "we'll start making progress in public relations—and not until."

Last May's wheat referendum—in which farmers defeated a rigid government control program contemplated for that crop—"did more to improve farmers' image with the public than anything that has happened in modern time," Fleming said.

He pointed out that during the pre-referendum campaign, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman repeatedly claimed the issue was "$1 wheat vs. $2. wheat," or $1 wheat if the referendum question was defeated, and $2 wheat, with government help, if the proposal was adopted by farmers.

Soon after the referendum, he went on, administration leaders felt they had to move to avoid being caught with a bad prediction on wheat prices which he said had been made in a futile effort to influence the voting.

He added:

"This realization became increasingly acute as farmers' 'intentions to plant' wheat revealed no basis for the 'scare talk' that had been spread.

"Fundamentally, there were two choices available to the Administration to get out of this self-dug hole. One was to support passage of legislation to which could be attributed the credit for having avoided the predicted debacle in wheat prices. The other was to find a dramatic way of demonstrating that something 'new and different' had come into the picture since the referendum to alter the supply-demand situation in such a way—and to such an extent — as to change the market price outlook. The Russian wheat deal illustrates the latter approach."

Fleming also told the delegates he believes the most important specific issue in the government farm policy field now involves compensatory payment proposals.

Reviewing Farm Bureau's historical opposition to direct payments, Fleming listed these disadvantages of compensatory payment proposals:

1. Payments would increase production because farmers and ranchers would be counting on the market price plus the promised payment.

2. Payments would depress market prices; the use of government incentives to expand production above the needs of consumers would be detrimental to farmers because they would face the consequences of price-depressing surpluses.

3. Payments would lead to strict controls to keep the costs of the programs from getting out of hand.

4. Payments would make farmers dependent upon appropriations; with production greatly increased and market prices depressed, most farmers would be unable to continue to produce without a subsidy payment from the Federal government.

5. Payments would place a ceiling on opportunity and level down farmers' incomes. From a political standpoint, the most equitable basis for distributing money to individuals is on an equal basis—one share, one vote. This is the road to low—not high—per family farm income.

Voting For Schools

The Delta County Taxpayers Association in a threat to oppose the bonding for a new Franklin School unless the Escanaba Area Board of Education calls off the election next Monday, proposes other ways to finance the school than those ordered for the election by the Board of Education.

The Board of Education, in an unprecedented Sunday meeting characterized the Taxpayers Association statement as "unwarranted and irresponsible." In a long statement it answered the Taxpayers Association criticism point-for-point.

This is the third proposal made by the Board of Education to replace the 81-year-old Franklin School, which has been razed because it was unsafe for further use, but the issue presented to the voters is actually much deeper and more significant than just replacement of the Franklin School.

It is much deeper than any reaction of the Board of Education at being confronted in its proposals by such a self-constituted group as the Taxpayers Association.

★ ★ ★

The greatest problem posed by next Monday's election is:

How can the Escanaba Area School District organize itself for effective democratic government?

Basic to any successful self-government is trust of the electorate in its elected officers. If the public does not have this trust it should replace its officers. That's why we have elections. They're a safety valve.

Self-government, on the other hand, should have room for lots of discussion and disagreement. It should welcome taxpayer association interest in public affairs. One of the great problems of effective government in America is public complacency and disinterest.

The Board of Education should welcome representatives of taxpayer groups to its meetings and it does this. It should welcome public suggestions on policy. But it must make the final determination of policy itself; it is charged with this responsibility by law and it is best informed on how to do it. Having made its decision, it should carry it to the public with a great effort at explanation so that all the people who can be interested can be informed on what the problem is and what's proposed to meet it.

Most boards of education perform their planning function better than the necessary companion activity of public education. Failure of the schools to mount such a campaign means that minority groups can influence elections disproportionately. When they plead:

"It isn't necessary."
"It costs too much."
"Your taxes will go up."
"There's a better plan."
"It's cheaper in Trenary."

They have ready-made audience. No one likes to pay taxes. The benefits that they will buy must be presented effectively as a greater need than the money they will cost.

The problem of information is essentially not one of data, but of trust. The average voter isn't qualified to make an informed judgment when a taxpayers group or some other critical element competes statistically with the official figures of the Board of Education.

It is too easy to obfuscate and confuse, too difficult to reconcile competing figures. (Anyone who has heard Krishna Menon defend Indian foreign policy will know what we mean.) To how many readers are unit cost construction figures meaningful? And do the figures use the same criteria?

When a taxpayers' group asks the public to vote No on a school project it should be able to document its position adequately. It is asking the public to distrust the office holders it elected. A chronic program of this sort of attack can develop in a community a distrust of official process and destroy confidence in government so that the best persons available for office choose not to serve and be abused and the government really does deteriorate.

We do not belabor this point, because democratic government should be tough and able to cope with its critics. A school board may wish that they would go away, but this is not really desirable, because wisdom never is found all in one camp and wholesome contest for public favor should reveal values. Boards of education and other governmental bodies recognize this and ask not for freedom from criticism but for fairness in opposition; for integrity to match their own.

The public has a right to expect its officials to fight hard for the policies they advocate, but the public has an obligation, too, the greatest of all. It is the final judge. Its balloting decides the contests in government.

If it rejects the leadership of its elected officials who have labored hard and long to create something for its benefit and support instead someone who says "I can get it for you wholesale!" It is doing much more than trying for a tax discount; it is voting for the deterioration of democratic government.

It should not be forgotten in judging this contest that the business of the Board of Education is to provide adequate public schooling for the community's youth. This is expensive and difficult. It calls for public support that can result only if people understand modern America's needs for growth and survival.

There can be no objection to taking every sensible economy in education, but a good board of education should be best qualified to provide such economies. The effort to save a buck on local education can be the most misguided in the whole spectrum of government economy, being such a vital expenditure and getting such a disproportionate share of the public's criticism.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There's at least one big reason for the popularity of Beta Theta Pi fraternity men with coeds at Ohio State University — a 30-passenger bus.

The fraternity purchased the one-time school bus during the summer, and it's sent out each school day at lunch time to circle the campus and bring the Betas back to their house to eat.

Each week, they also select a sorority to transport, and the bus stops also for coeds from that house.

"After All, We Are Old Friends!"

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In the west lobby of the White House, a newsman accosted Sarah McClendon, reporter for several Texas newspapers. He ribbed her with this line:

"Let's see now, Sarah. Lyndon Johnson is the first Texan to be president since, er, who? General Eisenhower, isn't it?"

Ike, of course, was born in Denison, Tex., though he claims Abilene, Kans., as his home town.

"In my many years of observing politics," Scott says, "I've always watched the Connecticut towns. Over and over again, in the year before a presidential election, they have given a pretty clear signal.

"This year, the Republicans came out a lot better in those Connesticut towns than anyone figured. The results weren't conclusive, but I think they indicate a close race next year."

His Pennsylvania colleague, Democratic Sen. Joe Clark, interrupted him:

"You remind me of a drowning man reaching for a straw, Hugh. You Republicans used to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes the nation.' Then you started to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes Vermont.' And now you're saying, 'As go the Connecticut towns.'

"That's what I call real progress."

A Latin American representative who could speak no English walked into a Washington post office with a letter to be sent home. The clerk, who spoke no Spanish, tried for five minutes without luck to ascertain whether the man wanted an airmail or regular stamp.

In desperation he finally flapped his arms like a bird, and was regarded with a "Si" and a grin.

"I was pretty green," Taft says, "and too embarrassed to admit my ignorance by asking questions. I took my family to lunch in the House dining room, and when the check came, I didn't know whether or not to leave a tip.

"The bill was $7. I tried to look around to see what other Congressmen were doing. To kill time, I gave the waiter a $10 bill and said 'Thank you.'

"He answered, 'Thank YOU, sir,' and next day the word was out that I was a 'big spender' in spite of my father."

"Tell Sen. Proxmire that the Majority Whip, who's nothing but a workhorse around here anyway, will see that he gets his lunch right away."

The speaker was Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., who had picked up the dining room phone when it rang.

The Doctor Says:

Drugs Treat Hypotension

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — I am 35 and suffer from nausea, dizzy spells and fainting. I have been told that this is due to orthostatic hypotension. What is this? What causes it and is there any drug that might help me?

A — Whenever a change of position from lying or sitting to standing causes a fall in blood pressure suficient to produce the symptoms you mention, a diagnosis of orthostatic hypotension can be made. What happens is that the lowered pressure prevents the brain from getting enough oxygen. This often happens to people who have taken too large a dose of a drug to control their high blood pressure and to victims of diabetes, multiple sclerosis and adrenal deficiency. In most victims, the cause is unknown.

In treating this condition elastic stockings that reach to the hip and an abdominal binder help to keep all the blood from going to the feet and abdomen. Transfusions of dextran are sometimes necessary, but most victims can be benefited by treatment with drugs.

Q — What is hemolytic streptococcus infection? Is it serious? Is it contagious? What is the usual treatment for it?

A — The streptococcus is one of the so-called pus formers and the hemolytic variety destroys red blood cells. This is the germ that causes strep sore throat, erysipelas, tonsilitis, child bed fever, scarlet fever, blood poisoning, rheumatic fever, and rheumatic heart disease. All but the last three are contagious.

Complications include sinusitis, middle ear infection, pneumonia, arthritis, meningitis, and kidney infection. All are serious and all are cured by antibiotics, especially penicillin.

Q — Is histidine which is found in protein the same as histamine which causes allergy? What drugs reduce the histamine in the system?

A — Histidine, an amino acid essential for growth, is found in all proteins. Histamine is an amine and it too is found in all animal and vegetable cells. In high concentrations histamine acts as a dilator of small blood vessels. When this occurs in the brain it causes the so-called histamine headache. Both of these chemical names are derived from the Green "histos" meaning tissue. There are literally dozens of antihistaminic drugs. Some of the most commonly used are diphenhydramine, hydroxyzine and promethazine.

Q — I am taking Dexamyl to reduce. My doctor is also giving me Elavil. What is it for?

A — Amytriptyline (Elavil) is a mild tranquilizer. Persons who take it should be checked every 6 months for signs of increased tension in the eyeballs (glaucoma).

JAILS AND SCHOOLS

When one reads or hears anything regarding the forthcoming school election on Dec. 16, the main concern is how cheaply we can build and how we can shrink the classrooms, both in size and number of rooms.

Let us, for a change, consider more closely, the basic reason we are voting for a new school—to provide the best education we can give our children, and to provide an environment conducive to both teaching and learning.

If our only concern is to build a school with the smallest possible rooms and the cheapest construction and to postpone it as long as possible, then we are defeating our purpose, and more tragic, we are shortchanging both our teachers and children.

Construction will begin soon for our new beautiful $370,000 jail, built to accommodate 40. This we voted in by an overwhelming 4-1 yes vote. This jail will have as part of its accommondations, 4-man cells, giving each man 80 square feet of space. Now the Taxpayers Assn. belittles the fact that classrooms in the proposed new school are to be 30x30, giving each child 30 square feet of space (including his desk space, aisle space, recitation space, teachers space, storage space, and blackboard writing space.

3. Payments would lead to strict controls to keep the costs of the programs from getting out of hand.

4. Payments would make farmers dependent upon appropriations; with production greatly increased and market prices depressed, most farmers would be unable to continue to produce without a subsidy payment from the Federal government.

5. Payments would place a ceiling on opportunity and level down farmers' incomes. From a political standpoint, the most equitable basis for distributing money to individuals is on an equal basis—one share, one vote. This is the road to low—not high—per family farm income.

Trouble Ahead, Mackie Says

DETROIT (AP)—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie predicts a "major conflict" if new commissioners provided for by Michigan's new Constitution try to take control of the Highway Department before his term expires in 1965.

Mackie meanwhile urged support of a proposal to amend the new Constitution to restore his office to elective status. The document, which takes effect Jan. 1, calls for a four-man board of commissioners appointed by the governor to run the Highway Department.

Mackie, a Democrat, was elected for a term expiring June 30, 1965. The new Constitution provides that the present system will continue until then, but Republican Gov. George Romney is empowered to name the four commissioners any time after Jan. 1.

HE CHOSE TO CLEAN UP

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A 22-year-old youth spent 45 minutes recently sweeping the sidewalk and gutter on both sides of Copper Street NW, between Fourth and Fifth, rather than spend 10 days in jail for breaking beer bottles in the area.

The young man, charged with violation of the antilitter ordinance, was given his choice of sweeping the sidewalk or spending a few days in jail, by Municipal Judge James A. Maloney.

He chose to sweep and the city provided him a broom.

Loose Moose On Prowl

By JACK HEWINS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Alaskans are very fond of moose as seen through rifle sights or as steak on the table, but not in the back yard, on the highway, on the railroad tracks or galloping off with the Monday morning wash.

"The moose is Alaska's most important game animal," says Loren Croxton, regional game supervisor here for the State Department of Fish and Game.

"But he can be a problem.

"He's so big and strong and ornery and stubborn he goes where he pleases. Ordinary fences don't slow him down. He's afraid of nothing — he'll even charge a train."

The humpbacked, droop-nosed giants range over most of this huge state and hunters from the "lower 48" — Alaska's name for the rest of the nation — spend a lot of money in the 49th to bag the trophy moose. Dressing out at 500 to 700 pounds, it provides the winter meat supply for hundreds of Alaskans.

Alive, it brings winter headache to hundreds of others.

It is when the snows are deep that the moose changes personality from Noble King of the Wilds to unfunny Clown-Around-Town.

"Moose gather in the willow patches to browse," Croxton says. "If these happen to be in or near a city or village the moose doesn't mind having humans around, if they don't get in the way. He and his friends may wander through town if food runs short in the willow patch.

"Cleared streets and sidewalks look like excellent trails to the moose.

LOOSE MOOSE: This is a common sight when snows cover moose feeding grounds in Anchorage. This big fellow is on the prowl for a handout.

Occasionally Croxton gets complaints from housewives that moose walked through their clotheslines and carried away the laundry. In Palmer, a wandering moose tumbled into an open foundation. Mr. and Mrs. Sverre Hansen of Anchorage made a pet one winter of a cow moose they named Emma, but few folks are courageous enough to hand bread out the back door to a big 1,200-pound beast with shifty eyes.

Moose on the loose are a major problem on railroad and highway. The Alaska Railroad timetable in 1961 warned it was "not responsible for train delays because of moose."

When the snow piles up — and it can pile high enough to hide a caboose — snowplows gouge out a trench intended for the trains, but moose regard it as a trail and a refuge. They have the same attitude toward cleared highways, where they are more evenly matched. Rarely does a moose derail a train, but he almost always wrecks the car that hits him.

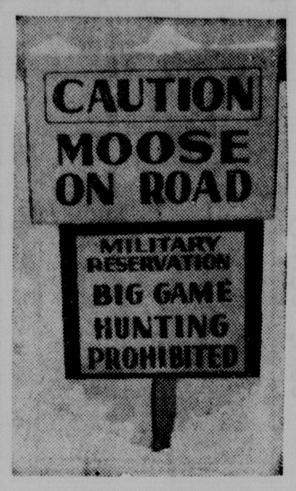
"The moose is like a cow on stilts," Croxton says. "When hit by one of today's low-slung cars it doesn't smash the grill—it usually comes down on top of the driver.

"And Alaskans are learning to watch out for the moose's one-two punch. A driver may slow down to let a cow moose cross the highway, then speed up and hit the calf that is loafing several yards behind."

Highway signs remind the driver of the danger and it would help if moose could read. Croxton says a mirror system used in Europe will be given a try — the mirrors along the roadside flash the car's headlight beams over a wide area, giving night drivers a better opportunity to see an approaching moose.

Railroaders, says conductor Ken Porter, hate to kill any animal; but running at slow speed for 10 miles or more behind a galloping moose can strain a man's love of wild creatures.

One engineer tried throwing snowballs as a solution until one huge old bull turned, charged the engine and broke its neck. An irate brakeman chased a train-stalling cow moose off the track with a broom.



Tells the Story

Despite all precautions the railway kill may reach 300 or more in a severe winter, most of them in the 100 miles between Palmer and Talkeetna. Train crews are required to report a kill at the next stop and section crews make an effort to recover the carcass.

"It's difficult and sometimes impossible when the temperature is 50 degrees below zero," Croxton says, "but most of the meat is salvaged and it goes to native village, missions, orphanages and other charities."

If you glance out of a window on a winter morning and a moose is looking in, pinch yourself. If it hurts, you're in Alaska.

Drug Licensing Issue Revived

LANSING (AP)—The SupeRx drug licensing issue was revived Monday as Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley declared he will ask the State Supreme Court for a rehearing of the case.

The high court, in a 5-3 decision, last Thursday ordered the State Pharmacy Board to issue SupeRx a drug license for its Battle Creek store, overruling a 1962 decision by the board.

The decision had seemed to end the 15-month controversy stirred by the case, during which Gov. George Romney asked in vain for the resignation of pharmacy board director David Moss.

Kelley sought a rehearing "because of the far-reaching implications of this decision upon the administrative procedures as they pertain to state agencies and the appeal of decisions from these agencies."

Solicitor General Robert Derengoski explained that, as the attorney general's office views the administrative proceures law, an appeal of a ruling by a state agency should be made in Ingham County Circuit Court.

SuperX attorneys, however, appealed the board ruling directly to the State Supreme Court, which in turn asked Calhoun County Judge Creighton Coleman to determine the facts of the case. After receiving Coleman's report and hearing additional testimony, the high court made its decision.

More Authority In Conservation Control Favored

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)—The Conservation Commission would have more power to set rules and seasons for the taking of fish and game if recommendations of a special committee reporting to Gov. George Romney are followed.

"Regulations of the wildlife harvest should be a function of the commission," declared a sub-committee on laws and regulations.

The committee noted the historic reluctance of the legislature to give such full authority to the commission.

Findings Available

There are two basic reasons, however, why this is desirable, the group said:

—The commission, acting by regulation, can manage wildlife resources with much greater flexibility than the legislature acting by statute.

—The commission has immediate and continuous access to reports of the department staff and can translate scientific findings into effective regulations more readily than the legislature.

The switch in power, the committee said, could be accomplished by legislation first closing all seasons on game and fish and then giving the commission power to issue new regulations as to the time, place and manner of taking fish and game.

Members of the committee were Circuit Judge Louis McGregor of Flint; Paul Weber, of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit; J. Russell Bouws, Holland motel and restaurant owner, and Dr. Paul Herbert, chief of the Research Department of the Department of Economic Expansion.

Laws Overlap

Codification of the conservation laws is urgently needed, the committee said, and the laws are overlapping and full of inconsistencies and conflicts.

The committee called for repeal of the present bounty system. This would release about $250,000 in fish and game funds that now is "presently wasted in bounty payments," it said.

The license buyer should pay the fee of the vendor in addition to the license fee, the committee said. Licenses still could be offered for sale without fee at conservation offices and possibly other state offices. It was estimated another $250,000 would be saved by this change.

The committee found a number of present regulations "of doubtful value."

One cited was a regulation requiring bow hunters to unstring their bows while carrying them in a car and also to put bows in a case or lock them in a trunk. There were 47 arrests during the past year for failure to lock up or case a bow.

"It is difficult to understand what purpose was served by the work of the officers making these arrests beyond the annoyance and harassment of bow hunters," the report remarked.

The law requiring guns to be cased dismantled or locked in a car trunk also was criticized. In the past year there were 429 arrests for violations of this statute.

The committee suggested the department was losing more in public goodwill by such rigid enforcement than it was gaining in protection of the deer herd.

Also termed futile were laws prohibiting possession of guns or bows in game areas just before the opening of hunting seasons.

Sister Of Writer Hemingway Dies In Grosse Pointe

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Marcelline Hemingway Sanford, 65-year-old sister of the late Ernest Hemingway, died today at a suburban Grosse Pointe Hospital.

Mrs. Sanford was the author of "At The Hemingways," a book about her famous family. It was published in 1962.

A native of Oak Park, Ill., Mrs. Sanford had lived in Grosse Pointe since her marriage to Sterline S. Sanford in 1923.

She was named "Writer of the Year" by the Detroit Women Writer's Club in both 1961 and 1962, and had completed her most recent lecture tour to the Far East earlier this year.

Noted Swedish Conductor Leads Detroit Symphony

DETROIT (AP) — Sixten Ehrling, 45, first Scandinavian conductor to become a regular music director of a major American symphony orchestra, arrived here Sunday to take up the baton of the Detroit symphony orchestra.

Ehrling landed at Metropolitan Airport with his wife, Gunnel, until recently prima ballerina of the Royal Stockholm Ballet and Howard Harrington, manager of the orchestra.

Also at the reception were Robert B. Semple, president of the orchestra; Raymond T. Perring, president of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce; and Charles J. Koebel, president of the Detroit Swedish Council, who headed the city's Swedish delegation.

Ehrling's first concert with the Detroit Symphony is Thursday. After a three - week stay, he will embark on a tour, including guest appearances as conductor for the Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati orchestras.

Ann Landers

Baby Dreaded

Dear Ann Landers: My mother is 39 years of age and she just found out that she is pregnant. My sister is 12 and mother is so burned up about having a baby after so many years that she is making life miserable for everyone in this house.

She has already told me not to make any social plans for May because from then on I will be busy taking care of the new baby. I was a camp counselor last summer and I loved it. I was looking forward to going back next year but mom says now I can forget all about camp because I will "have my hands full."

I think it is very unfair of my mother to louse up my whole life just because she is having a baby. Please tell me how to cope with this problem. —SHOOK UP PLENTY

Dear Shook: It's unfortunate, to say the least, that your mother feels as she does about the new baby and it's outrageous that she is advertising her unhappiness.

Let's hope that by the time the baby arrives your mother will have changed her attitude. After the little one is born, she may well be thrilled, and you might go to camp after all.

Dear Ann Landers: I promised my wife Eva that your word would be law.

We have been married 28 years so you know Eva is no spring chicken and I'm not exactly a rooster myself. We both work in the same office building and we eat dinner out about four nights a week.

Eva likes to eat where there is music because she's a great little dancer. Whenever there are unattached men around she smiles, winks, snaps her fingers to the music, keeps time with her head—anything to advertise the fact that she has rhythm.

Strange guys are always coming over to the table and asking Eva to dance. She says yes to anybody—old or young, short or tall, drunk or sober. It doesn't matter if the spaghetti just got there, she'll leave anything to get up and dance.

I keep telling her I don't think this is nice. She says it's okay because these men can see she is with her husband. Yes or No?—PHIL

Dear Phil: A respectable woman, whether she's married or single, should not be an available dancing partner for strangers—drunk or sober

Tell Eva that Grannie Annie says she should stick to her spaghetti or dance with her husband.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for parents who compare one child with another. I was the victim of such comparison and it almost wrecked me.

After high school graduation it was assumed that I would go to Dartmouth like my older brother. Well, my grades were not good enough and Dartmouth did not accept me. My father made it plain I had let the whole family down. I was so despondent I considered suicide.

Our minister who had known me since childhood sensed my trouble. I credit him with saving my sanity and giving me the courage to go on. He suggested a small college in Indiana, which accepted me promptly.

I did fairly well in school and now I have an excellent job. But no matter how hard I try, my father lets me know I can't equal my brother. I don't think I'll ever be able to get away from this shadow he has cast over me. Print this, please. —SECOND BEST

Dear Friend: Parents often make the mistake of holding one child up to another as a shining example, in the hope that it will serve as an incentive. Unfortunately, all it does is create hostility and problems. Each child should be accepted for what he is and no comparisons whatever should be made.

As for you, the best way to lose a shadow is to get out in the bright sunlight—and you can start right now by changing your signature to "DOING MY BEST."

Shattered Spine Nerves Rejoined

TOKYO (AP) — A historian medical breakthrough was claimed today by Japanese surgeons who said they successfully rejoined severed nerves in the shattered spine of a train accident victim.

Dr. Tsuneaki Nakayama, surgery chief of Chiba University Hospital, said the operation 15 months ago has given 28-year-old Kiyoko Oinuma partial control of her legs.

Miss Oinuma was crushed between a moving train and a railway platform in 1960. Injuries left her incapable of any movement.

State Ready To Fight Snow

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has budgeted more than $6 million and has more than 1,000 pieces of equipment valued at some $20 million ready for the annual battle against ice and snow.

Some 70,000 tons of salt also are ready to be spread on highways to help keep them clear.

Keweenaw County historically has the most snowfall in Michigan, the department reports, and last year had more than 17 feet. St. Clair County, with less than two feet, recorded the lightest snowfall last winter.

Northwestern Michigan and counties bordering Lake Michigan and other states, we must guarantee they can reach their favorite sports area," said Highway Commissioner John Mackie. "The $6 million cost of keeping state highways open to traffic is small compared to the economic losses to the state if they weren't."

Michigan has more organized winter sports areas—some 85 at the last count—than any other state and more are opening each year.

Loons Are Found Dead Along Lake

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Bodies of 20 dead loons were recovered along the Lake Michigan beach here Monday and were sent to State Conservation Department laboratories at East Lansing for examination as to cause of death.

Conservation Officer Harold Bowditch said the birds were dead not more than a day and added that many showed traces of blood about the mouth.

The die-off is believed part of a similar occurrence noted earlier along the shore near the Indiana state line, where bodies of gulls and other waterfowl have been found.

Laboratory spokesmen indicated that some of these bodies held traces of botulism organism.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Storyteller told how Nog was making a Trouble Cake for Santa. Then the storyteller fell asleep. The children set off for the Haunted House to see for themselves if the story were true.

CHAPTER SEVEN

THREE LITTLE HAUNTS

What the children saw in the Haunted house was a purple-faced, toothless, baldheaded, bottle-shaped creature and what they heard was the beating of a wooden spoon in a mixing bowl.

They knew right way that the purple-faced, toothless, baldheaded, bottle-shaped creature was Nog and what Nog was beating up in the mixing bowl was a Trouble Cake for Santa Claus.

There was a candle on the table and by its flickering light the children saw all the ingredients of the cake as old Nog took them up and threw them in the bowl.

There was a bottle of spiders' legs a box of powdered stinging nettles, a dozen cobra eggs. There were little piles of sifted Hate and Greed and Worry measured out on wax paper. There was a tablespoon of mashed jelly fish and a jar of Headaches.

Muttering to himself, Nog beat up an awful mixture. At the end he dumped in a can of sugar to disguise the taste. Then he popped the whole thing into the oven.

Only then did the children, standing frozen in the doorway, come to their senses. Without a sound they turned as one, leaped off the porch and ran as fast as their legs could carry them all the way home.

"He's really there!" they cried, bursting into the house. "It's not a story! Nog is there!"

But the house was dark and the fire was out and the Storyteller was gone. They ran through all the rooms of the house calling for him.

They looked in the closets and under the beds and down the road. The Storyteller was gone and his suitcases filled with books were gone. The only sign that he'd ever been there at all was the cushion on the floor where he'd sat before the fire, while he told his story.

The children looked at each other in dismay. Miss Jo pulled on Jeremy's arm. "Is old bad Nog going to send that terrible cake to Santa Claus?"

"Of course he is!" exclaimed Sissy. "That's what the story said and everything in the story is true!"

Miss Jo began to cry and Sissy said, "Oh, Jeremy, what will we do?

All this time Jeremy had been thinking. Now he said, "We could scare Nog out of the house."

"Oh, I couldn't go back there! It's HAUNTED!"

"But we could be the haunts," said Jeremy. "We could dress up like ghosts and go down there and scare Nog away."

"Like Halloween!" cried Miss Jo. She ran into her room and came back with a sheet over her head, waving her arms and crying, "Whooooo , , , Whooooooo . . ."

Jeremy and Sissy raced for sheets and the three of them tore out of the house, the sheets flying out behind them. It was dark now. The roads were empty. There was no one to see or wonder at three little ghosts stealing through the town.

When they came to the Haunted House they stood outside holding hands. Jeremy put away the flashlight he had used to guide them. There was not a light in the house and the only sound was their own scared breathing.

They pulled themselves up on the porch and peeped through the door. There was no sign of Nog.

"Now!" whispered Jeremy.

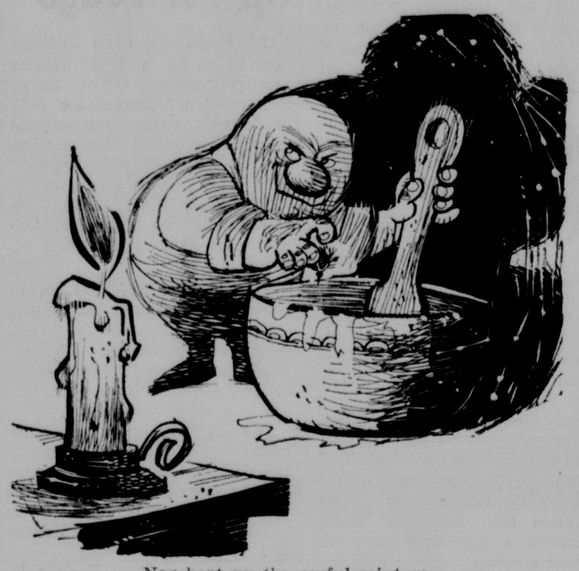
The three ghosts burst into the house, screeching and howling and waving their sheeted arms like three demented haunts.

If any other haunt had been there it surely would have been frightened away. But apparently the house was empty. Jeremy turned on his flashlight and peered about, growing braver all the while.

Not only was there no Nog. There was no sign of the cake he had been making.

Then Sissy leaned over and opened the oven door. Swoosh! A towering white phantom burst from the oven, went "Wheee. . . . ." and, spreading immense arms, floated over the children.

Tomorrow: A Letter to Santa.



Nog beat up the awful mixture.

Candle Service Ends Mourning

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

MEMORIAL SERVICE: A candle-light service will be held at the Lincoln Memorial Sunday afternoon, Dec. 22, to mark the close of the official 30-day period of mourning for President Kennedy.

A torch ignited by the eternal flame burning at Kennedy's grave will be carried to the memorial to touch off candles for the service. Washington area church choirs and five clergymen will participate.

JOHNSON - TV STATION: Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commmission doubts ownership of an Austin, Tex., television station by President and Mrs. Johnson will affect FCC decisions regarding it.

Noting that the Johnsons have placed in trust their stock in the company that owns the Austin station and has an interest in others, Henry said Sunday:

"As far as I am concerned, as an appointed official, this is satisfactory."

BARGHOORN: Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn says the Soviet government leveled four espionage charges against him when they seized and held him in Moscow for 16 days last month.

Barghoorn, freed after President Kennedy denied he was on intelligence mission and demanded his release, said the most serious charge was that he was trying to obtain information about Soviet missiles.

MRS. SMITH: Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., thinks Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine could whip both Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary.

Interviewed Sunday on Metropolitan Broadcasting's Radio and television program "Opinion in the Capital," Aiken said that if the three enter the primary "Mrs. Smith would probably get the largest number of votes."

APPRAISAL: Konrad Adenauer says President Johnson impresses him as an intelligent and realistically thinking man "who has both feet planted squarely on the ground."

The former West German chancellor gave this evaluation of Johnson in a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report."

Adenauer, who visited Johnson at his Texas ranch in 1961, was asked "do you think he could handle" Soviet Premier Khrushchev?

"I am quite sure of that," Adenauer said. "I do not believe that he would let Khrushchev bluff him."

Seaway Closes Wednesday Night

OTTAWA (AP) — Ships that have been taking advantage of good weather will be stopped fro m entering the Montreal-Lake Ontario section of the St. Lawrence Seaway at midnight, Wednesday, Dec. 11, it was announced Monday.

The seaway officially closed Nov. 30 but minimum ice interference provided an unofficial extension. The Seaway Authority said vessels entering the seaway by the Dec. 11 deadline "will be able to complete their transit, weather and ice conditions permitting."

Bethany Church Dedicates New Interior Tonight

Fifty-one years ago on Christmas Eve members of the congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church on 11th St., at 1st Ave. S., used their handsome new tall-spired church for the first time, although the congregation is 85 years old.

This evening at 8 the congregation will attend a renovation dedication service in the church which will mark first usage of the edifice in its newly refinished interior. The work planned by the Ossit Church Furniture Co., of Janesville, Wis., cost $65,000 and has greatly enriched the interior appearance, particularly in the area of worship focus at the altar.

The dedication program this evening will be conducted by Dr Theodore Matson, of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. The Rev. Walfred Nelson, pastor, will be liturgist; Rev. Erland E. Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Church, will be lector; and greetings will be brought by the Rev. J. Otto Magnuson of Marquette, dean of the Hiawatha District of the church.

The three youth choirs of the church, with 150 voices, will sing under the direction of Mrs. Arthur W. Olson, and the senior choir under the direction of Conrad Beck, with organ accompaniment by Donald Aronson.

Rev. Nelson said memorial giving and other gifts had provided $16,000 to help finance the renovation, in amounts ranging from $75 to $1,500. After the congregation's debt was discharged giving was directed into a renovation fund and this and a loan to be repaid in three years will finance the renovations, along with regular Sunday giving. The church made no special campaign to finance the extensive renovation program.

It has provided a new hardwood floor for the church laid in parquet style; carpeted aisles, new pews of Appalachian oak finished in walnut color, and paneling of the former plaster wall areas of the sanctuary.

The new pulpit has statues of St. John and St. Paul, symbolizing the Gospel and Epistle; a new lectern has been provided, and a new altar which rises high to the dome of the chancel and presents four angels on the reredos which were given to the church by confirmation classes and which adorned the choir grills in the old sanctuary. The altar rail and kneeling pads are new and the sanctuary doors are of the concealed type. There is a new narthex with amber, leaded windows.

The whole interior of the church has been redecorated.

Alfred Brandt Construction Co., had the general contract, painting was by Escanaba Painting Service; carpeting by Hawes Paint & Floor Coverings; heating by Pearson Boiler & Manufacturing Co.; electric service by Kobas Electric Co., and the $3,000 sound system was installed by Foster Electronics.

Pauling Sees End Of Wars

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Accepting the delayed 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, Dr. Linus Pauling declared today, "The world without war is in sight."

The controversial professor from the California Institute of Technology was greeted with thunderous applause as he stepped forward and accepted the prize of $49,465.

This was the day of the award of prizes set up by the will of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite. Ceremonies were held in Oslo and Stockholm.

Representatives of the International Red Cross Committee and the League of Red Cross Socities accepted the 1963 Peace Prize of $51,000 in ceremonies at Oslo University. The ceremonies were attended by King Olav V, Norwegian dignitaries, members of Parliament and the diplomatic corps.

In Stockholm, there were words of praise for the late Pres. Kennedy as King Gustav VI Adolf awarded the prizes for literature, medicine, physics and chemistry. Two Americans, Prof. Eugen Wigner of Princeton and Dr. Maria Goeppert-Mayer of the University of California at La Jolla, received a share of the physics prize.

In an awards speech in Stockholm, Chairman Arne Tiselius of the Nobel Foundation said Kennedy in word and deed worked for the same ideas as Nobel.

Pauling was praised in the Oslo presentation speech for workng tirelessly to make clear the danger of nuclear weapons despite strong criticism. The U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee once accused him of having "a consistent pro-Soviet bias."

Then Pauling spoke, expressing great optimism for the future of the world. He said the prize was not to be regarded as "recognition of my work alone, but also of the work of a great many others who strived for peace."

"We are beginning to move toward the world of peace and disarmament which Alfred Nobel was striving for, where the only war that exists is the one against disease and human suffering," he added.

"The world without war is in sight," Pauling said.

South Viet Nam Seeks Relations With Cambodia

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam plans to send an emissary to Cambodia to explore possibilities of restoring diplomatic relations between the two countries, it was learned today.

Cambodia broke relations with South Viet Nam in August after president Ngo Dinh Diem's regime raided Buddhist pagodas throughout South Viet Nam. Nearly all Cambodians are Buddhists.

New First Lady Follows Plans Of Mrs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new First Family may spend Christmas at the White House, rather than back at the ranch, with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson carrying out holiday plans that had been drawn up by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

The nation's 30 days of mourning for John F. Kennedy ends Dec. 22, and then the black crepe will be removed from the executive mansion and President Johnson will light the giant Christmas tree in the park behind the White House.

It is expected the stately rooms will be decorated as they have been in the past. And, as last year, a creche will be set up in the East Room, where the assassinated President's body lay in state little more than two weeks ago.

The creche had been planned by Mrs. Kennedy.

The White House announced Monday that Mrs. Johnson will keep a date of the former first lady and will distribute toys to the young patients at D.C. General Hospital.

After the Christmas holiday, the Johnsons are scheduled to entertain West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at the LBJ Ranch Dec. 28 and 29.

Deal Not Good At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist regime of East Germany insisted today on two political conditions for admission of West Berliners to see their relatives in East Berlin at Christmas.

These conditions, always rejected by the West in the past, were:

The West Berlin city administration must deal directly with the Communist regime and not through the West German government in Bonnn.

The Communist offices for the issuing of permits must be on West Berlin territory.

The conditions were laid down in an article in the East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt has said that prospects of making a deal with the Red regime were not good.

The Red regime wrote to Brandt last Thursday, offering to open the wall for West Berliners from Dec. 15 to Jan. 5. East Berliners would not be allowed to go to the West.

Airman Fined For Furnishing Beer

Arthur J. Davey, 20, of the K. I. Sawyer Air Base, today pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of furnishing beer to minors and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $5 or to serve 10 days in jail.

The offense occurred Saturday night and the arrest was made by Escanaba police following an investigation that implicated the Avenue Bar. The Avenue Bar will be cited to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for selling to a minor.

Newberry Elks Inspection On Wednesday

The BPO Elks 1705 will hold their December meeting at 8 p. m., Wednesday. Calvin Bjorne of the Ishpeming lodge and Walter Anderson of the Soo will be present to conduct an annual inspection as required by the Grand Lodge statutes.

Initiation of the following candidates will take place: Donald Burbach, John Quinn, Gerald Lehman, John Sloan, MD, John Armstrong, John McLean, Joseph Thibideau and Earl Kronquist.

A get-acquainted time has been scheduled for after the meeting for guests, newly initiated candidates and members. All members are urged to attend.

Garden Club

Members of the Newberry Garden Club recently enjoyed a Flower Arrangement workshop supervised by Mrs. L. P. Quinlan. Members brought the material fresh and dried to work with, and many various types were created.

Mrs. Leonard Hendrickson have a book report on Seeing Color The Year Around and Mrs. E. H. Kamstra was admitted as a new member.

Mrs. Clifford Lewis is calling a short meeting of all Girl Scout leaders, troop committees and assistant leaders for Thursday, Dec. 12, at 8 p. m., in the Episcopal Church Hall. Newberry, Engadine, Curtis and Gould City troops are included in this call.

Mike Ferris and son returned Sunday from Detroit after attending a funeral for the former's brother.

Seven Indicted In Fatal Blast

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Seven persons face fines or prison terms if convicted of actions that a grand jury charged contributed to the deaths of 72 persons in the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum explosion.

Five persons connected with the use of bottled propane gas in the building were indicted for involuntary manslaughter Monday in connection with the Halloween night blast. Two public fire officials were charged with neglect of inspection duties required of them by law.

Indicted for neglect of their duties were state Fire Marshal Ira J. Anderson and Indianapolis Fire Chief Arnold Phillips.

Named in the involuntary manslaughter indictments were: Meltin T. Ross, Indianapolis, general manager of the Indiana Coliseum Corp.; Edward F. Franger, Elkhart, Ind., president of Discount Gas Corp., which supplied the bottled gas; Fred J. Helms, Indianapolis, vice president of Discount Gas Corp.; Richard Ensign, Brownsburg, Ind., manager of the company's Indianapolis office, and Floyd James, Indianapolis, manager of the concessions business for the Coliseum.

Junior Auxiliary Party Held At Bark River

BARK RIVER — Rheaume-Knauf Junior Auxiliary, Unit 438, met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Hall Thursday evening at 7:30. They dispensed with their usual business meeting and instead enjoyed a "Come as You Are," Christmas party. They practice singing Christmas carols for the Legion's children's party to be held Sunday, Dec. 22, at the Bark River Community Hall. Mrs. Edwin Hall and Mrs. Hector Larson assisted the girls with their singing.

The girls roasted marshmallows and hot dogs around the fireplace. Mrs. Hall made a beautiful Christmas centerpiece for the lunch table and decorated a Christmas tree for the girls. There was an exchange of gifts. The prize for the most unique attire was won by Beverly LaVigne.

A corsage was presented to Mrs. Philip Norman, chairman of the Junior Auxiliary, by the juniors. She helped organize the Junior Auxiliary a few years ago and has been their chairman since, and has been assisted by members of the Senior Auxiliary. Mrs. Norman is now District Junior Auxiliary chairman. Mrs. Robert LaVigne is co-hcairman of the Jnuior Auxiliary with Mrs. Norman this year.

Those present at the party were: Carol Jean. Kathy, Lynn and Diane Larson, Carol Motto, Mary Beth Sharkey, Betty Lu and Julie Krause, Dawn and Denise Hall, Connie Adams, Beth Knauf, Ann Mae Moniowczak, Beverly LaVigne, Myrna Norman and senior auxiliary members, Mesdames Hector Larson, Robert LaVigne, Philip Norman and Edwin Hall.

Members of the lunch committee for the evening were Beth Knauf, Anna Mae Moniowczak, Mary Sharkey and Connie Adams.

Mrs. Philip Norman was in Green Bay to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. William Vallier.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Levesque returned from a week's visit with their son's family, the James Levesques, in Traverse City.

Briefly Told

S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A. singers will meet at 9 p. m., at the Elk's Club Wednesday evening for a singing engagement. All members are urged to attend. Uniform will be striped shirts and dark trousers.

Delta Creating Work Relief To Aid Employables

Arrival of winter has brought the familiar increase in direct relief, but the year now ending has shown a marked improvement over 1962 in the number of relief cases and the amounts expended in the Upper Peninsula. The situation indicates an economic upturn and healthier state of employment and business generally.

Delta County had 93 direct relief cases in October, compared with 137 in the same month a year ago, and spending was $7,974 compared with $10,-539.

In November, says Lyle Plowman, Delta County welfare director, there were 101 cases compared with 141 a year ago, and spending was $8,789 compared with $12,370.

"We've been quite fortunate," said Plowman. "It's been a pretty good fall. But we've got employables on the rolls now for the first time since last spring, about 15 cases, for the last 10 days. And there will probably be more, as the weather worsens.

"After a hard freeze we expect to lose some of them as the men return to work in the woods. It has been halted for the time on many jobs because there can't be any trucking."

The employables are getting food and fuel orders only and Plowman said that a relief work program is being organized and will be operative in a few days so that employables can work for their relief checks.

He said that some employables had come to the relief rolls because of shut-down of Accelerated Public Works projects.

Distribution of surplus foods is up seasonably.

The Upper Peninsula in October had 1,389 direct relief cases compared with 1,609 a year ago, and spent $97,679 compared with $113,338 a year ago.

Counties with more cases were Alger, Baraga, Chippewa and Schoolcraft, while Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Iron Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee and Ontonagon had fewer.

In Michigan there were 27,-334 cases compared with 31,509 in October, 1962.

Trial Balloon Up For Lodge

WASHINGTON (AP) — What seemed to be a trial balloon labeled "Henry Cabot Lodge for president" floated the political skies today but without discernable effect thus far on political pros on the ground.

As one of them remarked:

"Until the dust settles, we can hardly see any trial balloons, let alone guage their effect."

The dust he referred to, of course, was stirred up by the sudden succession to the presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson. This has created real turmoil in the Republican ranks and has led to a lot of re-thinking.

The big issue is this: does the effort to beat Johnson require the GOP to put up a candidate quite different from the sort who would have been needed to battle the late John F. Kennedy?

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is evidently one of those who has been re-thinking. He is reported to have urged Lodge to make himself actively available for the Republican presidential nomination.

Lodge, 61, and now ambassador to South Viet Nam, said he was not running for anything but "naturally, anything from Gen. Eisenhower would be treated with great respect."

In 1952, Lodge was defeated for re-election to the Senate from Massachusetts by John F. Kennedy.

As of now, Lodge could not count many delegates to the 1964 convention in his corner. But things can change, as only Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona realizes too well.

At least until the Democratic presidential picture altered so suddenly, Goldwater was rated ahead for the GOP nomination.

Wife Given Hope Husband Will Be Freed In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of a Michigan man imprisoned by North Korean communists left the State Department Monday with some hope for her husband's release.

Mrs. Carleton Voltz, of Frankfort, said Roger Hislman, assistant secretary of state for far eastern affairs, "is hoping like all the rest of us" that U. S. efforts to free Voltz and another American pilot will succeed.

The two pilots were aboard a plane that went down May 17 in North Korea.

She said the Red Cross had sent word in September that the two men were alive and well. But mail has not been gettting through to them nor have letters been received from them, she said.

U. S. efforts to free the pilots, both U. S. Army captains, has been unsuccessful so far.

Two Youths To Get Bomb Threat Lie Test Today

Two young men, one under 17 and the other over that age, were taken to Marquette today by Police Capt. Joseph Corcoran to receive a polygraph test from Michigan State Police.

The youths volunteered for the test after they were questioned in connection with the bomb threat against the Escanaba Area High School last week.

Police said the older youth, not a student, will also be questioned about the breaking and entering of the Bonamer Tavern recently.

Bethany Church Dedicates New Interior Tonight

Fifty-one years ago on Christmas Eve members of the congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church on 11th St., at 1st Ave. S., used their handsome new tall-spired church for the first time, although the congregation is 85 years old.

This evening at 8 the congregation will attend a renovation dedication service in the church which will mark first usage of the edifice in its newly refinished interior. The work planned by the Ossit Church Furniture Co., of Janesville, Wis., cost $65,000 and has greatly enriched the interior appearance, particularly in the area of worship focus at the altar.

The dedication program this evening will be conducted by Dr Theodore Matson, of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. The Rev. Walfred Nelson, pastor, will be liturgist; Rev. Erland E. Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Church, will be lector; and greetings will be brought by the Rev. J. Otto Magnuson of Marquette, dean of the Hiawatha District of the church.

The three youth choirs of the church, with 150 voices, will sing under the direction of Mrs. Arthur W. Olson, and the senior choir under the direction of Conrad Beck, with organ accompaniment by Donald Aronson.

These conditions, always rejected by the West in the past, were:

The West Berlin city administration must deal directly with the Communist regime and not through the West German government in Bonnn.

The Communist offices for the issuing of permits must be on West Berlin territory.

The conditions were laid down in an article in the East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt has said that prospects of making a deal with the Red regime were not good.

The Red regime wrote to Brandt last Thursday, offering to open the wall for West Berliners from Dec. 15 to Jan. 5. East Berliners would not be allowed to go to the West.

Airman Fined For Furnishing Beer

Arthur J. Davey, 20, of the K. I. Sawyer Air Base, today pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of furnishing beer to minors and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $5 or to serve 10 days in jail.

The offense occurred Saturday night and the arrest was made by Escanaba police following an investigation that implicated the Avenue Bar. The Avenue Bar will be cited to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for selling to a minor.

Elks Inspection On Wednesday

The BPO Elks 1705 will hold their December meeting at 8 p. m., Wednesday. Calvin Bjorne of the Ishpeming lodge and Walter Anderson of the Soo will be present to conduct an annual inspection as required by the Grand Lodge statutes.

Initiation of the following candidates will take place: Donald Burbach, John Quinn, Gerald Lehman, John Sloan, MD, John Armstrong, John McLean, Joseph Thibideau and Earl Kronquist.

A get-acquainted time has been scheduled for after the meeting for guests, newly initiated candidates and members. All members are urged to attend.

Garden Club

Members of the Newberry Garden Club recently enjoyed a Flower Arrangement workshop supervised by Mrs. L. P. Quinlan. Members brought the material fresh and dried to work with, and many various types were created.

Mrs. Leonard Hendrickson have a book report on Seeing Color The Year Around and Mrs. E. H. Kamstra was admitted as a new member.

Mrs. Clifford Lewis is calling a short meeting of all Girl Scout leaders, troop committees and assistant leaders for Thursday, Dec. 12, at 8 p. m., in the Episcopal Church Hall. Newberry, Engadine, Curtis and Gould City troops are included in this call.

Mike Ferris and son returned Sunday from Detroit after attending a funeral for the former's brother.

Seven Indicted In Fatal Blast

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Seven persons face fines or prison terms if convicted of actions that a grand jury charged contributed to the deaths of 72 persons in the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum explosion.

Five persons connected with the use of bottled propane gas in the building were indicted for involuntary manslaughter Monday in connection with the Halloween night blast. Two public fire officials were charged with neglect of inspection duties required of them by law.

Indicted for neglect of their duties were state Fire Marshal Ira J. Anderson and Indianapolis Fire Chief Arnold Phillips.

Named in the involuntary manslaughter indictments were: Meltin T. Ross, Indianapolis, general manager of the Indiana Coliseum Corp.; Edward F. Franger, Elkhart, Ind., president of Discount Gas Corp., which supplied the bottled gas; Fred J. Helms, Indianapolis, vice president of Discount Gas Corp.; Richard Ensign, Brownsburg, Ind., manager of the company's Indianapolis office, and Floyd James, Indianapolis, manager of the concessions business for the Coliseum.

Junior Auxiliary Party Held At Bark River

BARK RIVER — Rheaume-Knauf Junior Auxiliary, Unit 438, met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Hall Thursday evening at 7:30. They dispensed with their usual business meeting and instead enjoyed a "Come as You Are," Christmas party. They practice singing Christmas carols for the Legion's children's party to be held Sunday, Dec. 22, at the Bark River Community Hall. Mrs. Edwin Hall and Mrs. Hector Larson assisted the girls with their singing.

The girls roasted marshmallows and hot dogs around the fireplace. Mrs. Hall made a beautiful Christmas centerpiece for the lunch table and decorated a Christmas tree for the girls. There was an exchange of gifts. The prize for the most unique attire was won by Beverly LaVigne.

A corsage was presented to Mrs. Philip Norman, chairman of the Junior Auxiliary, by the juniors. She helped organize the Junior Auxiliary a few years ago and has been their chairman since, and has been assisted by members of the Senior Auxiliary. Mrs. Norman is now District Junior Auxiliary chairman. Mrs. Robert LaVigne is co-hcairman of the Jnuior Auxiliary with Mrs. Norman this year.

Those present at the party were: Carol Jean. Kathy, Lynn and Diane Larson, Carol Motto, Mary Beth Sharkey, Betty Lu and Julie Krause, Dawn and Denise Hall, Connie Adams, Beth Knauf, Ann Mae Moniowczak, Beverly LaVigne, Myrna Norman and senior auxiliary members, Mesdames Hector Larson, Robert LaVigne, Philip Norman and Edwin Hall.

Members of the lunch committee for the evening were Beth Knauf, Anna Mae Moniowczak, Mary Sharkey and Connie Adams.

Mrs. Philip Norman was in Green Bay to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. William Vallier.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Levesque returned from a week's visit with their son's family, the James Levesques, in Traverse City.

Briefly Told

S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A. singers will meet at 9 p. m., at the Elk's Club Wednesday evening for a singing engagement. All members are urged to attend. Uniform will be striped shirts and dark trousers.

Delta Creating Work Relief To Aid Employables

Arrival of winter has brought the familiar increase in direct relief, but the year now ending has shown a marked improvement over 1962 in the number of relief cases and the amounts expended in the Upper Peninsula. The situation indicates an economic upturn and healthier state of employment and business generally.

Delta County had 93 direct relief cases in October, compared with 137 in the same month a year ago, and spending was $7,974 compared with $10,539.

In November, says Lyle Plowman, Delta County welfare director, there were 101 cases compared with 141 a year ago, and spending was $8,789 compared with $12,370.

"We've been quite fortunate," said Plowman. "It's been a pretty good fall. But we've got employables on the rolls now for the first time since last spring, about 15 cases, for the last 10 days. And there will probably be more, as the weather worsens.

"After a hard freeze we expect to lose some of them as the men return to work in the woods. It has been halted for the time on many jobs because there can't be any trucking."

The employables are getting food and fuel orders only and Plowman said that a relief work program is being organized and will be operative in a few days so that employables can work for their relief checks.

He said that some employables had come to the relief rolls because of shut-down of Accelerated Public Works projects.

Distribution of surplus foods is up seasonably.

The Upper Peninsula in October had 1,389 direct relief cases compared with 1,609 a year ago, and spent $97,679 compared with $113,338 a year ago.

Counties with more cases were Alger, Baraga, Chippewa and Schoolcraft, while Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Iron Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee and Ontonagon had fewer.

In Michigan there were 27,334 cases compared with 31,509 in October, 1962.

Trial Balloon Up For Lodge

WASHINGTON (AP) — What seemed to be a trial balloon labeled "Henry Cabot Lodge for president" floated the political skies today but without discernable effect thus far on political pros on the ground.

As one of them remarked:

"Until the dust settles, we can hardly see any trial balloons, let alone guage their effect."

The dust he referred to, of course, was stirred up by the sudden succession to the presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson. This has created real turmoil in the Republican ranks and has led to a lot of re-thinking.

The big issue is this: does the effort to beat Johnson require the GOP to put up a candidate quite different from the sort who would have been needed to battle the late John F. Kennedy?

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is evidently one of those who has been re-thinking. He is reported to have urged Lodge to make himself actively available for the Republican presidential nomination.

Lodge, 61, and now ambassador to South Viet Nam, said he was not running for anything but "naturally, anything from Gen. Eisenhower would be treated with great respect."

In 1952, Lodge was defeated for re-election to the Senate from Massachusetts by John F. Kennedy.

As of now, Lodge could not count many delegates to the 1964 convention in his corner. But things can change, as only Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona realizes too well.

At least until the Democratic presidential picture altered so suddenly, Goldwater was rated ahead for the GOP nomination.

Wife Given Hope Husband Will Be Freed In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of a Michigan man imprisoned by North Korean communists left the State Department Monday with some hope for her husband's release.

Mrs. Carleton Voltz, of Frankfort, said Roger Hislman, assistant secretary of state for far eastern affairs, "is hoping like all the rest of us" that U. S. efforts to free Voltz and another American pilot will succeed.

The two pilots were aboard a plane that went down May 17 in North Korea.

She said the Red Cross had sent word in September that the two men were alive and well. But mail has not been gettting through to them nor have letters been received from them, she said.

U. S. efforts to free the pilots, both U. S. Army captains, has been unsuccessful so far.

Two Youths To Get Bomb Threat Lie Test Today

Two young men, one under 17 and the other over that age, were taken to Marquette today by Police Capt. Joseph Corcoran to receive a polygraph test from Michigan State Police.

The youths volunteered for the test after they were questioned in connection with the bomb threat against the Escanaba Area High School last week.

Police said the older youth, not a student, will also be questioned about the breaking and entering of the Bonamer Tavern recently.

Newcomers Christmas Dinner Dance Gala Event Of Holiday Season

HIGHLIGHTING THE MANY Yuletide parties which began early this month was the Escanaba Welcome Wagon Newcomers annual dinner dance, held Saturday evening at the Dells Supper Club, one of the most enjoyable and successful affairs in the history of the organization. At the left are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brady, being greated by Mrs. Ron Vogt, decorations chairman; center, a view of newcomers and guests around the beautifully appointed smorgasbord table; and, right, dancing couples, pictured against the colorful and artistic holiday decor of the Dells. ## Luther League Will Conduct Advent Service

"To Catch a Christmas" is the name of the drama to be presented by the Luther League young people of Immanuel Lutheran Church at the Advent service at that church Wednesday evening. The play is under the direction of Mrs. Sig Ericksen, one of the League's adult sponsors.

Other parts of the service, such as scripture and prayer will also be taken by youth. Miss Sharon Olsen will be organist.

In addition to the sermon in drama, the service will include the usual features such as recorded music for meditation. The service begins at 7:30. The public is invited.

Ford River PTA Party Thursday

Ford River PTA Christmas party will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the school. Members are asked to have a gift marked for boy or girl or a non-perishable food item to be donated to the Salvation Army for its Christmas baskets. Mrs. Robert Ham will speak briefly on millage for the new Franklin School. All members and friends of the unit are invited.

Annual Concert At First Presbyterian

An outstanding musical event of the coming weekend will be the annual Concert of Christmas Music to be presented by the combined choirs of First United Presbyterian Church. It will be given Saturday and Sunday evenings, Dec. 14 and 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

Mrs. M. H. Garrard Jr., is director of the Sanctuary and Youth Choirs and the Choralier Choir is directed by Mrs. Charles Kaiser.

Approximately 90 voices will participate with several soloists featured, accompanied by string and brass instruments.

Mrs. Helene Merki is organist and Mrs. Robert E. Meyer and Mrs. Clarence E. Moore will be at the piano.

The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

Yuletide Party For Sisters At St. Joseph's

St. Joseph School cafeteria will be the scene of the annual Christmas party given for the benefit of the School Sisters of Notre Dame Wednesday, Dec. 11 starting at 8 p. m. A large attendance of parents, members of St. Joseph's Home and School Association, is expected, as this will be their opportunity to show their appreciation of the work done by the Sisters for the children of the parish.

The mothers of fifth grade students are in charge of the party, with Mrs. Clarence Grabowski and Mrs. Joseph Ricci serving as co-chairmen. A musical program has been arranged, to be followed by a delicious lunch.

It is hoped that every family of St. Joseph's students will be represented at the party. Those who are unable to attend, are asked to deliver their gift to the school cafeteria during the day.

Junior MYF Is Giving Program At Nursing Home

The Junior MYF of First Methodist Church will meet at the church at 6 p.m. Wednesday for transportation to the Delta Nursing Home where a musical program will be presented. Janice Jensen and Greg Evensen will accompany the carolers on the violin and piano.

The youth are taking treats which they have prepared for the patients.

Counselors for the group are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Plowman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Evensen.

Other activities at First Methodist Wednesday are Senior Choir at 7 and Senior MYF at 8 p.m.

BRT Auxiliary Party Thursday

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will have a regular meeting and Christmas party Thursday at Carpenters Hall. Potluck luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. and gifts will be exchanged. Each member is asked to provide her own table service.

Christian Science Society

Jesus' instructions on how to pray will be brought out in this Sunday's Bible Lession at all Christian Science church services. The subject is "God the Preserver of Man."

Golden Text: "The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth . . . The Lord preserveth all them that love him" (Psalms 145:18, 20).

Related readings from the Christian Science textbook will open with these lines: "Our Master said, 'After this manner therefore pray ye,' and then he gave that prayer which covers all human needs" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 16).

Driver Permit Photo Favored

LANSING (AP)—Your picture may be your driver's license soon, if the Michigan Chiefs of Police and the Michigan Sheriff's Association have their way.

The two groups have announced they will campaign for the proposal at the next session of the Legislature.

Their announcement came as a governor's court conference on traffic problems unanimously approved the proposal. Secretary of State James Hare said 16 states now have the requirement. He said it aids law enforcement.

Among other suggestions from the judges and law enforcement officials on reducing traffic deaths were:

Higher salaries for local police, 400 new State Police troopers, establishment of a statewide police training academy, stiffer blood tests for drivers suspected of drinking, and reactivation of Michigan State University's traffic safety center.

AGATHA UNAPPRECIATED

BALTIMORE (AP)—The sign in the bookstore window said "Books Bought and Sold" so one resident tried to unload a stack of paper-back mystery novels.

"They don't sell," said the man at the counter.

"Agatha Christie mysteries alone have sold 200 million copies," said the man with the paperbacks.

"Ha," said the clerk. "In every field you get these one-time, flash-in-the-pan writers."

Designed for the man who has something to tote: Rugged attache case is just five inches wide, good for papers or pullovers. Leather wallet features card case on the outside of the billfold; and the very Scottish ensemble is a traveling bag for the man who wants everything—complete with 10-ounce flask.

That Prestige Bit

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Right now you may bemoan the fact that your wallet is, if nothing else, too thin. But suppose your ship comes in one of these days?

There you are — doing those things you have always wanted to do: walking out on a musical which cost $9.60 a seat; ordering a rented car by phone and charging it; flipping a credit card at the waiter instead of ordering a pastrami on rye "to go."

Lugging all those status symbols in your wallet takes space. But one leather goods manufacturer (C. F. Rummp) has simplified the job of prestige projection by making a compartment which rides on the outside of the wallet.

Neat, huh? This way you can charge the dinner without the chance of letting her know you are flat broke. Worry about it at the end of the month. The card compartment holds 28 cards — all in their own little windows.

This feature is also built into secretaries — not those behind typewriters — money-holders which fold flat for easy storage in breast pockets.

If you really want to live it up, you might check out another offering, by the same company, designed for the man on the go — but in comfort. Along with a suitcase, one can purchase in matched plaid such fitted incidentals as travel tie case, jewel box, shaving brush, shoeshine kit and a thermos with strap attachment which holds four golf tees. The container will keep warm or cold 10 ounces of whatever you are drinking on your journey.

Less flamboyant but equally practical is an attache case now in the market, with a rugged magnesium frame (by Samsonite). It has a scuff-proof vinyl covering and locks which are flush with the surface — to cut down on accidental unsnappings. Inside is a writing surface and five-file briefcase — all of which can be removed if you are cramming in a shirt or two for an overnight sojourn.

Central officially became a part of Midland Dec. 1. Delegates heard speakers tell how cooperatives help make their local community more prosperous.

Woman 'Sees' With Fingers

FLINT (AP) — Mrs. Patricia Stanley, 42, isn't blind but she has a baffling gift that may some day help those who are.

She says she can "see" colors with her fingertips, and can prove it.

Mrs. Stanley's curious talent came to light because of recent stories from Soviet Russia about a 22-year-old girl there who can read and identify colors through her fingertips.

A former teacher, Dr. Marion Gillim, of Barnard College in New York City, read about the Russian woman, and recalled knowing Mrs. Stanley in Owensboro, Ky. Dr. Gillim located Mrs. Stanley and referred her to Dr. Richard P. Woutz, a professor of psychology at Barnard.

He began a series of tests, and said he discovered that Mrs. Stanley, while blindfolded, could identify different colors over and over against pure chance odds of 10,000 to one.

Mrs. Stanley says that light and dark colors "feel" differently to her fingers.

"A light color feels smoother and thinnner," she said. "A dark color feels thicker, heavier and rougher. I don't know how to say it. I can't explain."

The giant rhinoceros, baluchitherium, which resembled a grounded blimp, was the largest land mammal that ever lived. Baluchitherium stood about 17 feet high at the shoulder and was 24 feet long. It stalked the earth some 30 million years ago.

Deer Season 'One Of Best'

Overall success in the 1963 deer hunting season was "very good" the Newberry district office of the Conservation Department reports.

Hunter concentrations west of M 77 and in the northern part of the district did not develop as in the previous year. The volume and tone of complaints appeared less on antlerless deer seasons, the department said.

Drummond Island experienced the most successful season since 1959. The special seasons have applied to Drummond during seven of the past eight seasons and the antlerless harvest has beer. as liberal as any area known of comparable size.

A slight increased in antler size was noted in the Drummond deer kill. Personnel at checking stations had numerous reports on large amounts of fat foun don deer. The special season on antlerless deer this year included all of district four.

The largest concentration of deer hunters was in Seney Refuge, with even distribution reported for other areas. Hunting activity held up throughout the season in the east end of the district. The bear kill was down, with 172 reported as against 370 last year, despite mild weather considered conducive to higher kill.

The number of deer taken across the Mackinac Straits was 11,894, 2,200 more than the preceding year. Forty-three per cent were antlerless, compared to 27 per cent last year.

Elks Seeking Playing Cards

Manistique Lodge, BPO Elks, is again collecting good, used decks of playing cards for hospitalized veterans and others.

This is the second drive of the Elks. Two years ago the drive brought in 500,000 decks, with most going to veterans hospitals, where card playing is a popular pastime and decks are always in short supply. Some were brailled for the blind and others went to rehabilitation centers to help cerebral palsied children regain manual dexterity.

Judge James T. Halliman of New York, chairman of the Elks National Service commission, has informed Ted Hentschell, exalted ruler of Lodge 632 here, that need for more cards is again acute.

Complete, unbroken decks should be given and these should be wrapped or otherwise protected. They may be left at the Elks Lodge here.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Bosanic, Rte. 1, are the parents of a son, born Dec. 8 in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The mother is the former Carolyn Jane LaRose.

Skilled Job Field Has Openings

Areas which desire training programs so more young people may stay at home and be gainfully employed can accomplish this through area vocational schools, Harold S. Fisher, business consultant for the public services division of Northern Michigan University said here Monday in a talk to the Rotary Club.

The area vocational schools can be provided through cooperation of school boards in four or five districts, with cooperation of businessmen and using existing facilities in high school industrial arts, commercial and other departments.

In this manner, areas may help achieve a higher income level for young people, too. A Presidential report has cited that most money has been spent in agricultural and home economics vocational training, while the area of expansion and need is for professional and technical services — those which serve people.

Cooks, Bakers

The present vocational arts programs were provided under laws adopted in the period of Woodrow Wilson. Research money to discover need and trends was not available until the past 9-10 years, Fisher noted. Much of the unemployment problem now is concerned with young people educated in this same period, he added.

With concern of Sputnik's implications, much attention has been focused on the college bound student, but attention must also be directed to those who do not graduate. Of a group of 10, two will probably graduate from college and three will drop out before finishing high school, he pointed out.

Many skilled jobs pay more than doctors and lawyers earn, he added.

Some ocean liners are faced with the possibility of having to leave the seas, in favor of ships from other countries, due to lack of good cooks and those skilled in these arts, Fisher stated.

Similarly, there are job opportunities for those with appropriate skills in butchering, baking, and other areas.

By 1970, it is predicted 87 million will be working full-time. Of these 26 million will be young people on the labor market. Much can be done if proper preparations are made.

Expanding Areas

In the past, young people entering the labor market often learned minor skills and took blue collar jobs. But many of these have been lost due to automation and farm decline.

Not all guidance workers in the past have had sufficient background and experience to properly guide youngsters and some educators were not providing the proper training for a successful life, because the snift from agriculture and home economics to greater expansion in professional and technical services was not recognized or known. Expansions in clerical and sales management, proprietorship and service workers, are also predicted. It has been found that 50 per cent of those trained in certain fields stayed to work in those fields, Fisher added.

Northern Michigan University is helping provide more skilled help through various programs. They include the area re-training program, located in two buildings at Marquette, which with a staff of 29 has turned out over 500 trainees. They were welders, machinists, typists, auto mechanics and body repairmen.

Northern Lower Michigan is included in the area served by the college and some of the traineers have come from as far as Manistee and Alpena. The Michigan Employment Security commission is aiding in providing students for the program.

A management development training program, a labor education program, and a practical nurse training center are also included in the university's work. A teacher training program is being developed.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital are: Bradley Baker, 119 Walnut, Dec. 7; Carolyn Bosanic, Rte. 1, Orvill LaBute, Garden; Anna Gardapee, Rte. 1; and Frederick Rochefort Jr., Garden. Discharged: Claudine Brain, Rosemary Gauthier and baby, Joan Archambeau, Mary Strassler, Elva Carlson, Kay McKilligan, Ernest Edwards, Myrna Guertin and Emma Boyd, Dec. 8.

School Board Gets Report On Curriculum

The Manistique Board of Education at its meeting at 7:30 p. m., today will consider policies on employment of teachers in the district and policy on hiring of substitutes.

Adult education will also be discussed.

Reports to the board will include one on planning for a community bus for young people going to school, recreation and other events and a report of suggestions by teachers for improvements in curriculum.

Purchase of employe bonds, maintenance work to be accomplished in the Christmas vacation and a report of Rev. Ingmar Levin on attendance at the community school meeting in Flint are also on the agenda.

MHS Debaters Win 3 Ratings In Competition

Manistique debate teams won one of three rounds at Mount Pleasant Saturday in the Top Teams Tournament and claimed three excellent ratings, in close competition.

The meeting was sponsored by Central Michigan University to encourage excellence in debating and give top teams opportunity for competition. It included critiques of debates by students, as well as awards for individual merit.

Winning the excellent ratings from Manistique were Eleanor Jorgenson, Christine Mathson and Kathy Gregor. At the meeting, 13 excellent ratings and five superiors were awarded. The superior ratings were won by Battle Creek and Lansing Sexton High School students.

The Manistique affirmative team of Kathy McGregor and Fred Lesica won over Saginaw and lost to Lansing Sexton and Battle Creek. Manistique negative, Eleanor Jorgenson and Christine Mathson won over Saginaw and lost to Alpena and Battle Creek.

About 50 students competed. Lower Michigan students already have had tournament competition such as this; this marked the first time Upper Peninsula schools were invited to participate.

MHS debaters Saturday participate in their first U. P. tournament, at Negaunee. Another preliminary will be held in Escanaba before finals.

Two Bound To Circuit Court In Vandal Case

Two persons were bound to Circuit Court Monday after waiving examination in Justice Court.

Patrick R. Kane, 23, of 528 N. Houghton, who turned himself in to sheriff's officers Saturday night, was bound to Circuit Court under $1,500 bond for malicious destruction of gravestones. The charge stems from police investigation of extensive damaging of tombstones in Lakeview Cemetery Oct. 19. Others charged appeared in court earlier.

Kane also was charged with furnishing intoxicating beverage to minors and was assessed fine of $10 and costs of $4.30, and given a 60-day jail term. Alternative is 90 days in pail. The charge is the third for the same offense in the past several months, the court reported.

Mrs. Ann M. Colegrove, 22, of Manistique waived examination on a charge of malicious destruction of property, causing damage in excess of $100 and has been bound to Circuit Court under $500 bond. She was arrested on complaint of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Ostrander, Alger Avt., who reported Mrs. Colegrove broke windows and damaged siding on the Ostrander housetrailer with a garbage can cover, Dec. 8, about 3 a. m.

William Green has been dismissed from University Hospital in Ann Arbor and is visiting with his brother in Marion, Ohio, before returning here after the holidays.

The planning commission considering purchase of a community bus meets at 7:30 p. m., Thursday in the high school. All organization representatives and interested persons are invited.

State Police ticketed Billy R. Head of Trenton for reckless driving, and John H. Gatiss Jr., of Munising for speeding. Public Safety Officers ticketed Joseph Jenks, 19, Intake Park, for loitering.

Frank E. Hastings, 20, of Fayette, was assessed fine of $15 and costs of $4.30 and was given a 3-day jail sentence in Justice Court Monday on a drunk an disorderly charge. He also is to make restitution for extensive window damage at the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hastings, Thompson. State Police were called at 3 a. m., Sunday when he was allegedly breaking windows after being refused admittance to the home because of intoxication, officers reported. Hastings has not been living there, officers said.

Methodist Tea, Bazaar Slated

The annual Christmas tea and bazaar of the First Methodist Church will be held at 1 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 14 in the church parlors. Featured will be fancy work, aprons, rugs, mittens, knit and crochetted articles, house plants, Christmas napkins and baked goods, including breads, cakes and pies. The Methodist Youth Fellowship group is featuring homemade Christmas decorations and candies. The public is invited.

Isabella

Farm Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morrison will entertain the Isabella Farm Bureau members at a Christmas party Dec. 14. The affair will open with a dinner at 7 p. m., to be followed by a business session.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McClinchy returned from a business trip to Green Bay.

Harlem Stars Play Monday

The Harlem Stars will present a comic basketball exhibition at 8 p. m., Dec. 16 in the new gym under sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus. The program is a benefit for the Baraga restoration project at Indian Lake.

Advertised as the funniest basketball team in the country today, the Stars are a combination of Negro players who tour the world. Their performances began in Alaska in September and will include appearances in 36 to 40 states and Mexico, Canada, Australia, Japan and some parts of Europe.

Intricate pass patterns, trick shooting, marathon dribbling and impromptu comedy will be included.

The performers will include Willie 'Quiet Boy' Anderson, 6' 3", described as the best all-around player in the Stars' training camp. His jump shots are good, but he has "a weak defense and a few bad habits." Willing to learn and improve, the Stars management says he "has to improve — and will get plenty of time."

Ronald Flowers, 6' 3" comes from Detroit and is in his second season, though he is just 20. He has good spring and good shots, but no pattern for his teammates to follow. The organization says it calls him "slick" because it "never knows what he is going to do." Thomas Bennett, 6' is from Kentucky State University and is in his first season. He has much natural ability, "until the management begins using him."

Home Economics Students At MSU 'Intern' At Stores

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Linda Dissinger, daughter of Br. and Mrs. Donald Dissinger of Manistique, is among Michigan State coeds who have left the campus to take jobs in Midwestern department stores, with their teacher's blessing.

Thirty MSU women left in November for 7-week training sessions in seven department stores. The work prepares them for careers in retailling. Their teacher is Demetra Mehas, assistant professor of textiles, clothing and related arts at MSU. The sojourn is an annual one for students studying retailing of textile clothing in MSU's college of home economics.

To prepare, in the fall, students take five weeks intensive training in fashion, clothing, textile merchandising, supervision training and experience. The "junior executives" will remain in the stores until Dec. 24 and their performances will be graded by store supervisors, Miss Mehas also visits the stores and interviews the students and supervisors.

In the program, begun 28 years ago, the students afterwards write research papers on their "internship." This year papers will be prepared in department store promotion, the role of women in retailing and the junior consumer.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Garvin and Mrs. Bruce Neddow and daughter, Lorie, have returned from a 12-day vacation visit in Jacksonville, Fla., with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Garvin Jr., and in Milwaukee with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Girardi and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Dalgard.

WANT TO SEE 100?

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Advising his company's employes, Dr. Rex Wilson, director for B. F. Goodrich Co., said the way to live to be 100 "probably lies in hard work, an intense desire to live and a sheltered existence, avoiding life's hard knocks."

A balanced diet, proper rest and a generous helping of enthusiasm round out the stuff of which longevity is made, the doctor said.

Redstrom Gets City Contract

A five-year contract for city garbage collection in Gladstone at a cost of $9,600 annually was approved by the Gladstone City Commision meeting last night. The bid, lowest of five received, was by Reynold Redstrom, who presently holds the contract.

The Commission authorized Martin Rose, one of two local sewage plant operators, to attend a meeting to be held at Manistique on Dec. 12-13.

A refund to Wesley Harris was authorized, the refund that of monies Harris had in the employes retirement fund. Harris is to retire from city employment at the power plant on Jan. 10.

Proposed water, sewer and blacktop improvements to Railway Ave., were discussed by the Commission, with action deferred until next spring.

In other actions the Commission authorized payment of a bill in the amount of $602.35 for parts and repairs to the city tractor; adopted a resolution that hospitalization as previously carried for city employes be continued. The coverage is now Blue Cross.

A Christmas bonus of $15 per employe was approved by the Commission. The bonus is the same as last year.

A resolution of condolence was addressed to the widow of Paul Louis, Gladstone city clerk, who was accidentally drowned in a lake near his cottage last hunting season.

Marilyn Berg To Wed Dec. 28

Mr. and Mrs. Einar Berg, 1202 Wisconsin Ave., announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Marilyn, to Leonard Solis, of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Solis, Flat Rock. A Dec. 28 wedding is being planned.

Drivers Ticketed After Mishaps

Two drivers were ticketed by Gladstone State Police Monday following one-car accidents. No one was injured.

The first mishap occurred at 4:25 a. m., Monday in Ford River Township. Edward Gouin Jr., 18, of 1921 9th Ave. N., was going north on M 35 and his right wheels dropped onto the shoulder, as he attempted to get back on the pavement he lost control, went across the road and rolled over in the ditch. Gouin was ticketed for violation of basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

The other accident happened at 6:40 p. m., in Escanaba Township. Roger Richards, 19, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, was going east on County Road 416 and lost control on ice, went off the left side of the pavement and struck a tree and road sign. He was also ticketed for violation of basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

Deer Season 'One Of Best'

Overall success in the 1963 deer hunting season was "very good" the Newberry district office of the Conservation Department reports.

Hunter concentrations west of M 77 and in the northern part of the district did not develop as in the previous year. The volume and tone of complaints appeared less on antlerless deer seasons, the department said.

Drummond Island experienced the most successful season since 1959. The special seasons have applied to Drummond during seven of the past eight seasons and the antlerless harvest has been as liberal as any area known of comparable size.

A slight increased in antler size was noted in the Drummond deer kill. Personnel at checking stations had numerous reports on large amounts of fat foun don deer. The special season on antlerless deer this year included all of district four.

The largest concentration of deer hunters was in Seney Refuge, with even distribution reported for other areas. Hunting activity held up throughout the season in the east end of the district. The bear kill was down, with 172 reported as against 370 last year, despite mild weather considered conducive to higher kill.

The number of deer taken across the Mackinac Straits was 11,894, 2,200 more than the preceding year. Forty-three per cent were antlerless, compared to 27 per cent last year.

Elks Seeking Playing Cards

Manistique Lodge, BPO Elks, is again collecting good, used decks of playing cards for hospitalized veterans and others.

This is the second drive of the Elks. Two years ago the drive brought in 500,000 decks, with most going to veterans hospitals, where card playing is a popular pastime and decks are always in short supply. Some were brailled for the blind and others went to rehabilitation centers to help cerebral palsied children regain manual dexterity.

Judge James T. Halliman of New York, chairman of the Elks National Service commission, has informed Ted Hentschell, exalted ruler of Lodge 632 here, that need for more cards is again acute.

Complete, unbroken decks should be given and these should be wrapped or otherwise protected. They may be left at the Elks Lodge here.

Skilled Job Field Has Openings

Areas which desire training programs so more young people may stay at home and be gainfully employed can accomplish this through area vocational schools, Harold S. Fisher, business consultant for the public services division of Northern Michigan University said here Monday in a talk to the Rotary Club.

The area vocational schools can be provided through cooperation of school boards in four or five districts, with cooperation of businessmen and using existing facilities in high school industrial arts, commercial and other departments.

In this manner, areas may help achieve a higher income level for young people, too. A Presidential report has cited that most money has been spent in agricultural and home economics vocational training, while the area of expansion and need is for professional and technical services — those which serve people.

Cooks, Bakers

The present vocational arts programs were provided under laws adopted in the period of Woodrow Wilson. Research money to discover need and trends was not available until the past 9-10 years, Fisher noted. Much of the unemployment problem now is concerned with young people educated in this same period, he added.

With concern of Sputnik's implications, much attention has been focused on the college bound student, but attention must also be directed to those who do not graduate. Of a group of 10, two will probably graduate from college and three will drop out before finishing high school, he pointed out.

Many skilled jobs pay more than doctors and lawyers earn, he added.

Some ocean liners are faced with the possibility of having to leave the seas, in favor of ships from other countries, due to lack of good cooks and those skilled in these arts, Fisher stated.

Similarly, there are job opportunities for those with appropriate skills in butchering, baking, and other areas.

By 1970, it is predicted 87 million will be working full-time. Of these 26 million will be young people on the labor market. Much can be done if proper preparations are made.

Expanding Areas

In the past, young people entering the labor market often learned minor skills and took blue collar jobs. But many of these have been lost due to automation and farm decline.

Not all guidance workers in the past have had sufficient background and experience to properly guide youngsters and some educators were not providing the proper training for a successful life, because the shift from agriculture and home economics to greater expansion in professional and technical services was not recognized or known. Expansions in clerical and sales management, proprietorship and service workers, are also predicted. It has been found that 50 per cent of those trained in certain fields stayed to work in those fields, Fisher added.

Northern Michigan University is helping provide more skilled help through various programs. They include the area re-training program, located in two buildings at Marquette, which with a staff of 29 has turned out over 500 trainees. They were welders, machinists, typists, auto mechanics and body repairmen.

Northern Lower Michigan is included in the area served by the college and some of the traineers have come from as far as Manistee and Alpena. The Michigan Employment Security commission is aiding in providing students for the program.

A management development training program, a labor education program, and a practical nurse training center are also included in the university's work. A teacher training program is being developed.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital are: Bradley Baker, 119 Walnut, Dec. 7; Carolyn Bosanic, Rte. 1, Orvill LaBute, Garden; Anna Gardapee, Rte. 1; and Frederick Rochefort Jr., Garden. Discharged: Claudine Brain, Rosemary Gauthier and baby, Joan Archambeau, Mary Strassler, Elva Carlson, Kay McKilligan, Ernest Edwards, Myrna Guertin and Emma Boyd, Dec. 8.

School Board Gets Report On Curriculum

The Manistique Board of Education at its meeting at 7:30 p. m., today will consider policies on employment of teachers in the district and policy on hiring of substitutes.

Adult education will also be discussed.

Reports to the board will include one on planning for a community bus for young people going to school, recreation and other events and a report of suggestions by teachers for improvements in curriculum.

Purchase of employe bonds, maintenance work to be accomplished in the Christmas vacation and a report of Rev. Ingmar Levin on attendance at the community school meeting in Flint are also on the agenda.

MHS Debaters Win 3 Ratings In Competition

Manistique debate teams won one of three rounds at Mount Pleasant Saturday in the Top Teams Tournament and claimed three excellent ratings, in close competition.

The meeting was sponsored by Central Michigan University to encourage excellence in debating and give top teams opportunity for competition. It included critiques of debates by students, as well as awards for individual merit.

Winning the excellent ratings from Manistique were Eleanor Jorgenson, Christine Mathson and Kathy Gregor. At the meeting, 13 excellent ratings and five superiors were awarded. The superior ratings were won by Battle Creek and Lansing Sexton High School students.

The Manistique affirmative team of Kathy McGregor and Fred Lesica won over Saginaw and lost to Lansing Sexton and Battle Creek. Manistique negative, Eleanor Jorgenson and Christine Mathson won over Saginaw and lost to Alpena and Battle Creek.

About 50 students competed. Lower Michigan students already have had tournament competition such as this; this marked the first time Upper Peninsula schools were invited to participate.

MHS debaters Saturday participate in their first U. P. tournament, at Negaunee. Another preliminary will be held in Escanaba before finals.

Two Bound To Circuit Court In Vandal Case

Two persons were bound to Circuit Court Monday after waiving examination in Justice Court.

Patrick R. Kane, 23, of 528 N. Houghton, who turned himself in to sheriff's officers Saturday night, was bound to Circuit Court under $1,500 bond for malicious destruction of gravestones. The charge stems from police investigation of extensive damaging of tombstones in Lakeview Cemetery Oct. 19. Others charged appeared in court earlier.

Kane also was charged with furnishing intoxicating beverage to minors and was assessed fine of $10 and costs of $4.30, and given a 60-day jail term. Alternative is 90 days in pail. The charge is the third for the same offense in the past several months, the court reported.

Mrs. Ann M. Colegrove, 22, of Manistique waived examination on a charge of malicious destruction of property, causing damage in excess of $100 and has been bound to Circuit Court under $500 bond. She was arrested on complaint of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Ostrander, Alger Avt., who reported Mrs. Colegrove broke windows and damaged siding on the Ostrander housetrailer with a garbage can cover, Dec. 8, about 3 a. m.

Briefly Told

Women's Catholic Order of Foresters meets at 6:30 p. m., today in the parish hall for a potluck supper, meeting and Christmas party. Coffee, meat and rolls will be furnished.

Past Presidents' Parley of American Legion Auxiliary meets Wednesday at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Minola Weber for a Christmas party and $1.00 gift exchange.

Handy Hands Extension Club meets today for a 6:30 p. m., turkey dinner at the Eat Shop followed by a Christmas party and $1.00 gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Luella Gardner.

William Green has been dismissed from University Hospital in Ann Arbor and is visiting with his brother in Marion, Ohio, before returning here after the holidays.

The planning commission considering purchase of a community bus meets at 7:30 p. m., Thursday in the high school. All organization representatives and interested persons are invited.

State Police ticketed Billy R. Head of Trenton for reckless driving, and John H. Gatiss Jr., of Munising for speeding. Public Safety Officers ticketed Joseph Jenks, 19, Intake Park, for loitering.

Frank E. Hastings, 20, of Fayette, was assessed fine of $15 and costs of $4.30 and was given a 3-day jail sentence in Justice Court Monday on a drunk an disorderly charge. He also is to make restitution for extensive window damage at the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hastings, Thompson. State Police were called at 3 a. m., Sunday when he was allegedly breaking windows after being refused admittance to the home because of intoxication, officers reported. Hastings has not been living there, officers said.

Methodist Tea, Bazaar Slated

The annual Christmas tea and bazaar of the First Methodist Church will be held at 1 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 14 in the church parlors. Featured will be fancy work, aprons, rugs, mittens, knit and crochetted articles, house plants, Christmas napkins and baked goods, including breads, cakes and pies. The Methodist Youth Fellowship group is featuring homemade Christmas decorations and candies. The public is invited.

Isabella

Farm Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morrison will entertain the Isabella Farm Bureau members at a Christmas party Dec. 14. The affair will open with a dinner at 7 p. m., to be followed by a business session.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McClinchy returned from a business trip to Green Bay.

Hilmer Larson of Anderson, Ind., spent the weekend at his home here.

Harlem Stars Play Monday

The Harlem Stars will present a comic basketball exhibition at 8 p. m., Dec. 16 in the new gym under sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus. The program is a benefit for the Baraga restoration project at Indian Lake.

Advertised as the funniest basketball team in the country today, the Stars are a combination of Negro players who tour the world. Their performances began in Alaska in September and will include appearances in 36 to 40 states and Mexico, Canada, Australia, Japan and some parts of Europe.

Intricate pass patterns, trick shooting, marathon dribbling and impromptu comedy will be included.

The performers will include Willie 'Quiet Boy' Anderson, 6' 3", described as the best all-around player in the Stars' training camp. His jump shots are good, but he has "a weak defense and a few bad habits." Willing to learn and improve, the Stars management says he "has to improve — and will get plenty of time."

Ronald Flowers, 6' 3" comes from Detroit and is in his second season, though he is just 20. He has good spring and good shots, but no pattern for his teammates to follow. The organization says it calls him "slick" because it "never knows what he is going to do." Thomas Bennett, 6' is from Kentucky State University and is in his first season. He has much natural ability, "until the management begins using him."

Home Economics Students At MSU 'Intern' At Stores

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Linda Dissinger, daughter of Br. and Mrs. Donald Dissinger of Manistique, is among Michigan State coeds who have left the campus to take jobs in Midwestern department stores, with their teacher's blessing.

Thirty MSU women left in November for 7-week training sessions in seven department stores. The work prepares them for careers in retailling. Their teacher is Demetra Mehas, assistant professor of textiles, clothing and related arts at MSU. The sojourn is an annual one for students studying retailing of textile clothing in MSU's college of home economics.

To prepare, in the fall, students take five weeks intensive training in fashion, clothing, textile merchandising, supervision training and experience. The "junior executives" will remain in the stores until Dec. 24 and their performances will be graded by store supervisors, Miss Mehas also visits the stores and interviews the students and supervisors.

In the program, begun 28 years ago, the students afterwards write research papers on their "internship." This year papers will be prepared in department store promotion, the role of women in retailing and the junior consumer.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Garvin and Mrs. Bruce Neddow and daughter, Lorie, have returned from a 12-day vacation visit in Jacksonville, Fla., with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Garvin Jr., and in Milwaukee with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Girardi and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Dalgard.

WANT TO SEE 100?

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Advising his company's employes, Dr. Rex Wilson, director for B. F. Goodrich Co., said the way to live to be 100 "probably lies in hard work, an intense desire to live and a sheltered existence, avoiding life's hard knocks."

A balanced diet, proper rest and a generous helping of enthusiasm round out the stuff of which longevity is made, the doctor said.

Redstrom Gets City Contract

A five-year contract for city garbage collection in Gladstone at a cost of $9,600 annually was approved by the Gladstone City Commision meeting last night. The bid, lowest of five received, was by Reynold Redstrom, who presently holds the contract.

The Commission authorized Martin Rose, one of two local sewage plant operators, to attend a meeting to be held at Manistique on Dec. 12-13.

A refund to Wesley Harris was authorized, the refund that of monies Harris had in the employes retirement fund. Harris is to retire from city employment at the power plant on Jan. 10.

Proposed water, sewer and blacktop improvements to Railway Ave., were discussed by the Commission, with action deferred until next spring.

In other actions the Commission authorized payment of a bill in the amount of $602.35 for parts and repairs to the city tractor; adopted a resolution that hospitalization as previously carried for city employes be continued. The coverage is now Blue Cross.

A Christmas bonus of $15 per employe was approved by the Commission. The bonus is the same as last year.

A resolution of condolence was addressed to the widow of Paul Louis, Gladstone city clerk, who was accidentally drowned in a lake near his cottage last hunting season.

Drivers Ticketed After Mishaps

Two drivers were ticketed by Gladstone State Police Monday following one-car accidents. No one was injured.

The first mishap occurred at 4:25 a. m., Monday in Ford River Township. Edward Gouin Jr., 18, of 1921 9th Ave. N., was going north on M 35 and his right wheels dropped onto the shoulder, as he attempted to get back on the pavement he lost control, went across the road and rolled over in the ditch. Gouin was ticketed for violation of basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

The other accident happened at 6:40 p. m., in Escanaba Township. Roger Richards, 19, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, was going east on County Road 416 and lost control on ice, went off the left side of the pavement and struck a tree and road sign. He was also ticketed for violation of basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

with Ray Crandall

Con Yagodzinski, former Holy Name star, scored four points for Marquette University as the Warriors were nipped 84-83 by the highly regarded Western Michigan Broncos Saturday night . . . The 6 foot, 5 inch sophomore has tallied seven points in Marquette's first two games this season.

★ ★ ★

Hermansville will host Powers-Spalding in a key Big Eight Conference game tonight . . . Both teams are undefeated to date . . . Hermansville has won four straight and Powers has chalked up five in a row . . . Powers hosts undefeated Carney in another feature game Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Carney speared its fifth straight victory over the weekend by downing Pembine 94-61 . . . Four players hit in double digits for Coach Bob Kuntze, headed by Bob Macco with 26 points.

★ ★ ★

The Kingsford Flivvers continued their season victory string with a 73-62 triumph over Crystal Falls in Menominee Range Conference action . . . Coach Gordy Farragh's Flivvers pumped in 13 of 15 free throw attempts in the final period to hand Crystal Falls its first conference setback . . . Dick Berlinski who led Kingsford to an undefeated football season this fall, scored 17 points for the Flivvers.

★ ★ ★

Coach Bill Howe's Rudyard Bulldogs, defending U. P. Class B champs, scored their second straight victory of the season by bombing downstate Cheboygan 74-49 . . . Veteran Ron Hintz paced Rudyard with 28 points.

★ ★ ★

Dave Swearingen set an all-time school scoring record with 53 points in leading Mercer to an 80-70 victory over Watersmeet . . . The 6-3 senior center dunked 22 field goals and nine free throws.

★ ★ ★

Former Eskymo athlete John Olson scored nine points as Michigan Tech defeated Superior 96-85 . . . Olson hit on four field goals and a free throw . . . Former Champion star Bill Koski contributed eight points.

★ ★ ★

Leonard St. Jean of Northern has announced he will sign a contract with the Boston Patriots of the American Football League . . . The former Newberry star was drafted by the Packers of the NFL, as well as the Pats . . . He said he signed with Boston because Tom Neumann, former Northern ace, has made the grade with that team.

Kentucky Keeps Streak Going; Wins Fourth

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Question: When does a college basketball team have to rebound from a head-hanging season in which it compiles only a 16-9 record?

Answer: When it comes from the bluegrass country of Kentucky and is coached by Adolph Rupp.

Rupp last season suffered through his worst year since taking over Kentucky in 1931.

Indications are, however, that Rupp will notch the 700th victory of his career somewhere through the Southeastern Conference schedule this season and may have something going reminescent of his teams that captured four national championships.

The Wildcats were ranked No. 9 in the pre-season Associated Press poll more on Rupp's reputation than any other single factor, but they're beginning to make the selection look good.

They ripped off victory No. 4 in an unbeaten season with a 100-80 waltz over North Carolina Monday and moved Rupp's lifetime record to 688-14.

Another old master, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, is making his weight felt in the Big Eight. His Cowboys, unranked but highly considered, remained unbeaten with a 74-65 decision over Arkansas.

Iowa also remained unbeaten, but had to survive a foul-filled fray and a fist-fight to score a two-point victory over St. Louis. Dave Roach tossed in 32 points in the 79-77 decision that was marked by 69 personal fouls. Seven players went out on personals.

In some of the other major games, Rice bombed Tulane 90-62, Utah humbled Pacific 90-72, defending SEC champ Mississippi State came from behind for a 67-52 decision over Delta State, Texas remained unbeaten with a 70-65 victory over LSU, Texas Christian outlasted Houston 65-59 in overtime, Wake Forest had a tough time edging Purdue 77-72; Tennessee just got by Tennessee State 48-47 and 7-foot Roger Suttner scored 29 points in Kansas State's 93-84 victory over Indiana.

In some others, Oklahoma outscored Illinois 105-104, Texas Tech beat Nebraska 76-60, Alabama got by Florida State 62-53 and Baylor took Southwest Texas 71-62.

Key games tonight include Detroit at top-ranked Chicago Loyola, second-ranked New York University at Northwestern and Duquesne at fifth-ranked Wichita.

Pitt Fans Mad; Team Ignored By Bowl Bosses

PITTSBURGH (AP) — This football-mad city is harboring mixed emotions this week over the fate of its two favorite football teams.

There's a feeling of joy over the Pittsburgh Steelers meeting the New York Giants Sunday for the National Football League's Eastern Division title.

Yet the city is indignant and puzzled over the rebuff given to the University of Pittsburgh's potent Panthers by the post-season bowl committees.

Pitt, the fourth-ranked team in the nation, finished its season last Saturday with only a 24-12 loss to second-ranked Navy marring a 10-game schedule.

But it was completely ignored by all the major bowls.

"It was a little disappointing," said Pitt Coach John Michelosen, who was practically on the verge of losing his job before the season. "The kids felt they had played the best in the country and they did a tremendous job. They should have been rewarded with something and in these days it's bowls."

Just why Pitt was not invited is almost behond comprehension.

Here is a team that not only had a gaudy record and high press rating, but was about as glamorous and colorful as a college club can get.

It featured a daring, imaginative pro-styled offense with plenty of passing, end runs and reverses — often gambling deep in its own territory by passing when ahead.

It had the flashy backs like Fred Mazurek and Paul Martha and big ferocious linemen who literally bowled over opponents.

And most of all, it had a bold chancellor, Edward Litchfield, who had publicly ordered Coach Michelosen before the season to throw out the old Pitt grind-'em-out offense and play more exciting football — or else.

South Quints Beat Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa joined three other undefeated Big Ten basketball teams Monday night but Western Conference representatives again failed to solve Southern foes.

While Iowa was scoring a 79-77 triumph over St. Louis, Purdue dropped a 77-72 decision to Wake Forest.

This marked the fourth time this season that a Southern team had bested a Big Ten team in as many games.

Aside from the Iowa triumph, it was a sorrowful night for the Big Ten as Illinois and Indiana went down to defeat in addition to Purdue.

Illinois lost at Oklahoma, 105-104, and Indiana dropped a 93-84 decision to Kansas State on the Hoosiers' home floor. Purdue's initial loss was at Wake Forest.

Only two Big Ten teams will be in action Tuesday night as Midwest interest turns toward a doubleheader at the Chicago Stadium. Northwestern will battle New York University, the nation's No. 2 team, while Loyola, the nation's No. 1 team, takes on Detroit.

Wisconsin, meanwhile, is at home against Pittsburgh.

Iowa, with its third victory against no defeats, joined Michigan, Minnesota and Michigan State with a 3-0 record in preconference competition. Dave Roach pumped in 32 points to lead the Hawkeyes to victory while Andy Hankins added 13.

Purdue blew a 39-36 halftime advantage in losing to Wake Forest. The Deacons had a balanced attack in which four players scored in double figures topped by Bob Leonard's 16 points.

College Coed Is Sharp Shot

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Kathy Brown, a junior at Central Michigan University who never handled a rifle before last September, fired a near perfect score Monday during her midterm examination in a physical education activies course.

Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Brown, of (216 Cheney) Imlay City, scored 99 points with a .22 caliber target rifle. Perfect is 100.

Booster Club Meeting Set

The Holy Name Booster Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Pine Forest Lodge for a venison stew and social session.

Booster Club members have been invited to bring guests and any persons interested in athletics will be welcome. Walter Snyder is in charge of transportation.

Highlights of the 1963 football season will be shown on film.

Northern Drops Third Decision

By The Associated Press

Central Michigan won its third straight basketball game at Mount Pleasant Monday night, dispensing Alma, 80-61. But three other state teams lost out-of-state engagements.

Unbeaten Central set two team records in extending its winning streak to six games, including three at the tailend of last season. Central took 112 shots from the field and gathered in 111 rebounds in the rout.

Bob Bruder led the attack with 15 points. Teammates Don Edwards and Dave Nelson got 14 and 13 respectively. Alma, now 1-2 for the season, was led by Ray Moore's 18 points.

Meanwhile, DePaul's unbeaten Blue Demons raced to their fourth victory, crushing Lawrence Tech, 105-50 at Chicago. Jesse Nash led the winners with 17 points. Gerald Wnuk led LIT with 15.

Northern Michigan lost its third game against two victories at Superior, Wis. Superior State, sinking 45 of 59 free throws, won 95-86.

The winners got 28 points from Mike Rookey. Northern's Jim Cabe netted 23 points, and teammate Bob Pecotta, 21.

Norm Krueckeberg's field goal in the final 28 seconds gave Defiance, Ohio, an 88-85 victory at Adrian. The lead changed hands 10 times, and the score was tied on 17 occasions.

Defiance extended its unbeaten string to four games with five players scoring in double figures. Mike Van Camp was high with 16.

Adrian was paced by Ron Steevens' 26 points and Don Numbers' 23. The Bulldogs have won two and lost two.

Texas Is Named National Champ

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten and untied Texas won the national collegiate football championship today in the final Associated Press poll of the 1963 season, earning the title for the first time since the Longhorns began playing the sport in 1893.

Becoming the first Southwest Conference team to win the national championship since Texas A&M in 1939, Texas swept through 10 opponents, wound up with the only unblemished record among major college teams and is scheduled to meet Navy in the Cotton Bow, New Year's Day.

The Middies, losers only to SMU, finished second in the voting in a bid for their first national championship. Navy completed the regular season last Saturday with a 21-15 victory over Army. Texas had finished its season a week before.

In the voting by a special AP panel of 49 sports writers and broadcasters, Texas drew 34 first-place votes and 460 points to 10 first and 418 points for Navy. Pittsburgh drew the other five first-place votes.

Rose Bowl bound Illinois, however, squeezed into the No. 3 spot with 361 points to 340 for the Panthers. Auburn was No. 5 followed in order by Nebraska, Mississippi, Alabama, Michigan State and Oklahoma.

Last year's champion, Southern California, was not among the Top Ten.

The top ten football teams with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

| | W. | L. | T | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Texas (34) | 10 | 0 | 0 | 460 |
| 2. Navy (10) | 9 | 1 | 0 | 418 |
| 3. Illinois | 7 | 1 | 1 | 361 |

Ailing Baylor Hits 29 Points

By The Associated Press

Elgin Baylor's got two aching knees and a sprained ankle but there's nothing wrong with his shooting eye.

The Los Angeles Lakers' ace proved that Monday when he collected 29 points in LA's 134-120 thrashing of Baltimore in the National Basketball Association's only game of the night.

The game, played in Seattle, provided a showcase for Baylor who was performing in the city where he earned All-America honors as a collegian. The 6-5 star made the most of it.

Snead Says He's Near End Of Tourney Career

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Enduring Sam Snead, who came out of the hills of western Virginia 30 years ago to give professional golf some of its great and colorful moments, is nearing the end of his tournament career.

Sam Snead says so.

He says at 51 he isn't in as good physical shape as he used to be.

He says his short game is beginning to deteriorate.

He says he doesn't enjoy tournament golf any more.

But don't count him out. Snead will play in his first PGA Seniors early next year. And look for him when it's tee-off time in the National Open, the one major championship that has escaped him.

Sitting in the pro shop at Harder Hall the other day, Snead took a look at himself, his game and his profession.

"I've passed through a lot of these guys and they keep dropping off and dropping off," he said with a satisfied grin. He ran down the generations of champions with whom he has matched strokes since turning pro in 1934: Picard and Sarazen, Hogan and Nelson, Worsham and Middlecoff, Palmer and Nicklaus.

"When I was on," he said, "I thought I could beat any of them. And when I wasn't on, I couldn't beat anybody."

"You know," he said, "I've only played in eight or 10 tournaments a year since 1960.

"I don't hit them quite as long anymore. I've putted badly for two years. Your short game is the first thing that deteriorates. That's the hardest thing to learn and it goes first.

"I'm not in the physical condition I used to be," he said. "I used to weigh 180 to 182. Now I'm at 195. That extra weight slows you up a little bit."

Golf is fine, he said, "But I don't like tournaments any more. I like to play at the club where you play these guys for a buck or two a hole."

Snead blames his erractic putting on nerves, and the nerves on the game he plays.

"Golf has more of a nervous range thany any other sport," he said. "There's more waiting. In other sports, like football, it's all action. But in golf, the mistakes just wait for you to make them."

The waiting hurts, he said, contributes to what he labels the golfer's biggest enemy, indecision.

"You look at a shot and you say it's a 6-iron, and you're probably right," Snead said. "But then you say, 'Maybe it's a 7,' and then the caddy comes over and says, 'No, it's an 8,' and then you're really in trouble."

As outspoken as ever—perhaps a little more so—Snead doesn't mind expressing pionions. Such as this one:

"The American public is fickle. One day you're a champion and the next day you're a bum. They're always looking for someone to knock off the champ.

"In England and Europe, once you're a champion, you're always looked on as a champion. But here we have a new one every year.

"Why people now don't even know who Byron Nelson was."

But perhaps his verbal jabs are part and parcel of the competitive spirit that burns deep within him.

"There is no such thing as easing up," Snead said. "If you get an 11-stroke lead on them, you keep right on boring in.

"That's the way the game is supposed to be played."

And after 30 years, that's how Sam Snead still plays it.

Northern, Tech Land Two Each On Honor Team

By BERNIE KENNEDY

DETROIT (AP)—A fleet halfback from Albion gathered the most individual votes, and Kalamazoo and Central Michigan placed the most players on the first two squads, in the 1963 All-State Small College Football Team announced today by The Associated Press.

J. B. Elzy, who was voted the MIAA's most valuable player after setting season and career rushing records at Albion, paced the vote in the AP's balloting of the state's coaches, athletic officials and sports writers.

Kalamazoo and Central Michigan each placed two players on the first team and two more on the second team.

Elzy, who gained 773 yards this season and 2,265 in his career at Albion, was joined in the first team backfield by Larry Moore of Central Michigan, Ed Lauerman of Kalamazoo and Ralph Abata of Michigan Tech.

CMU also placed tackle Uwe Wiese on the first honor team, while Kalamazoo added end John Persons.

Michigan Tech and Northern Michigan each had two players on the first team. Don Krajcarek, a center, was Tech's other representative, while end Bill Rademacher and tackle Jack Mauro were the Northern players named.

Ferris State guard Dave Taylor and Hillsdale guard Howard Mudd rounded out the first team.

Krajcarek is the only junior on the first team. The rest are seniors.

Persons, Mauro and Mudd are the only repeaters.

End Frank Goldberg and back Bill Shuple were CMU's second team representatives, while Kalamazoo had tackle Bob Phillips and guard Bob Peters on the No. 2 squad.

Max Stokes of Hillsdale, Don Bangert of Northern Michigan and Terry Hurley of Eastern Michigan were the other backs on the second team.

End Bill Hultgre of Hope, the only sophomore among the top 22, Albion tackle Ken Neal and guard Jim Dumont and center Fred Shumaker of Adrian completed the second team.

The top 22 players along with Michigan Tech coach Bill Lucier, named Monday as Michigan's Small college coach of the year, comprise the dream team of 1963.

Proof that while most of these players play before smaller crowds their performances are watched closely is shown by the fact that the National Football League drafted two of the players on this year's team. The players who gained honorable mention were also selected in the NFL draft.

Mudd was selected by San Francisco, while Green Bay tapped Mauro.

The Detroit Lions selected Hillsdale end Doug Bickle as a future choice, and Green Bay picked Northern Michigan end Leonard St. Jean.

Not considered in the voting were the state's major football schools — Michigan, Michigan State, Detroit and Western Michigan.

Kentucky Keeps Streak Going; Wins Fourth

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Question: When does a college basketball team have to rebound from a head-hanging season in which it compiles only a 16-9 record?

Answer: When it comes from the bluegrass country of Kentucky and is coached by Adolph Rupp.

Rupp last season suffered through his worst year since taking over Kentucky in 1931.

Indications are, however, that Rupp will notch the 700th victory of his career somewhere through the Southeastern Conference schedule this season and may have something going reminescent of his teams that captured four national championships.

The Wildcats were ranked No. 9 in the pre-season Associated Press poll more on Rupp's reputation than any other single factor, but they're beginning to make the selection look good.

They ripped off victory No. 4 in an unbeaten season with a 100-80 waltz over North Carolina Monday and moved Rupp's lifetime record to 688-14.

Another old master, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, is making his weight felt in the Big Eight. His Cowboys, unranked but highly considered, remained unbeaten with a 74-65 decision over Arkansas.

Iowa also remained unbeaten, but had to survive a foul-filled fray and a fist-fight to score a two-point victory over St. Louis. Dave Roach tossed in 32 points in the 79-77 decision that was marked by 69 personal fouls. Seven players went out on personals.

In some of the other major games, Rice bombed Tulane 90-62, Utah humbled Pacific 90-72, defending SEC champ Mississippi State came from behind for a 67-52 decision over Delta State, Texas remained unbeaten with a 70-65 victory over LSU, Texas Christian outlasted Houston 65-59 in overtime, Wake Forest had a tough time edging Purdue 77-72; Tennessee just got by Tennessee State 48-47 and 7-foot Roger Suttner scored 29 points in Kansas State's 93-84 victory over Indiana.

In some others, Oklahoma outscored Illinois 105-104, Texas Tech beat Nebraska 76-60, Alabama got by Florida State 62-53 and Baylor took Southwest Texas 71-62.

Key games tonight include Detroit at top-ranked Chicago Loyola, second-ranked New York University at Northwestern and Duquesne at fifth-ranked Wichita.

Pitt Fans Mad; Team Ignored By Bowl Bosses

PITTSBURGH (AP) — This football-mad city is harboring mixed emotions this week over the fate of its two favorite football teams.

There's a feeling of joy over the Pittsburgh Steelers meeting the New York Giants Sunday for the National Football League's Eastern Division title.

Yet the city is indignant and puzzled over the rebuff given to the University of Pittsburgh's potent Panthers by the post-season bowl committees.

Pitt, the fourth-ranked team in the nation, finished its season last Saturday with only a 24-12 loss to second-ranked Navy marring a 10-game schedule.

But it was completely ignored by all the major bowls.

"It was a little disappointing," said Pitt Coach John Michelosen, who was practically on the verge of losing his job before the season. "The kids felt they had played the best in the country and they did a tremendous job. They should have been rewarded with something and in these days it's bowls."

Just why Pitt was not invited is almost behond comprehension.

Here is a team that not only had a gaudy record and high press rating, but was about as glamorous and colorful as a college club can get.

It featured a daring, imaginative pro-styled offense with plenty of passing, end runs and reverses — often gambling deep in its own territory by passing when ahead.

It had the flashy backs like Fred Mazurek and Paul Martha and big ferocious linemen who literally bowled over opponents.

And most of all, it had a bold chancellor, Edward Litchfield, who had publicly ordered Coach Michelosen before the season to throw out the old Pitt grind-'em-out offense and play more exciting football — or else.

South Quints Beat Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa joined three other undefeated Big Ten basketball teams Monday night but Western Conference representatives again failed to solve Southern foes.

While Iowa was scoring a 79-77 triumph over St. Louis, Purdue dropped a 77-72 decision to Wake Forest.

This marked the fourth time this season that a Southern team had bested a Big Ten team in as many games.

Aside from the Iowa triumph, it was a sorrowful night for the Big Ten as Illinois and Indiana went down to defeat in addition to Purdue.

Illinois lost at Oklahoma, 105-104, and Indiana dropped a 93-84 decision to Kansas State on the Hoosiers' home floor. Purdue's initial loss was at Wake Forest.

Only two Big Ten teams will be in action Tuesday night as Midwest interest turns toward a doubleheader at the Chicago Stadium. Northwestern will battle New York University, the nation's No. 2 team, while Loyola, the nation's No. 1 team, takes on Detroit.

Wisconsin, meanwhile, is at home against Pittsburgh.

Iowa, with its third victory against no defeats, joined Michigan, Minnesota and Michigan State with a 3-0 record in preconference competition. Dave Roach pumped in 32 points to lead the Hawkeyes to victory while Andy Hankins added 13.

Purdue blew a 39-36 halftime advantage in losing to Wake Forest. The Deacons had a balanced attack in which four players scored in double figures topped by Bob Leonard's 16 points.

College Coed Is Sharp Shot

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Kathy Brown, a junior at Central Michigan University who never handled a rifle before last September, fired a near perfect score Monday during her midterm examination in a physical education activies course.

Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Brown, of (216 Cheney) Imlay City, scored 99 points with a .22 caliber target rifle. Perfect is 100.

Booster Club Meeting Set

The Holy Name Booster Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Pine Forest Lodge for a venison stew and social session.

Booster Club members have been invited to bring guests and any persons interested in athletics will be welcome. Walter Snyder is in charge of transportation.

Highlights of the 1963 football season will be shown on film.

By The Associated Press

Central Michigan won its third straight basketball game at Mount Pleasant Monday night, dispensing Alma, 80-61. But three other state teams lost out-of-state engagements.

Unbeaten Central set two team records in extending its winning streak to six games, including three at the tailend of last season. Central took 112 shots from the field and gathered in 111 rebounds in the rout.

Bob Bruder led the attack with 15 points. Teammates Don Edwards and Dave Nelson got 14 and 13 respectively. Alma, now 1-2 for the season, was led by Ray Moore's 18 points.

Meanwhile, DePaul's unbeaten Blue Demons raced to their fourth victory, crushing Lawrence Tech, 105-50 at Chicago. Jesse Nash led the winners with 17 points. Gerald Wnuk led LIT with 15.

Northern Michigan lost its third game against two victories at Superior, Wis. Superior State, sinking 45 of 59 free throws, won 95-86.

The winners got 28 points from Mike Rookey. Northern's Jim Cabe netted 23 points, and teammate Bob Pecotta, 21.

Norm Krueckeberg's field goal in the final 28 seconds gave Defiance, Ohio, an 88-85 victory at Adrian. The lead changed hands 10 times, and the score was tied on 17 occasions.

Defiance extended its unbeaten string to four games with five players scoring in double figures. Mike Van Camp was high with 16.

Adrian was paced by Ron Steevens' 26 points and Don Numbers' 23. The Bulldogs have won two and lost two.

Texas Is Named National Champ

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten and untied Texas won the national collegiate football championship today in the final Associated Press poll of the 1963 season, earning the title for the first time since the Longhorns began playing the sport in 1893.

Becoming the first Southwest Conference team to win the national championship since Texas A&M in 1939, Texas swept through 10 opponents, wound up with the only unblemished record among major college teams and is scheduled to meet Navy in the Cotton Bow, New Year's Day.

The Middies, losers only to SMU, finished second in the voting in a bid for their first national championship. Navy completed the regular season last Saturday with a 21-15 victory over Army. Texas had finished its season a week before.

In the voting by a special AP panel of 49 sports writers and broadcasters, Texas drew 34 first-place votes and 460 points to 10 first and 418 points for Navy. Pittsburgh drew the other five first-place votes.

Rose Bowl bound Illinois, however, squeezed into the No. 3 spot with 361 points to 340 for the Panthers. Auburn was No. 5 followed in order by Nebraska, Mississippi, Alabama, Michigan State and Oklahoma.

Last year's champion, Southern California, was not among the Top Ten.

The top ten football teams with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

| | W. | L. | T | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Texas (34) ... | 10 | 0 | 0 | 460 |
| 2. Navy (10) | 9 | 1 | 0 | 418 |
| 3. Illinois | 7 | 1 | 1 | 361 |
| 4. Pittsburgh | 9 | 1 | 0 | 340 |
| 5. Auburn | 9 | 1 | 0 | 247 |
| 6. Nebraska | 9 | 1 | 0 | 241 |
| 7. Mississippi | 7 | 0 | 2 | 198 |
| 8. Alabama | 7 | 2 | 0 | 116 |

Ailing Baylor Hits 29 Points

By The Associated Press

Elgin Baylor's got two aching knees and a sprained ankle but there's nothing wrong with his shooting eye.

The Los Angeles Lakers' ace proved that Monday when he collected 29 points in LA's 134-120 thrashing of Baltimore in the National Basketball Association's only game of the night.

The game, played in Seattle, provided a showcase for Baylor who was performing in the city where he earned All-America honors as a collegian. The 6-5 star made the most of it.

Snead Says He's Near End Of Tourney Career

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Enduring Sam Snead, who came out of the hills of western Virginia 30 years ago to give professional golf some of its great and colorful moments, is nearing the end of his tournament career.

Sam Snead says so.

He says at 51 he isn't in as good physical shape as he used to be.

He says his short game is beginning to deteriorate.

He says he doesn't enjoy tournament golf any more.

But don't count him out. Snead will play in his first PGA Seniors early next year. And look for him when it's tee-off time in the National Open, the one major championship that has escaped him.

Sitting in the pro shop at Harder Hall the other day, Snead took a look at himself, his game and his profession.

"I've passed through a lot of these guys and they keep dropping off and dropping off," he said with a satisfied grin. He ran down the generations of champions with whom he has matched strokes since turning pro in 1934: Picard and Sarazen, Hogan and Nelson, Worsham and Middlecoff, Palmer and Nicklaus.

"When I was on," he said, "I thought I could beat any of them. And when I wasn't on, I couldn't beat anybody."

"You know," he said, "I've only played in eight or 10 tournaments a year since 1960.

"I don't hit them quite as long anymore. I've putted badly for two years. Your short game is the first thing that deteriorates. That's the hardest thing to learn and it goes first.

"I'm not in the physical condition I used to be," he said. "I used to weigh 180 to 182. Now I'm at 195. That extra weight slows you up a little bit."

Golf is fine, he said, "But I don't like tournaments any more. I like to play at the club where you play these guys for a buck or two a hole."

Snead blames his erractic putting on nerves, and the nerves on the game he plays.

"Golf has more of a nervous range thany any other sport," he said. "There's more waiting. In other sports, like football, it's all action. But in golf, the mistakes just wait for you to make them."

The waiting hurts, he said, contributes to what he labels the golfer's biggest enemy, indecision.

"You look at a shot and you say it's a 6-iron, and you're probably right," Snead said. "But then you say, 'Maybe it's a 7,' and then the caddy comes over and says, 'No, it's an 8,' and then you're really in trouble."

As outspoken as ever—perhaps a little more so—Snead doesn't mind expressing pionions. Such as this one:

"The American public is fickle. One day you're a champion and the next day you're a bum. They're always looking for someone to knock off the champ.

"In England and Europe, once you're a champion, you're always looked on as a champion. But here we have a new one every year.

"Why people now don't even know who Byron Nelson was."

But perhaps his verbal jabs are part and parcel of the competitive spirit that burns deep within him.

"There is no such thing as easing up," Snead said. "If you get an 11-stroke lead on them, you keep right on boring in.

"That's the way the game is supposed to be played."

And after 30 years, that's how Sam Snead still plays it.

Northern, Tech Land Two Each On Honor Team

By BERNIE KENNEDY

DETROIT (AP)—A fleet halfback from Albion gathered the most individual votes, and Kalamazoo and Central Michigan placed the most players on the first two squads, in the 1963 All-State Small College Football Team announced today by The Associated Press.

J. B. Elzy, who was voted the MIAA's most valuable player after setting season and career rushing records at Albion, paced the vote in the AP's balloting of the state's coaches, athletic officials and sports writers.

Kalamazoo and Central Michigan each placed two players on the first team and two more on the second team.

Elzy, who gained 773 yards this season and 2,265 in his career at Albion, was joined in the first team backfield by Larry Moore of Central Michigan, Ed Lauerman of Kalamazoo and Ralph Abata of Michigan Tech.

CMU also placed tackle Uwe Wiese on the first honor team, while Kalamazoo added end John Persons.

Michigan Tech and Northern Michigan each had two players on the first team. Don Krajcarek, a center, was Tech's other representative, while end Bill Rademacher and tackle Jack Mauro were the Northern players named.

Ferris State guard Dave Taylor and Hillsdale guard Howard Mudd rounded out the first team.

Krajcarek is the only junior on the first team. The rest are seniors.

Persons, Mauro and Mudd are the only repeaters.

End Frank Goldberg and back Bill Shuple were CMU's second team representatives, while Kalamazoo had tackle Bob Phillips and guard Bob Peters on the No. 2 squad.

Max Stokes of Hillsdale, Don Bangert of Northern Michigan and Terry Hurley of Eastern Michigan were the other backs on the second team.

End Bill Hultgre of Hope, the only sophomore among the top 22, Albion tackle Ken Neal and guard Jim Dumont and center Fred Shumaker of Adrian completed the second team.

The top 22 players along with Michigan Tech coach Bill Lucier, named Monday as Michigan's Small college coach of the year, comprise the dream team of 1963.

Proof that while most of these players play before smaller crowds their performances are watched closely is shown by the fact that the National Football League drafted two of the players on this year's team. The players who gained honorable mention were also selected in the NFL draft.

Mudd was selected by San Francisco, while Green Bay tapped Mauro.

The Detroit Lions selected Hillsdale end Doug Bickle as a future choice, and Green Bay picked Northern Michigan end Leonard St. Jean.

Not considered in the voting were the state's major football schools — Michigan, Michigan State, Detroit and Western Michigan.

Frosty Named Coach Of Year

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Frosty Ferzacca of Northern Michigan University was honored as "Coach of the Year" at a banquet here Monday at Michigan District 23 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Ferzacca's football team had a 4-4-1 record this year. During his seven years at Northern his teams have won 38, lost 20 and tied 2.

Ferzacca serves as athletic director as well as football coach at the Marquette school. He previously won the "Coach of the Year" award in 1960.

NAIA District 23 has eight schools, including five which play football.

Northern Michigan's President Edgar L. Harden told the banquet meeting that Northern would take the lead in forming a Michigan conference.

"It has been suggested," he said, "that Michigan colleges and universities of comparable athletic philosophy band together for the purpose of developing an outstanding program within the state of Michigan. Northern is in accord with this idea and offers its strong support in building such a program."

Attending the meeting were representatives from six of the eight schools.

Dietzel Assumes Blame For Loss

By The Associated Press

Paul Dietzel was hired away from Louisiana State by Army for one reason — to beat Navy. The person to blame for the fact that he didn't, says Paul Dietzel, is Paul Dietzel.

Dietzel blames himself for Army's failure to get off that last crucial play against Navy in their tense game Saturday, and has exonerated referee Barney Finn.

"The official did exactly the right thing," Dietzel said Monday. "I have no fault to find with him. If anybody is to blame it is me. I was not fully aware of the rules.

"But I still feel we should have had the oppportunity to put the ball in play that last time. I don't know whether we would have scored, but. . . ."

He let the sentence trail off, just as the clock ticked off the last seconds against Army in the frantic finish at Philadelphia.

The Cadets were camped on the Navy two in a bedlam of noise, but quarterback Carl Stichweh was unable to get off the possibly decisive play before time expired.

Alabama will be lacking the services of Joe Namath — one of the finest quarterbacks in the Southeastern Conference — when the Crimson Tide takes on Mississippi in the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game.

Namath became the third major college football player of the season to leave his team under less than favorable circumstances when he was suspended Monday.

"Namath has been suspended from the team for the rest of the season, including the Sugar Bowl game, for an infraction of training rules this past weekend," Coach Bear Bryant said.

Bryant did not elaborate on the infraction, but said the junior quarterback "has indicated to me that he will remain in school and concentrate on his studies. He will be allowed to remain on scholarship."

Earlier in the season, hard-running halfback Joe Don Looney was dismissed from the Oklahoma team for disciplinary reasons and Goergia Tech end Ted Davis removed himself from the team following a kicking incident during a game to save the team embarassment.

Another casualty Monday was Karl Sweetan, Wake Forest's starting quarterback last season. A college spokesman said the junior was leaving school, apparently because of low grades.

Memphis Back Leads Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave (Bull) Casinelli of Memphis State has broken New Mexico State's hold on the college rushing title and given the unbeaten Tigers their first individual major college football champion in its history.

Trailing in third place, Casinelli gained 210 yards in his final game of the season and vaulted into the rushing championship with 1,016 yards gained according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today.

Auburn quarterback Jimmy Sidle, in first while Casinelli was trailing, picked up 171 in his final two games in a bid to become the first signal-caller to win the title, but fell 10 yards short of Casinelli's total. Gale Sayers of Kansas was third with 917 yards.

New Mexico State failed to get a player in the top 10 after winning the title for four consecutive years with Pervis Atkins, Bob Gaiters and Jim (Preacher) Pilot the last two years. Pilot gained only 446 yards this season.

All-Time Greats In Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a thrill that comes once in a lifetime. You can't believe it even when it happens."

Henry Peter Pund, Georgia Tech center and captain of the 1928 national championship team said it at a luncheon Monday but these words could have been uttered by all the living among the 10 all-time greats who will be inducted into the Football Hall of Fame tonight.

The ceremonies will take place at a dinner at which the National Football Foundation made its annual awards.

The new Hall of Famers includes nine players and one coach. Seven are living. All attended the New York Football Writers' luncheon Monday and each expressed his gratification.

"It is very difficult to put my delight and thrill into words," exclaimed Cliff Montgomery, former Columbia quarterback.

"I want to publicly thank my former coach, Ray Elliott," said Alex Agase, Illinois and Purdue guard.

"My two greatest thrills," said tackle George Connor, Holy Cross and Notre Dame, "was when the Cross upset Boston College 51-12 and when I was a member of the Notre Dame national champions."

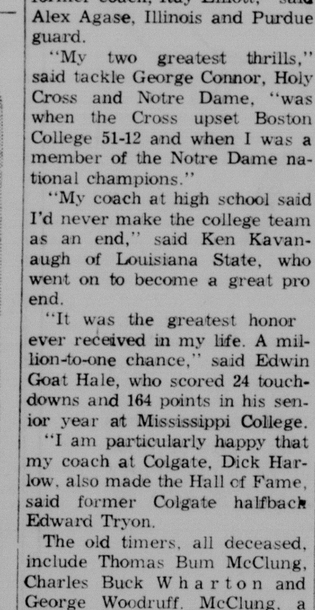
"My coach at high school said I'd never make the college team as an end," said Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State, who went on to become a great pro end.

"It was the greatest honor ever received in my life. A million-to-one chance," said Edwin Goat Hale, who scored 24 touchdowns and 164 points in his senior year at Mississippi College.

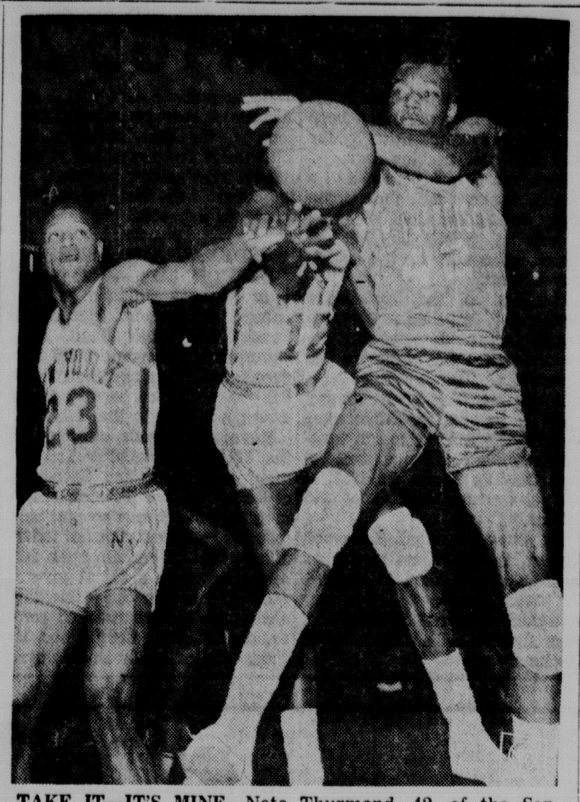
"I am particularly happy that my coach at Colgate, Dick Harlow, also made the Hall of Fame, said former Colgate halfback Edward Tryon.

The old timers, all deceased, include Thomas Bum McClung, Charles Buck Wharton and George Woodruff. McClung, a Yale back who played in 1889-91, scored more than 150 touchdown and 1,000 points. Wharton was a guard for Penn teams in 1893-96, that won 52 and lost four.

Woodruff played at Yale a coached at Penn, where his team's compiled a 10-year record of 124-15-2. He later became acting secretary of the interior, a U.S. federal judge and attorney general of Pennsylvania.



HIS SHOT — Hank Bauer, former New York outfielder and Kansas City pilot, takes dead aim with the Baltimore Orioles as their new manager next season.



TAKE IT—IT'S MINE—Nate Thurmond, 42, of the San Francisco Warriors battles with Tom Hoover, 23, and Bill McGill, 12, of the Knickerbockers for a rebounding basketball at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Steelers Tough On Contenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Hanging out the pro football wash—and won't everything be on the line this week in the National Football League?

Despite the explicit rules concerning ties, there are those who question that the Pittsburgh Steelers, with a 7-3-3 record, should be meeting the Giants, 10-3, at New York Sunday in a showdown struggle for the Eastern Conference championship.

One fact, however, is incontrovertible — the Steelers have compiled the best record in head-to-head clashes with the four teams that were in contention until last Sunday.

Pittsburgh split with both Cleveland and St. Louis and walloped the Giants 31-0 in their first game. So the Steelers go into the Giant game 3-2 against the contenders, with the Browns and Cardinals at 3-3 and the Giants 2-3.

Therefore, in the battle among the contenders, the Steelers can do no worse than wind up in a tie.

Quote of the Week: Honors go to a prone Bob Doherty, a member of the San Diego taxi squad. Running pass patterns in a practice session, he collided with Lance Alworth, one of the American Football League's outstanding stars. They fell heavily to the ground.

"I've never seen so many people running toward me," said Doherty, "leaping over me, and yelling 'How are you Lance?' "

The defensive specialists had their day Sunday with nine scoring touchdowns . . . The Giants set the pace with Dick Lynch setting an NFL record when he lugged an interception 42 yards for his third touchdown on interceptions this season.

Jack Dempsey Drugged Before Tunney Battle?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ex-heavyweight king Jack Dempsey admits he may have been slipped a mickey before he went into the ring against Gene Tunney and got knocked off the throne he'd held seven years.

But Dempsey insisted he felt fine the day and night of the fight and offered no excuse for dropping the 10-round decision in the rain at Philadelphia on Sept. 23, 1926. More than 120,000 fans watched the fight.

"A doctor told me the next day I'd probably been given a Mickey Finn and I probably was ill for three or four days after that," said Dempsey.

However, the Manassa Mauler was inclined to brush the whole thing off, saying, "it happened about 40 years ago. Who could remember what happened? I was all right. I fought my fight."

Dempsey commented after Benny Marshall of the Birmingham, Ala. News had quoted him as having said he was drugged at the time of the fight. "I don't believe I have ever been as sick, before or since," Marshall quoted Dempsey. "It was terrible. Just terrible."

Marshall said he and Atlanta restauranteur Harvey Hester, were present when Dempsey made his remarks in New York about the big bout.

Marshall wrote that the drug was slipped into Dempsey's coffee at breakfast by a trusted companion who "prepared to arrange it so that big money back in Chicago might grow bigger, crooked money, obviously."

The story that the great heavyweight had been drugged has been whispered among old time boxing writers for many years. But it has never been publicly revealed, at Dempsey's request.

Cage Chief Raps Ramsey

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Ramsey of the Boston Celtics, a self-styled master of deception, has been censured by the National Basketball Association for a by-lined magazine article in which he detailed how he lured opponents into commiting fouls.

The censure was contained in a letter from league President Walter Kennedy that should be in Ramsey's morning mail.

The article by Ramsey, which was published in Sports Illustrated under the title of "Smart Moves by a Master of Deception," was accompanied by sketches illustrating the methods the former Kentucky All-America uses to draw fouls.

"I have always thought," said Kennedy, "that the mark of success of an athlete is what he can do within the confines of the rules rather than by circumventing them."

Kennedy said he had no power beyond censuring Ramsey, but "will seek legislation to give me further powers at our next meeting in Boston at the time of the All-Star Game, Jan. 14."

Kennedy said his letter to Ramsey "stressed the responsibility of the players to the youngsters who look upon them as heroes and who might imitate them.

"Now for a highly popular player of the world championship team to say publicly he is a master of deception in an attempt to draw fouls by evasion can only mean that the youngsters will attempt to imitate him."

THE TURTLE STAYS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although the Ohio State-Illinois football game wound up in a 20-20 tie this season, the Junior Men's Honorary Society at OSU—bucket and dipper—gets to keep "Illibuck" for a fourth consecutive year.

Illibuck is the wooden turtle for which the Illini and Buckeye grid teams compete annually. The tradition began in 1925 between bucket and dipper and sachem, Illinois honorary, with a line turtle, which died three years later.

The mock turtle trophy combines the two universities' nicgknames. It has spent 27 years at Ohio State and 11 at Illinois. When there's a tie, it remains in possession of the previous year's winner.

Frosty Named Coach Of Year

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Frosty Ferzacca of Northern Michigan University was honored as "Coach of the Year" at a banquet here Monday at Michigan District 23 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Ferzacca's football team had a 4-4-1 record this year. During his seven years at Northern his teams have won 38, lost 20 and tied 2.

Ferzacca serves as athletic director as well as football coach at the Marquette school. He previously won the "Coach of the Year" award in 1960.

NAIA District 23 has eight schools, including five which play football.

Northern Michigan's President Edgar L. Harden told the banquet meeting that Northern would take the lead in forming a Michigan conference.

"It has been suggested," he said, "that Michigan colleges and universities of comparable athletic philosophy band together for the purpose of developing an outstanding program within the state of Michigan. Northern is in accord with this idea and offers its strong support in building such a program."

Attending the meeting were representatives from six of the eight schools.

Dietzel Assumes Blame For Loss

By The Associated Press

Paul Dietzel was hired away from Louisiana State by Army for one reason — to beat Navy. The person to blame for the fact that he didn't, says Paul Dietzel, is Paul Dietzel.

Dietzel blames himself for Army's failure to get off that last crucial play against Navy in their tense game Saturday, and has exonerated referee Barney Finn.

"The official did exactly the right thing," Dietzel said Monday. "I have no fault to find with him. If anybody is to blame it is me. I was not fully aware of the rules.

"But I still feel we should have had the oppportunity to put the ball in play that last time. I don't know whether we would have scored, but. . . ."

He let the sentence trail off, just as the clock ticked off the last seconds against Army in the frantic finish at Philadelphia.

The Cadets were camped on the Navy two in a bedlam of noise, but quarterback Carl Stichweh was unable to get off the possibly decisive play before time expired.

Alabama will be lacking the services of Joe Namath — one of the finest quarterbacks in the Southeastern Conference — when the Crimson Tide takes on Mississippi in the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game.

Studebaker Firm Founded In 1852

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker Corp. has been in the transportation business longer than any other American automaker. It's the only one that pre-dates the automobile.

Founded in 1852 by blacksmith brothers Henry and Clem Studebaker, the company made only three wagons that year. But soon five Studebaker brothers were in the fast-growing business, and it prospered. It started making cars as well as wagons in 1902.

Studebaker prospered in the post-war boom but gradually lost out in automotive competition as the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — took more and more of the automobile business.

The South Bend firm merged with the faltering Packard Motor Car Co. in 1954 in an effort to broaden its market. The Packard, however, continued to decline in sales and finally was laid to rest.

Studebaker embarked on a diversification program in 1958, the same year it started producing the compact Lark, a stubby economy car that never sold as well as had been expected.

The firm has poured millions of dollars into the diversification program and now is involved in production of farm equipment, appliances, soil additives.

The auto division lost more than $2.2 million in the third quarter of 1963, but the company said all other divisions were operating at a profit.

On the same day it announced the loss, Nov. 1, the firm laid off 1,500 auto workers in South Bend.

Studebaker's long history in the wagon business lasted until 1920, when the last of the horse-drawn vehicles business was disposed of.

The first car made partly by Studebaker in 1902 was electric, the first gasoline-powered automobile coming two years later. Studebaker had long since been a million-dollar operation by the time it started making cars.

Studebaker prospered as a wagon maker for the Union Army during the Civil War and it was a prime supplier of prairie schooners as the nation moved west.

The last of the Studebaker brothers, J. M., died in 1917, although some descendants remained with the company for decades.

In the post-war era, riding a crest of prosperity, Studebaker became the world's fourth largest automaker, although well behind the Big Three. In 1952, it had a working capital of $65 million.

Its young president, Sherwood Egbert, resigned last month as auto sales continued to decline. He was replaced by cost-conscious Byers Burlingame, who started as a clerk with Packard in 1925.

Burlingame recently announced a cutback in some 2,000 jobs in the auto division, explaining it was necessary to produce a new break-even point. He indicated then that more cuts could be expected.

FEDERAL AID ASKED

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union urged the federal government Monday to "assist the South Bend, Ind., community and some 9,000 Studebaker workers and their families when the corporation ends auto production in that city."

Raymond Berndt, director of the UAW's Studebaker Department, said he asked Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz to call a meeting "to set up a special task force of representatives of federal agencies to mobilize the full resources of the national government to come to the immediate assistance of this stricken community (South Bend) and its thousands of newly unemployed workers and their families."

"We are therefore calling on the management of Studebaker to cooperate with the UAW to see to it that these workers, their families and the South Bend community are protected to the maximum extent possible," Berndt said.

Island Wants Better Airfield

LANSING (AP) — Future possibilities for a Mackinac Island airport were to be discussed by Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders today, reported the chairman of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

Island residents Monday approved, 141-41, borrowing $38,500 for improvements on the small airstrip on the island, which has been used only in winter.

The airstrip, however, was closed last Friday by chairman Walter Murray after Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled the commission lacks authority to build, maintain or operate such a facility, or to lease it to the City of Mackinac Island.

The improvements okayed Monday were widening and lengthening of the airstrip's runway to bring it up to safety standards.

Murray said legislation may be sought at the next lawmaking session to allow the commission to run the airport.

Foreign MSU Students Live In Coldwater Homes

EAST LANSING (AP) — Afghanistan, Brazil, China, Laos and South Africa go to the Coldwater area next week, to learn first hand how America works.

Foreign students from each of the countries and from Thailand, the Philippines, Indonesia, India and Pakistan, will live in city and farm homes in Branch County Dec. 15-20.

The students, 25 in all, took courses in the Community Development Institute at Michigan State University this fall.

A fellow student for one night every two weeks was Boyd Wiggins, Branch County extension agent. Wiggins suggested to Dr. John Donoghue, instructor of the course, that the class spend some time in Branch County. He also suggested the idea to his county extension council.

Appproval came from both places, and arrangements were made so the students will live in private homes and work on farms and in small factories and stores.

Studebaker Firm Founded In 1852

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker Corp. has been in the transportation business longer than any other American automaker. It's the only one that pre-dates the automobile.

Founded in 1852 by blacksmith brothers Henry and Clem Studebaker, the company made only three wagons that year. But soon five Studebaker brothers were in the fast-growing business, and it prospered. It started making cars as well as wagons in 1902.

Studebaker prospered in the post-war boom but gradually lost out in automotive competition as the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — took more and more of the automobile business.

The South Bend firm merged with the faltering Packard Motor Car Co. in 1954 in an effort to broaden its market. The Packard, however, continued to decline in sales and finally was laid to rest.

Studebaker embarked on a diversification program in 1958, the same year it started producing the compact Lark, a stubby economy car that never sold as well as had been expected.

The firm has poured millions of dollars into the diversification program and now is involved in production of farm equipment, appliances, soil additives.

The auto division lost more than $2.2 million in the third quarter of 1963, but the company said all other divisions were operating at a profit.

On the same day it announced the loss, Nov. 1, the firm laid off 1,500 auto workers in South Bend.

Studebaker's long history in the wagon business lasted until 1920, when the last of the horse-drawn vehicles business was disposed of.

The first car made partly by Studebaker in 1902 was electric, the first gasoline-powered automobile coming two years later. Studebaker had long since been a million-dollar operation by the time it started making cars.

Studebaker prospered as a wagon maker for the Union Army during the Civil War and it was a prime supplier of prairie schooners as the nation moved west.

The last of the Studebaker brothers, J. M., died in 1917, although some descendants remained with the company for decades.

In the post-war era, riding a crest of prosperity, Studebaker became the world's fourth largest automaker, although well behind the Big Three. In 1952, it had a working capital of $65 million.
